Newfoundlanders Are Up In Arms.

AGAINST THE WAY

THE MODUS VIVENDI HAS BEEN ARRANGED.

The Cabinet Has Had a Session—The Premier Blamed by the Opposition—Archbishop Howley Urges That Agitation Be Kept Up Until Relief is Granted.

St. John's, Oct. 12.—Popular agitation continues against the modus vivendi giving American fishermen privileges denied by the Newfoundland laws, the press denouncing what it terms the government's betrayal of the colony's interests.

In a published letter Archbishop Howley urges the immediate calling of meetings throughout the colony to protest against the measure, which he declares is neither a political nor a party question. The present, he says, is an historical crisis in the country when every Newfoundland, native or resident, regardless of creed, class, or party, should rally to the government's support.

Archbishop Howley cites the case of 1857, when the British government proposed to grant the French exclusive rights on a portion of the Newfoundland coast. The colony protested vigorously and sent delegates to Canada, which joined in the protest. In the face of the colonial action the British government eventually surrendered, though Queen Victoria and the French emperor, Archbishop Howley pointed out, had already signed the convention.

Not Much Pleased.

Bona, Oct. 12.—It is stated here Archbishop Howley's attitude in connection with the Anglo-American modus vivendi on the Newfoundland fishery question is not meeting with favor at the Vatican it being considered unwelcome interference in political affairs.

Cabinet in Session.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 12.—The cabinet met last night to consider the advisability of accepting a modus vivendi against the modus vivendi between the British and American governments relative to the Newfoundland fishery. Leading fish merchants also met last night, and passed resolutions adverse to the modus vivendi. The organ of the opposition blames the premier for the whole trouble, declaring the people of the colony do not want to quarrel with the Americans, but the premier is forcing the fight to obtain revenge upon American fishermen because his reciprocity project was blocked.

Press Opinions.

London, Oct. 12.—The Natal Mercury comments on Newfoundland's crisis and states the conclusion of the modus vivendi is a blow to the entire system of colonial autonomy.

The Daily Telegraph advises Newfoundland and Canada to have patience on the fishery question, because no government will be permitted to sacrifice the vital interest of any colony to carry favor with any power.

The Daily Mail says that the so-called modus vivendi has followed by an outbreak of fierce indignation in the oldest British colony. Newfoundland's wisest course is to join Canada.

The Chronicle, referring to the Newfoundland fisheries arrangement, says: "Obviously the Americans get much the better of the bargain, as long as the ancient French treaty is maintained they have the best rights. Newfoundland cannot disregard British treaties, and at the same time call for British gunboats to protect her fisheries."

Expected Record Tobacco Crop.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 12.—It is confidently expected that the tobacco harvest in Wisconsin this year will break all previous records. The harvest is well under way, and on all sides it is admitted that the stand is of finer quality than ever before. Owing to tobacco growing being more profitable than the raising industry, the clover fields of a year ago are now sowing a heavy crop of tobacco plants. In Wisconsin the crop thrives well, and expert cultivators have found that they can produce a better leaf than that of the east, and that by cutting the plants in the south in a few years they can raise the Sumatra product.

Remarkable Georgian Choir.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 12.—At the state fair in Piedmont Park, here, to-day, over five thousand voices composed a grand chorus that sang a number of songs of the songs of the south. Before the fair closes, to-morrow night, the full chorus will sing "Home Sweet Home." The musical portion of the proceedings were ably managed by Prof. A. J. Shovelton, of Dalton. Among the many amusements and novelties at the fair were some pyrotechnic displays by Faine, one representing a head on collision between two freight engines. The fair has been the most successful of its kind held for a number of years.

Barwick Estate To Sue.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—No compromise can be arrived at between the London and South-Western railway and the estate of the late Walter Barwick as to the extent of the damages which should be paid by the former. The company offer £5,000, the figure claimed by representatives of Mr. Barwick's estate is several times as high, about $104,000. Recourse will now be had to the law to adjust this wide difference. It is likely that Sir Edward Clark will conduct the case against the railway.

A LIFE BATTLE

Fight Between Policeman And Prisoner.

REVOLVER AND BAT

THE WEAPONS USED—A VICIOUS DUEL.

Wounded Man Was a Fris-Fighter—He Plunged Through Crowd, Leaving Stream of Blood—Policeman Badly Injured.

Taunton, Mass., Oct. 12.—A mid-day duel witnessed by one thousand people took place yesterday, between Richard Marley and Policeman Joseph Grady. Armed with a bat, with which he said he intended to kill the officer because he had arrested him on Saturday, Marley attacked Grady and landed a vicious blow at his head. The latter held up his left arm, and received a blow that broke it at the elbow.

With one arm hanging helplessly, the policeman backed away, drew a revolver and shot Marley in the right leg. The latter sprang at him and aimed blow after blow with the bat. The policeman backed down street and fired three more shots, one of which took effect in Marley's left leg. Leaving a stream of blood behind him, the wounded man plunged through the crowd, ran three hundred feet and sank to the ground. The patrol wagon which brought him to the station was flowing with blood and Marley may die. He was formerly a prize-fighter.
