A VERY BRAVE WOMAN BROUGHT HELP TO THE BARQUE COLOMA.

Officers and Crew Owe the Saving of Their Lives to Mrs. Minnie Patterson—The Lady Was From Brighton, Ont. To the perseverance, determination and ready wit of an Ontario woman, Mrs. Minnie Patterson, telegraph operator at Cape Beale, B.C., and wife of the lighthouse operator, the officers and crew of the wrecked barque, Coloma owe their lives.

The Coloma was wrecked on Dec. 7 in that part of the graveyard of the Pacific where the Valerius met her fate. Mrs. Patterson traveled along five miles of rugged, storm-swept trail, through bogs, knee-deep, and in the teeth of a hurricane, until she reached Bamfield cable station, where the Dominion Government steamer Quadra lay with steam up.

Mrs. Patterson was born at Brighton, Ont. At the age of sixteen she married Thomas Patterson, captain of the Cape Beale lighthouse. Her father is Capt. Huff, a former member of the Legislature. She is twice a heroine, for at the time of the wreck of the Coloma she remained at her post at the telegraph office at Cape Beale for a day and a night, and she it was who was chiefly instrumental in having the boat despatched from Victoria, which saved some of the passengers and crew of that steamer.

Canadian Trapper's Life. The last few years of the life of John Macdougall, son of the Rev. John Macdougall, the first missionary who worked in the Canadian Northwest, and L. C. S. Ward are brimful of adventure.

Trade Man For Blankets. To trade a man for a roll of blankets is a rather unusual proceeding, and the man is a never-to-be-forgotten figure in the history of the Indians.

Petition Nine Miles Long. Mr. Ellis Griffith, Liberal member for Anglesey, presented in the British House of Commons a few days ago a petition from the Canine Defence League.

What is a "Cold" Bath. By some people a comparatively high water temperature is considered to be a cold enough bath. People feel heat and cold differently.

A Bear in Parliament. The young ladies on the ground floor of the Langevin Block, Ottawa, were in a state of fright the other day when a bear made its appearance.

COMRADE OF OLD.

Comrade of old, come back to me, The careless youth you used to be; Come back and banish for awhile Your frowns and let those stern lips smile.

NAILS AND NAILING.

They Figure in Speech As Well As In Trade and Building—Burns' "Nail 't W' Scripture." To nail a thing is to fix or fasten with a nail or nails; to drive nails into for the purpose of fastening or securing, such as to nail up a box, to nail a shelf to the wall, to nail down the hatch, etc.

Other definitions referring to the nail are: Nail, one who nails, while a female nailmaker is referred to by Hugh Miller as a nailer. A nailer is described as an establishment where nails are made.

The nail machine is a power machine for making nails, spikes, brads or tacks. A nailmaker is one who makes nails; a nailer, a person connected in any capacity in the manufacture of nails.

An Elaborately Prepared Crime. This story of an elaborately prepared crime was told by Sir Robert Anderson of Scotland Yard, London.

Why He Hesitated. Why does this man stand upon the pavement trembling with terror, afraid to enter his own home?

Full Satisfaction. A musician and a young banker were dining at a continental restaurant, and a dispute ran high between them.

Not Asking Much. London bachelors expect their women friends to entertain them, they accept their hospitality, but they rarely offer anything in return.

An Economist. "Billy, you've been fighting again." "Yes, man, I've saved half-a-crown, though. You know that tooth I'd got to go to the dentist's to have out? Well, Jimmy Sloggers has just punched it out."
