

New Cure For Rupture

New Scientific Appliance, Always a Perfect Fit—Adjustable to Any Size Person—Easy, Comfortable, Fewer Slips, No Obnoxious Springs or Pads—Costs Less Than Many Common Trusses—Made For Men, Women or Children

I Send It On Approval—You Wear It—If You Are Not Satisfied, I Refund Your Money.

I have invented a rupture appliance that I can safely say, by 30 years' experience, is the only one that will absolutely hold the rupture and never slip. It is cool, comfortable, conforms to every movement of the body without chafing or hurting, and costs less than many ordinary trusses I have seen. The price so low that any person...

Jas. Britton, Cured of Rupture by C. E. Brooks rich or poor, can buy, and I assure you that I make it to your order—send it to you—you wear it, and if it doesn't satisfy you send it back to me and I will refund your money. That is the fairest proposition ever made to a rupture sufferer. The thanks or any responsible citizen in Montreal will tell you that is the way to do business—always absolutely on the square.

Here is what Mr. Jas. Britton, a prominent manufacturer of Belthorn, Pa., writes: "C. E. Brooks, Esq., Dear Sir—I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits me and does not chafe. I can do my usual work at any time, day or night. In fact at times I did not know that I had it on. It is just adapted to the shape of the body and does not get out of place. The position I was in it would be a good one to advise to the unfortunate who suffer from ruptures. It would never recur. My rupture is all healed up and nothing more. I will put your name on my card."

Another Hockey Match—Lecture to Society. Gananogue, Jan. 17.—The second of the scheduled games in the Gananogue Hockey League was played at the Apollo Park rink last evening. The team of the Baruchers and St. Lawrence were opposed to each other. Frank K. Corrigan refereed. The Baruchers outplayed their opponents, winning out by seven goals to two.

WILL HOLD A SHOW KINGSTON HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY IN SESSION.

Date For The Affair Not Decided, But It Will Be Held Some Time During September.

The annual meeting of the Kingston Horticultural Society, held on Wednesday night, in the police court chamber, was presided over by a large attendance, and the meeting proved one of the best ever held by the society.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, Mr. G. H. Burt, which was accompanied by the auditor's report, showed all the accounts to be paid in full, with a small balance on hand.

Mr. Burt moved a vote of thanks to the president, Mr. Oldrieve, who during the past year devoted a great deal of his time to the work of the society.

The election of officers was proceeded with and resulted as follows: Hon. president, Hon. William Hartley, E. J. R. Papp, M.P., Dr. Edward Ryan, Dr. J. M. Platt, president, G. S. Oldrieve, (re-elected); first vice-president, R. E. Kent; second vice-president, W. H. Mearns; fourth vice-president, W. J. McNeil; directors, J. N. Watts, H. W. Richardson, R. J. McNeve, George Nicol, J. R. Walkem, Thomas Fanning, M. F. Flannigan, James Fay, George W. Bell.

The appointment of a secretary-treasurer was deferred.

Kent notified the society that he had an interview with Miss Chown, secretary of the Civic Improvement Society, who had informed him that the improvement society would be pleased to co-operate with the Horticultural Society for the coming season.

After some discussion, it was moved and carried by a large majority, that the society hold a show in September. The date for the holding of this show was left in the hands of the directors.

On motion of S. N. Watts, the president and officers, Messrs. J. E. Cunningham and O. V. Bartels, were re-elected. The clause in the new constitution, which states that "a society shall not expend more than one-third of its total receipts in any one line of work," came up for discussion.

It was strongly condemned by all the members.

GENTLEMEN OF THE ROAD.

The Famous "Sixteen Strings Jack" and Dick Turpin.

At the Rose tavern, a noted gaming house standing in Marylebone gardens early in the 18th century, Standfield, Duke of Buckingham, used to feast his companions at their farewell dinner when the season ended in the ominous words, "May as many of us as remain unchanged next spring meet here again!" John Rann, the highwayman, otherwise "Sixteen Strings Jack," of evil fame, liked to swagger about at Bagniville Wells in the interval, carrying his notorious deeds or undergoing punishment for the same. He is described as appearing in July, 1774, "attired in a neat coat, ambour waistcoat, white silk stockings and a laced hat. On each knee he wore the bunch of eight ribbons which had gained him his sobriquet of 'Sixteen Strings Jack.'"

There were lively doings under the influence of this sprightly gentleman, and on the occasion referred to he was pitched out of a window for offending honest company. Only a few months later he met his reward for venturing to rob the Princess Amelia's chaplain.

Dick Turpin was another "gentleman of the road" who amused himself in the intervals of "business" by frequenting pleasure gardens. He was once moved to kiss a fair lady in public at Marylebone, assuring her, when she protested, that she might ever after boast of the favor she had received.

Similar Turpin and gentleman of similar occupation came to pleasure gardens solely for their diversion may reasonably be doubted when we remember how frequent robberies were in the paths and field ways leading to these sylvan retreats. Watchmen were set "to guard those who go over the fields late at night," yet even so visitors were often attacked and robbed, sometimes in the garden themselves and sometimes on the road to or from them.

In early days at Marylebone it was deemed necessary to provide the company with a guard of soldiers to conduct them home at night, a curious winding up to a jovial evening. Pickpockets were of course plentiful at all the gardens despite every precaution. The latest and newest collection cut, Pat. Kid, Buttons and Bluchers. Are priced $3.75 and $4. PRAYER IN FACTORY. Concerted Church Movement in the Great City.

New York, Jan. 17.—Through the concerted action of prominent churchmen, plans have been completed for holding a weekly prayer meeting in the factories throughout Greater New York. The movement is in charge of the labor committee of the Federation of Churches and Christian organizations. Beginning February 5th, fifty services will be held simultaneously daily for ten days, in many workshops, employing one hundred hands or more. There are in the city 900 factories having more than one hundred employees, and the committee hopes to hold meetings in more than half of these. Prominent clergyman of all denominations will aid in the work. The plan is to hold fifteen-minute meetings, wherever it is the custom to suspend work for only a half hour, and to use thirty minutes, wherever an hour is allowed. When the whistle sounds for the noon recess a concertist will play different selections. It may be sacred music, some non-religious air or "ragtime." While the concertist plays, programmes will be distributed among the workmen. Then a clergyman will give a talk.
