Of a million bushels more of barley; three million more bushels of oats, three quarters of a million bushels more of potatoes, and three million bushels more of corn. Year by year recently the harvest has been better. There are two common mistakes made in feeding cows; first, not feeding liberally enough; second, feeding a ration not properly balanced. It has been found by experiments that about sixty per cent. of what a cow can eat is necessary merely to maintain her without producing any milk or gaining in weight. This being true, it is evident that it is not economy to feed only a little more than this sixty per cent. Your vote and influence are needed to keep up the cow's body.
