Pekin, Nov. 10 .- An imperial edict providing for the re-organization of the government was published in the Official Gazette vesterday.

"Grand Peninsular" has an all-steel oven.

Steel is more uniform in thickness and radiates heat more quickly than cast iron. For that reason most cast iron ranges have steel oven bottoms.

In my new range-GRAND PENINSULAR -I have gone farther and made the WHOLE OVEN-top, bottom and sides-of STEEL PLATE. That is the reason the "Grand Peninsular" is such a quick, even baker-and saves so much fuel.

I have perfected a perfect system of Ventilation, too. All the vapor and odor of cooking are driven off-and a constant current of fresh, heated air fills the oven. I also put a Thermometer in the oven door, so you can tell the exact temperature of the oven. It does away with all guess work and insures perfect cooking. These are a few of the helpful features that make my new GRAND PENINSULAR the ideal range for Canadian homes.
