BRITISH RELATIONS

GOOD WITH ALL POWERS, SAYS MR. BRYCE.

United States Especially—Ambassador Praises Mr. Root's Speech and Refers to the Case of Canada.

Manchester, Eng., Jan. 28.—James Bryce, the ambassador to the United States, and Mrs. Bryce, were given a farewell dinner at the Reform club. A large company was present. Mr. Bryce, replying to a toast to his health, referred to Great Britain's good relations with all the powers, and added: "There is one friendship which is of especial value to all of us; I refer to the United States. I am happy to think our relations with that country have never been better. Never, indeed, do I think they have been so good as they are at this moment. The incident fresh in our memory need be referred to only for the sake of saying that the nature of it was 'This is how different things are now, happily, from those times when an incident like that would have been the signal of a defeat in the press of both countries.' Fortunately, in both countries no one took this matter as anything but an occasion wherein we could show our trust in one another. Even more significant was the recent visit of Secretary Root to Canada. I hope you all read the speech of Mr. Root. I never remember any deliverance of a responsible statesman uttered in a higher or broader spirit, and nothing more calculated by its recognition of the splendid progress of Canada, and its lucid statement of the reasons for good feeling between Canada and the United States, to promote friendship and good will between Canada and the United States, and ourselves and the United States. Our speech is an admirable omen for the future. It is an admirable sign of the new spirit of relationship of these three people, or rather these two peoples, for we and the Canadians are, that spirit, a visit has been paid, and such a speech made. There is nothing that ought to be dearer to us than the maintenance of the most friendly and the most intimate relations with the great republic across the Atlantic. The guests of the evening here interrupted Mr. Bryce with cheers.

"There is no higher task to which any one can be called," Mr. Bryce continued, "than trying, in however small a degree, to contribute to the drawing closer of these ties, not only of interest, but what is higher, and greater, of sympathy, ties that rest in the possession of the same language, and in the possession of the same literature, and the same political institutions and traditions."

At this point Mr. Bryce was again interrupted by cheers.

"I have had the honor of being selected to represent this speaker in the United States," the speaker continued, "but not only this government, but the English people, desire the closest friendship with the United States."

The assembled company here interrupted Mr. Bryce with cheers for the third time.

Mr. Bryce concluded his speech with emphasizing the necessity of introducing radical reforms in the House of Lords. He referred also to Ireland, saying he felt that country peaceful and tranquil. He deprecated the publication of false reports concerning disturbances in Ireland when he was administering the country.

"Mr. Bryce reminded his hearers that they must bear in mind the past centuries of mis-government and misunderstanding, the results of which could not be abolished in a few years. He exhorted those to remember how much better things had become since Mr.

AGAINST GAMBLING.

A Pictou Clergyman Has Made Protests.

Pictou, Jan. 28.—Rev. W. L. Armitage, vicar of St. Mary's Magdalene's has taken a public stand against gambling, which is said to be conducted quite openly about town. "I have never stood up against good things," said Mr. Armitage in his Sunday sermon. "But of late there has been too much money up on the result of the local hockey matches. There are men who meet night after night to gamble at cards; this comes from betting on hockey, etc." It is rumored that a result of Mr. Armitage's attack will be that information is being given to the police by the vicar. Instead of five at present, it is understood that there will be eight on the teaching staff of the new Collegiate Institute. Domestic science and manual training are to be new features of the school, each class of which will require its instructor. The board will institute these new features and the advantage of the government grants. The vicar of the church will be a specialist for the commercial class, which through the lack of accommodation in the rooms over Gilbert's restaurant which are being used for high school this winter, had to be discontinued. It has been estimated that the increase in the teaching staff will entail more than $200 extra expenditure. The government pays the additional required.

Mr. Benson of the Bank of Montreal has been selling to his home in the lower provinces, owing to the illness of his father, Arthur Duncan, nephew of John Jameson, has been promoted to the London branch of the Bank of Montreal. Evans of Trenton, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Barker, "Old Grange."

Miss Maude Haddon has gone to New York city for a month's visit. Mr. McNeill has returned from his trip to Missouri. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Patten have returned from Toronto. Mr. W. V. Pettit is visiting friends in Toronto.

WOMAN TURNED BACK.

She Was Not Allowed in United States.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Review.

The immigration officers at the upper bridge turned back a young girl, about sixteen years of age, who has tried to get into this country three times. The girl in question, a young Syrian, who, about a month ago, was married in Kingston, Ont., and after living with her husband a few days became weary of conjugal bliss and started for this side, where she was turned back, on the ground of attempting to bring stolen jewelry into the United States. The second attempt she made to get over the bridge occurred about two weeks ago. The last unsuccessful effort to enter the United States will probably result in her becoming reconciled to remain in the king's domain.

HAD SLUGGISH LIVER.

Bileans Effected a Complete Cure For Indigestion.

The liver rules the body. Bileans rule the liver. "A sluggish liver in my case led to constipation and indigestion," says Mrs. Frances Greene. "I felt tired, nervous, and my head ached. I had a bad attack of biliousness, the food I ate seemed to lie heavy on my stomach and did me no good. I had wind and cramps in the stomach and bowels from the food decomposing. The constipation was so bad that I could not get to bed without a cathartic. I had to be forced to eat each passage. All this was due to a bad liver. I tried, but nothing did me any lasting good until I got Bileans. I have never found anything to equal them for constipation, liver, and stomach troubles. They soon began to do me good and in the end cured me. Since using them, I feel like a different woman. I am bright and buoyant in spirits, not dull and drowsy as used to be. I have got my energy and activity back, and in fact, all my ailments have yielded to Bileans. Bileans are a purely herbal remedy and operate gently on liver and stomach, stimulating those organs to carry out their functions in nature's normal way. Headache, constipation, biliousness, piles, pains in the chest and back, wind pains and dizziness—all these symptoms arise really from derangements of liver and stomach, so by correcting the root cause of these troubles, Bileans speedily cure them all. This is surely better than taking powders for headache, hot drinks for wind pain, and dealing with each symptom piecemeal! All druggists sell Bileans at 50c per box, or obtainable from the Bilean Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Six boxes for $2.50. Write for free sample, which will be mailed you on receipt of a one-cent stamp.

Miss Rowan, a pupil of the Pembroke High School, was not given the certificate she obtained at the midsummer examination owing to a suspicion that she "copied." The purport investigated and sent her certificate, saying she passed with down in number, and represented the fruits of a hunting expedition of President Roosevelt in the Rocky Mountains. He had sent them on how to be mounted for use in the White House. One of his injunctions to the taxidermist was to mount the heads flat as a seventh avenue taxidermist "stuffing blocks" in the way of mounted heads.

The Unrest in Serbia.

Belgrade, Jan. 29.—Martial law goes into effect in the state to-day. Leading members of the House of Deputies, prominent men in civil and military life, and the chiefs of the military parties are stated to have joined the conspiracy to aid the Karagorzevitch dynasty. The intended result of the coup d'etat will be the establishment of a provisional regency in the hands of six or eight ministers. The regents would then take the time to prepare an explanatory statement of the situation for presentation to the great powers, which they would also consult as to the choice of a foreign prince for the throne of Serbia. It would urge upon the friendly consideration of the powers the fact that the two present dynasties of Obrenovitch and Karagorzevitch have been fairly tried and found incompatible with the economical welfare and progressive culture necessary to the worthy attainment of Serbia's proper political destiny. Great unrest prevails, and foreigners are leaving the state.

Curing Rheumatism.

The cure of rheumatism has been difficult, and takes time, even when allowed to become chronic. But there is no longer reason why any one should doubt that rheumatism can be thoroughly cured. Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure has been tested in all sorts of cases of Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuralgia, and it has cured them. It removes rheumatic poison from the blood, cleanses the entire system, and removes every vestige of the disease. In ordinary cases results are surprisingly prompt. Ten days' treatment, price 50c., at Wad's Drug Store.

Too Many Mounted Heads.

New York News.

Lovers of fine animal skins would have been interested in the collection recently mounted in the workshop of a Seventh Avenue taxidermist. They were all native animals, some of them down in number, and represented the fruits of a hunting expedition of President Roosevelt in the Rocky Mountains. He had sent them on how to be mounted for use in the White House. One of his injunctions to the taxidermist was to mount the heads flat as a seventh avenue taxidermist "stuffing blocks" in the way of mounted heads.

ELECTED WARDEN.

A Sketch of Lennox and Addington's Head.

L. L. Gallagher, warden of Lennox and Addington, was born in the County of Leeds, in May, 1869, and belongs to the 18th ward of the city of Toronto. He is the son of James Gallagher, one of the foremost as a farmer and local man in his county. He is also a brother of J. S. Gallagher, M.P.P., Barronswalsh. The warden remained as a true and faithful helper to his father up to the time of his coming to this county in the fall of 1885, when he embarked as a merchant in the old stand of the late Sidney Warner, Wilton, which profession he still follows. He has also been much interested in the local business and industry, and has done as much as any other man in the county to add to its advancement, having successfully operated and managed what is known as the "Farmers' Friend" and "Farmers' Choice" cheese and butter factories for fourteen years. He has occupied the position of vice-president of the Eastern Dairyman's Association for about ten years, has been president of the Frontenac Cheese Board at Kingston; also secretary-treasurer of the same association for several years. As a municipal councillor, he has done more for the financial accounts in a proper and true light before the electors. In politics, he is a liberal-conservative, and in religion, a Methodist, but has a profound respect for all religious denominations. We feel sure we have in the person of the new warden one that will not in any way disgrace the county which he represents, and the contrary will bring to the position dignity and respect.

MRS. NICKLEBY'S GARDEN.

Where Dickens Laid One of His Fanciful Scenes.

London Daily News.

Many interesting associations are linked with the Grove Hall estate, at Bow, which is to come under the auctioneer's hammer, to-day. It was here that Charles Dickens laid the scene of his amusing love-making episode between Mr. Nicholas Nickleby and the "gentleman belonging to the house next door." Here stood the "little cottage at Bow," and the real old garden in which Mrs. Nickleby and her daughter, Kate, received the love offerings of vegetable marrow, cucumbers and onions, which still exist in the garden.

Until recently the estate was the site of Mrs. private lunatic asylum. Just off the Bow-road—the high road to Chiswell, with which the novelist was well acquainted—and about three or four hundred yards down Fairfield road the visitor comes to a large, high brick wall. Passing through the narrow porter's lodge, he at once steps into an Old World garden of quaint and singular beauty. In front of him stretches a long avenue of plane trees, and away in the distance are vistas of winding paths and leafy lanes. It is a strange spot, situated in the heart of London's east end, a spot which few would expect to find in this busy district. At the end of the avenue and away to the left lies the old time garden in which the eccentric lover communed in the days of long ago. The garden is a large patch of earth, the old wall, thickly covered with ivy and creepers, over which the "gentleman from next door" conversed with Mrs. Nickleby, is still there, much worn with age. In the center of the garden is a large patch of evergreens and marigolds, while sweet smelling jasmine perfumes the air with its fragrance. One can easily reconstruct the love scene in this old-fashioned corner and truly believe the proposals of the madman from next door.

The little cottage has long since been demolished, and on its site now stand the remains of a laundry. But the land if these old associations are allowed to be obliterated by the march of the marks are still left, and it will be a pity indeed. It is a delightful English retreat and the many lovers of Dickens will hope that the suggestion of the Dickens Fellowship that the authorities should secure the place as a public recreation ground will be acted upon. The estate, which is still surrounded by the high wall of Mrs. private lunatic asylum, comes close upon a dozen acres of beautifully wooded land. Such a spot would make an ideal recreation ground.

The asylum itself was closed early in the present year, and the buildings, with the exception of one or two at the extreme left of the grounds, have been pulled down.

The Individual and Reform.

The tendency to-day is to reform in the lump. The single man is lost in the "social" movement. Personal liberties are justified by the errors of the economic system. It is our task to teach the absolute need of personal character, as the essential to social reform. The social system is not the product of character, but character is the product of the social system. It is only when the individual asserts his divinity, and defies his environment, that progress is made and maintained.

NURSE STRIKERS' CHILDREN.

New Method of Aiding Partisipants in Labor Disputes.

Paris, Jan. 29.—Sixty little boys and girls arrived here, to-night, to be nursed by the families of Paris workers while their fathers, the boot-makers, are on strike at Fougères.

The premier, M. Clemenceau, has expressed his sympathy with the humane arrangement, and has volunteered to pay all the railway fares. The little children were met by an enthusiastic crowd when they arrived by special train, and were driven by trucks to the Bouras du Travail. Here they were allotted, and the workers who have arranged to look after them took their homes.

There are 7,500 workers on strike in Fougères, and other batches of their children will arrive later.

REFUSED TO BE AMBASSADOR.

Prefers Salary to a Merit Honor.

Paris, Jan. 29.—M. Leygues has refused the post of ambassador at Madrid, as he prefers to retain his position as deputy, with his salary of $8 per day.

M. Leygues might have retained his deputyship if his appointment as ambassador had been made a temporary one, renewable every six months. King Alfonso, however, did not consider it compatible with his dignity to accept a temporary ambassador.

"I have been a minister myself," says M. Leygues, "and I know the only way to keep your hold on the ministerial memory is to remain an active politician. One's duty as an active politician, and you are shelled."
