

We Are Going to Let You In On a Trade Secret

Every Underwear manufacturer in this country has been reluctantly compelled to raise his price this season. Cottons are dearer. Laces are dearer. Embroideries are dearer. Labor is dearer, and there was no other alternative but to raise prices all around. We placed our orders last August before the bigger advances went into effect, consequently we bought at pretty near last year's prices.

You can buy here to the same advantage. That's the secret.

Ten minutes of comparison is worth a page of type description.

ROOT'S TALK

At The Canadian Club's Luncheon.

OFF FOR CAPITAL

BUSINESS CURTAILED HIS SHORT VISIT.

No Feelings of Jealousy Over Canada's Progress—How to Regard Difference—To Live in Peace With Each Other Was His Wish—McLean's View.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—Root's visit to Canada came to an abrupt conclusion yesterday afternoon. He left for Washington by way of Montreal, and will arrive at the American capital this morning. He had not intended to leave until to-day. His return to Washington was rendered imperative on account of the Jamaica complication, but his visit would have been curtailed in any case, by the sudden illness of Lady Victoria Grenfell, the eldest daughter of Earl Grey, who is now on a visit to this country. She is ill of typhoid fever, and this has upset the social arrangements at Rideau Hall.

Mr. Root was entertained at luncheon by the Canadian Club, yesterday, just before his departure. During the course of his address he read without comment the telegraphic despatch of thanks sent him by Governor Sweetingham, of Jamaica, and published yesterday.

This was greeted with loud applause and after the luncheon was over the Whig correspondent asked Mr. Root if he had anything to add to the telegram which he had read. "Not at present," was his reply.

It was a kindly beginning to a great speech in which the distinguished guest was intensely optimistic regarding the destiny of the two nations of the north American continent. "Above all things we need," he said, "a people trained and trained in the art of self-government. In that discussion and consideration of all public questions, not only in the high seats of government, but in the farm house and in the shop, that discussion which lies at the base of modern civilization, that discussion which among the people furnishing the basis for political and social systems, differentiates our latter day civilization from all the civilizations of the past, and must give to the civilization of our time a perpetuity that none of the past has had." Dealing with the motus vivendi, Mr. Root said: "I have been much impressed by the thoughtful, temperate and statesmanlike quality which has been conspicuous in that debate, I am sure, and indeed no one who reads the debates can doubt that whatever conclusion your parliament reaches will be a conclusion dictated by sincere and intelligent and a right-minded determination to fulfil the full duty of your representatives to those people whose rights and interests are bound to maintain and protect."

"I speak the sentiment of millions of my own countrymen, in saying that we look upon the great material and spirited progress of Canada with a feeling of jealousy. But with admiration and with hope and with gratification, I count myself happy to be one of those who are indifferent to the glories and achievements of the race from which they spring. And with my pride in my own land, and the pride that it is part of my inheritance to take in the progress of my fellow-countrymen, I feel in this great, hardy, vigorous, self-governing people of Canada, who love justice and liberty."

Mr. Root pointed out that differences would arise between the two countries, "but let us school ourselves and teach our children," he said, "to believe that whatever differences arise, different understandings as to other facts on different sides of the boundary line, the effect of different environments, are different points of view rather than intentional or conscious unfairness are at the best differences."

In a glowing peroration he called upon the two nations, pursuing the same ideals of liberty and justice to do "this work side by side for peace and righteousness of the world in peace with each other."

The secretary of state was compelled to forego his visit to the houses of parliament. He missed an interesting statement regarding Sir James Sweetingham's attitude towards Admiral Davis at Kingston, Jamaica, made in the House of Commons by W. F. Maclean, M.P., of the Toronto World.

"For myself perhaps for many of my fellow-Canadians, I regard certain incidents of the Jamaica earthquake, as a distinct loss to imperial prestige on this continent, a thing all Canadians take pride in and feel. British naval stations on this Atlantic coast are no more. There is a lesson in it for us. Intimations given sometime we have failed to apprehend, though as distinct as the fact of the case, and that was to have a care for ourselves. If we are to be continental in our aspirations we must have the means of expressing ourselves, as our neighbors have. We may yet find need of a more Canadian flag on a Canadian strip in seas that are as much ours as others."

Except for a few minutes of this house spent the day on the tariff schedule, pickles being a feature.

A TRACT OF COUNTRY.

Has Been Secured In Congo State.

New York, Jan. 22.—Thomas F. Ryan, has managed to get from King Leopold, of Belgium, a tract of country on the Congo bigger than any state in the union. The district contains mahogany, rubber, ivory, oil, and other valuable commodities.

SOME 1,500 PERISH.

The Hague, Jan. 23.—The tidal wave, which devastated some of the Dutch East Indian Islands south of Atchin, as announced on January 11th, practically engulfed the island of Simalu. According to the latest information received here Simalu has almost disappeared. It is said that probably three hundred persons lost their lives. The civil governor of Atchin has gone to the scene of the catastrophe.

American Horses For England.

New York, Jan. 23.—The first shipment of horses for the International Horse Show, at the Olympia Building in London, on June 7th and 13th, was made to-day, when A. G. Vanderbilt and his staff, including the famous trainer, John Green, P. McCann, Clarence Moore, Alfred Macley, George Holmes, George Watson, J. Payne Whitney and others, were in the city. The horses, which were exhibited, George Watson, the American saddle horse judge will tomorrow sail with Mrs. William R. Barclay's pair of champion carriage horses. The horses, which were no semblance of order nor had anything definite been done in the matter of relieving the sufferings of many of the people, the protest of the American people was voiced at a mass meeting, held on board the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, on Monday, when resolutions were passed expressing emphatic condemnation of the conduct and behavior in that period of certain officials of rank specifically Captain Parsons, commander of the British battleship Prinz Eitel Friedrich, lying in the harbor of Kingston, and James Jones, his superior and other officials aboard.

Should Have Known Better.

New York, Jan. 23.—David Gahl, a builder, in attempting by the use of a lighted match to locate a gas pipe leak in the cellar of a newly-constructed three-story double flat house in Brooklyn, yesterday, caused an explosion that wrecked the building and injured seven persons. Gahl suffered most and was probably the only one who was removed to a hospital, having sustained broken limbs and bruises.

Enlarge The Preference.

London, Jan. 23.—The tariff reform commission has issued an instalment report dealing with the Canadian tariff. It says the opinion of home manufacturers and merchants is that the most effective method of increasing Britain's share in the Canadian market lies in the enlargement of preference along the lines of the resolutions of the colonial conference and the declaration of the Canadian ministers.

A. B. Boak Dead.

STILL IN VIEW

The Trouble Between Governor And Admiral.

HE WAS NOT ASKED TO LAND AMERICAN SAILORS ON THE ISLAND.

Archbishop Thinks Action Put People in the Light of Ingrates—There is a Difference of View as to the Governor's Conduct—Many Approve of It.

Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 23.—The trouble between Governor Sweetingham and Rear Admiral Davis is still the subject of general discussion here. The governor's friends excuse his action by saying that while a hard-working and zealous man, he is impulsive and dictatorial by nature and training. As evidence of this, he shows the same disposition in dealing with the local endeavors to furnish relief. The governor always has been unwilling to admit there was any necessity for outside relief.

When interviewed by the correspondent, Governor Sweetingham denied there had been any friction between himself and Admiral Davis. He described the last paragraph of his letter regarding the robbery of a New York millionaire as a jocular parallel of the same robbery, here which was mentioned in Admiral Davis' letter. He had not asked Admiral Davis to land sailors, and referred the correspondent to the archbishop, who had subsequently endorsed the landing of sailors. In an interview, Archbishop Nuttall expressed great regret that any official action had been taken which put the people of Jamaica in the position of ingrates. The Jamaicans heartily appreciated the good feeling shown by Admiral Davis and the United States people. Though the archbishop endorsed the orders of Governor Sweetingham, the object of which was to make the Jamaicans self-reliant, he said a great deal was to be done, and he seemed to think that the Americans would have rendered the much-needed assistance.

The Scotch Presbyterian clergymen expressed strong approval of the governor's action. Jamaica, he said, was not Spanish territory or a Latin American republic. The United States had no right to land troops there.

Made Stern Protest.

New York, Jan. 23.—American refugees, from Kingston, arriving here on board the steamer Prinz Eitel Friedrich, which sailed from the stricken city on Thursday afternoon, the third day after the earthquake, were unanimous in condemning what they termed the "inactivity and utter inefficiency" of the English authorities on the island during the first days following the disaster. Up to the day the Prinz Eitel sailed, there was no semblance of order nor had anything definite been done in the matter of relieving the sufferings of many of the people. The protest of the American refugees was voiced at a mass meeting, held on board the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, on Monday, when resolutions were passed expressing emphatic condemnation of the conduct and behavior in that period of certain officials of rank specifically Captain Parsons, commander of the British battleship Prinz Eitel Friedrich, lying in the harbor of Kingston, and James Jones, his superior and other officials aboard.

MIGHTY CLOSE SHAVE.

Mr. Vipons Was Through the Earthquake.

Montreal, Jan. 23.—J. S. Vipond, who, with his family, have returned from Kingston, Jamaica, had not only an exciting experience during the earthquake, but a thrilling escape from death. He was in his office on Port Royal street, when the shock came in the shape first of a low rumbling. He did not think much of it at the first moment, but walked from the rear of the building to the front when he noticed that the whole clerical staff of the office had fled. On going to the street entrance he found bricks were falling from the building, he was in, as well as from others and he immediately ran into the street. His first impulse was in the direction of a narrow passage beside the customs house, but before he reached there the wall fell into the lane and he turned up the street when he was caught by a falling telegraph pole. He managed to escape from its entanglement and got to a place of safety. He counted thirty-five dead around him.

CARS ARE RUNNING.

But Upon the Old Routes of Company.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—The railway and municipal board, to-day, ordered the street railway company to restore the cars, taken off the three routes, yesterday, pending the decision of the board in regard to the matters in dispute. Ten minutes after the order was given the cars were running. They, however, hunk on the routes as chosen by the street railway, not the routes the city attempted to make the cars run on yesterday. The city is also enjoined from interfering with the operation of the cars.

The board of control met, this morning, and was much disgusted with the action of the railway board. The orders for buses, which were to cover the routes, have been countermanded. The city will have to wait the decision of the board before it will know just how it stands.

OUTSIDE CLEAN.

But Other Places Where Filth Abounds.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Washington, being of the cleanliness of their city. The local authorities issue frequent orders for control of the morals and habits of the people. The bill poster is not permitted to display a picture of a chaste girl, unless her skirts reach her boot tops and the stranger who spits on the sidewalk is liable to arrest and fine. But a commission of the department of agriculture, investigating the places in Washington where meats are sold, has discovered conditions of filth which would give joy to Upton Sinclair. Sanitary arrangements there are apparently none, neither toilet rooms nor lavatories. So bad were the conditions discovered that only a private report was made, lest the public should be frightened into starvation.

ARRESTED FOR THEFT.

Edward Davis Accused of Stealing Sum of $8.

Edward Davis, aged thirty-two, hostler at the Bevere Hotel, King street, was placed under arrest to-day by Constable James Bateson, on a charge of stealing $8 from David McMurray, a boarder at the hotel. The prisoner will be arraigned before the magistrate in to-morrow's police court. He has confessed to the police that he stole the money.

McMurray put his money in a trunk in his room and it was on Monday that he noticed that it was missing. Constable Bateson worked up the case, with the result that Davis was placed behind the bars.

The prisoner has only been out in this country from Ireland, a short time.
