FRENCH GENERAL DISMISSED
Kept Men in Garrison Town in Perpetual Fun.
Paris, Jan. 12.—Gen. Pourquerey de Deshayes, who commanded at Verdun, where the garrison was known as "the garrison of all for fun," has been retired.
"An inquiry ordered by Gen. Picquart, minister of war, has shown that, instead of attending to their duties, the men were kept employed by Gen. de Deshayes in organizing a continual round of parties.
The general made use of the military engineering shop to supply electric light for the military club, where he gave balls and brilliant entertainments. His men were kept busy in providing for the amusement of officers and for the many banquets, dances and receptions which were constantly given."
Buy Rembrandt For $3.
Brussels, Jan. 12.—A clerk employed in the Belgian senate recently noticed in a shop at Lachen, a dusty painting representing three cavaliers playing chess by a lighted lamp.
He went in, and, having bought it for $3, and took it to a firm of experts for examination. It was there declared to be a fine example by Rembrandt. The clerk has now received an offer of $60,000 for the painting.

Margaret Anglin's Success in "The Great Divide."
"The Shulamite" is shortly to be produced in Russia.
"The Heir to the Moorah," is slated for an early London production.
After several attempts to jolt it up, the traveling organization playing "Fantana" has collapsed.
New York, next September, will see a new play on a Biblical subject, just completed by Louis N. Parker.
Yvette Guilbert is in Brussels, rehearsing in "L'Eau Trouble," which is to be produced on January 12th.
Berthold Tree will probably come to America next autumn to produce Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra."

GOLD FIELD FOUND.
Said to Be Thirty-One Miles Long.
London, Jan. 12.—For some time past rumors have been afloat as to the discovery of a gold field in England, within two hundred miles of London. It has been stated in whispers that the reef is thirty-one miles long, and presents the same characteristics as a Rand reef. All the secrecy has been attributed to the fact that those interested have not yet secured all the options over the land required.
Of course, the rumors have been regarded as too good to be true; they have naturally been held in derision. It is now possible to state, however, that a syndicate exists which firmly believes in the discovery, and a reporter yesterday managed to find the chairman, who is a gentleman of good standing in the city. This gentleman, while exceedingly reticent, declared the facts of the gold field, as just stated, to be correct.
The policy of the directors of the syndicate, the chairman explained, is to keep these whereabouts of the reef secret until options over all the land are acquired, and then to invite experts and press representatives to examine the field for themselves. Meanwhile, there are only five people who know where it is; even some of the directors do not know. "My friends who have subscribed to the syndicate," said the chairman, "have had to accept my ipse dixit."
Samples taken from the reef, he explained, have been submitted to an expert, who, in ignorance of their true source, pronounced them as probably having been obtained from the Rand.
"England," said the enthusiastic chairman, "will rank high among the gold-producers of the world. We shall solve the problem of the unemployed and settle the question of the gold reserves."

THE LATE DR. LAPPONI.
Death Has Removed a Distinguished Physician and a Man of Rare Courage.
In the death of Dr. Laponi, physician to the pope, a personage has been removed from life's scene who was scarcely less known throughout the world than the pontiffs whom he ministered unto. He was a wonderful man as well as a distinguished physician.—Ottawa Free Press.
It may be added that Dr. Laponi was a man of rare courage. He had no fear of that bugbear known as professional etiquette. While he found something good in a medicine he did not hesitate to say so to the world. He proved this when he wrote the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. strongly endorsing the celebrated Pink Pills for Pale People as a cure for anemia (bloodlessness) and certain nervous disorders. In the interests of the thousands who suffer from anemic, nervous disorders and kindred troubles, it is worth while republishing Dr. Laponi's letter, as follows:
"I certify that I have tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in four cases of the simple anemia of development. After a few weeks of treatment, the result came fully up to my expectations. For that reason I shall not fall in the future to extend the use of this laudable preparation, not only in the treatment of other morbid forms of the category of anemia or chlorosis, but also in cases of neurasthenia and the like."
Signed, Dr. Giacomo Laponi, Via dei Gracchi 332, Rome.
The "simple anemia of development" referred to by Dr. Laponi is of course that tired, languid condition of young girls whose development to womanhood is tardy, and whose health, at the period of that development, is so often imperilled. His opinion of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at that time is the highest scientific authority, and it confirms the many published cases in which anemia and other diseases of the blood as well as nervous diseases were cured by these pills, which, it need hardly be mentioned, owe their efficacy to their power of making new blood, and thus acting directly on the digestive and nervous systems. In all cases of anæmia, indigestion, and troubles due to bad blood, and all affections of the nerves, as St. Vitus' dance, paralysis and locomotor ataxia, they are commended to the public with all the greater confidence because they had the strong endorsement of the great physician who has so recently passed away.

STARTLING CIRCUS ACCIDENT
Stage Mechanism Fails to Work—No Serious Harm.
Berlin, Jan. 12.—Another startling accident terrified the audience at the Circus Busch last night. In the pantomime "Rome," a chariot executes a so-called "death ride," in which he drives a chariot over a four-horse bridge across a six-foot bridge, which suddenly collapses and compels the horses to execute a breathless plunge over the "abyss."
Yesterday the chariot hung upon the bridge, and both horses and driver, instead of falling with it and being saved by stage mechanism, were flung violently a distance of twenty feet to the ground by whom, like the animals miraculously escaped serious injury.

ROBBED IN ITALY.
Chance Acquaintances Ease Him of $2,500.
Rome, Jan. 12.—Charles Tatum, a young Englishman, described as the son of a well-to-do London manufacturer, has been robbed at Genoa of his purse, containing $2,500 in bank notes. During the journey to Italy, Mr. Tatum made the acquaintance of a lively Irishman, who on his arrival at Genoa offered to act as cicerone to the well-known Campo Santo. Soon after entering the cemetery another Irishman, a friend of the first, joined the party. Mr. Tatum was conducted to a solitary avenue and asked to hand over his money and valuables. The thieves made good their escape.

Lectures In Prisons.
London, Jan. 12.—It is announced that the executive of the local Young Men's Christian Association will be granted permission by the home of the chaplains' views to deliver non-religious lectures on moral subjects to a certain class of prisoners after their day's work.
Bronze-Age Relics Found.
London, Jan. 12.—At Sulliam, a small village near Reading, some men working in a gravel pit there came upon seven prehistoric British urns incinerated. Near were found the ashes of a large fire. The character of the pottery is that of the bronze age. Several flint instruments were found on the spot.
Peer Aids Unemployed.
London, Jan. 12.—The distress among the unemployed in the neighborhood being acute, Lord Wimborne has given a number of men work to fell trees in his woods and erect fences, usually the duty of the estate laborers at Cranford.

choir of male voices gives an air of mysticism to the play which never ceases until the final curtain. The wonderful vision of the star of Bethlehem, the vast expanse of the desert at night—with the sleeping camels in the foreground, the adoration of the three Wise men—all these cast over the beholder a spell of wonderment and awe.

Man Whom He Accused Has Grim Revenge.
Paris, Jan. 12.—The Eluo Diamond case, in which the Count de Rodolphe du Portic accused M. Greger of stealing the diamond from him at a country house near Brest, was dramatically brought before the public again, yesterday.
The count was riding in the Bois de Boulogne, when M. Greger rode up and, witnesses state, struck him three or four times across the face with a horsewhip. The count turned his horse and rode away, but M. Greger galloped after him, whipping as he rode.
The count has written to the papers to-day, saying that M. Greger did not hit him, but merely frightened his horse. M. Greger, however, declared that he chastised the count, and will do so again before as many people as possible.
EXCLUDES MOTOR CARS.
Fears Horses Will Become Frightened.
Berlin, Jan. 12.—The Prince of Schwarzburg-Sonderhausen, in Thuringia, has issued a decree excluding motor cars from his principality while he himself is within its borders. The decree intimates that the life of the prince as a result of motor cars frightening the horses attached to the prince's carriages. The prince is very fond of driving through his principality, which is only 333 square miles in area.
It is observed that the prince may by his decree isolate himself from other rulers, as motoring has become the sport of kings, many of whom, like the kaiser, travel almost entirely by automobile.
