

FRIENDS TELL FRIENDS—“NOTHING LIKE PE-RU-NA.”

PE-RU-NA'S POPULARITY IS IN NO SMALL MEASURE DUE TO THE GENEROUS PRAISE GIVEN IT BY GRATEFUL PEOPLE.

Tells Every One About Pe-Ru-na. Mrs. R. T. Fennessy, Bound Brook, N. J., writes: "I have taken Pe-Ru-na and find it a very good medicine. After I took one bottle of Pe-Ru-na, I was cured of my cough. I cannot help telling every one I know about Pe-Ru-na and asking them to try it. I would like every one to know of the good Pe-Ru-na does."

Friend Advised Use of Pe-Ru-na. Mr. E. W. Staley, 212 Fillmore St., Nashville, Tenn., writes: "I was down for three months with pneumonia and had gotten very weak. A friend advised me to try Pe-Ru-na, which I did, and soon found it was the thing I needed. When I finished the third bottle, I found I weighed more than I ever did in my life."

Recommends Pe-Ru-na. Mr. Henry Ganther, R. R. No. 1, Needah, Wis., writes: "I recommend your medicine to every one who is in need of it. I have been using Pe-Ru-na and have gained in health. I thank you for what you have done."

Spreading the Good News. Prof. J. Iverson, dealer in musical merchandise, box 313, Cumberland, Md., writes: "It is now five months since my wife began taking Pe-Ru-na and from the first day improvement has been going on noticeably. She is now in good health. We never tire of making this fact known to our many friends."

A Neighbor Advised Pe-Ru-na. Mrs. John Haynes, 107 E. Main St., Columbus, Ohio, writes: "For over two years I suffered with headaches and severe pains in my head, and all these two years my friends would say, 'Why don't you take Pe-Ru-na?' Finally one of my neighbors just insisted on my taking it. I tried it and before I had taken one-fourth of a bottle my headaches were gone. I can never without Pe-Ru-na. I advise every one to take Pe-Ru-na."

A Friend Had Used Pe-Ru-na. Mr. Henry L. Goodwin, portrait artist, 83 Govestreet, Boston, Mass., writes: "For three years I have been suffering from a general run-down condition of the system. I tried many remedies. A friend of mine advised me to use Pe-Ru-na, as it had benefited him. After taking two bottles I felt better. Now I am in the best of health."

POSSIBILITY OF ANOTHER BECK CASE IS AGITATING ENGLAND.

Sen of Church of England Clergyman Unwilling to Term of Imprisonment for Mutinizing a Horse Who May Be Innocent—Parliament May Order a Searching Investigation—The Evidence on Which He Was Convicted.

England is at present agitated over the possibility of another Beck case, the victim being George Edalji, at present serving a term of imprisonment for mutinizing a horse. Our readers will remember the case of Adolph Beck, the wrongdoer created a tremendous sensation, and English public opinion regarded him as a martyr of the Dreyfus type. It is fortunate, indeed, as The Spectator says, that the people of England become so much in earnest whenever they suspect that a wrong has been done a private citizen of obscure rank. It is now certain that when Parliament meets a thorough investigation of the Edalji case will be demanded, if not ordered, by the Government.

The Anonymous Libeler. Edalji is the son of Rev. S. Edalji, a Church of England clergyman of Parsce origin, and was born in 1876. In 1888 a number of threatening letters were received at the vicarage, and their author was proved to be a scolded servant girl who was prosecuted by George Edalji and Frederick Brooks. In 1903 there was another outbreak of scurrilous letters. It does not appear, however, whether the letters were written by Edalji or for the lord Staffordshire papers had printed a forged letter of apology, admitting the authorship of the letters, signed by George Edalji and Frederick Brooks. It does not appear, however, whether the letters were written by Edalji or for the lord Staffordshire papers had printed a forged letter of apology, admitting the authorship of the letters, signed by George Edalji and Frederick Brooks.

Mutilating Cattle. On Feb. 2, 1903, took place the first of a series of hideous outrages on cattle, that eventually led to the year's arrest and imprisonment. Before Aug. 16 instances of mutilated horses and cattle occurred in the neighborhood, and on Aug. 19 George Edalji was arrested. Apparently because his name had appeared so often in the anonymous letters that were in full blast about that time. In pressing the charge the police appear to have tried two or three lines of prosecution before settling down to their theory. They finally tried to prove that the crime was committed by the prisoner between the hours of 11 o'clock on the night of the 17th and 6.30 the next morning. The prisoner, who slept in the same room, and his father swore that his son went to bed shortly after 7 o'clock, and did not leave his room until 12 hours later. They slept in the same room, and Edalji, Jr., always locked the door.

The Evidence For the Crown. The police produced a coat belonging to the prisoner, which was damp, and on the cuffs of which were stains, proved by a medical expert to belong to some mammalian animal. The prisoner's trousers and boots were also shown to have been recently used, and the latter fitted exactly into tracks found in the field with the wounded pony. One of Edalji's razors was wet, and even Mrs. Edalji, who had been seen by the police, picked off Edalji's clothing. This was the evidence for the prosecution with some specimens of blood, to show that the prisoner had written a threatening letter to the police. Edalji was convicted, and sentenced to seven years' imprisonment. He was in jail awaiting trial when another outrage occurred, with a horse as victim, and for six months thereafter the police were busy with the case. Finally a man named Farrington was arrested and convicted. He was sentenced to three years' imprisonment. Edalji served three years, and was released.

For the Defence. At the trial and since some facts have been brought out that point to Edalji's innocence. In the first place he was under surveillance for some time previous to his arrest, and the vicarage was watched in the same way, but the pony was wounded long after that time. It is obvious, however, that the watch was not very strict, for the field was also watched in the same way, but the pony was wounded long after that time. THE FIELDS MARSHAL'S MISTAKE. In The Manchester Guardian G. W. E. Russell tells, or re-tells, this good Wellington story. Mrs. Russell was an accomplished lady, who wrote not only on horticulture, but on arboriculture and landscape gardening, and illustrated what she wrote. One of her sketches of the "Waterloo Beches" at Strathfieldsaye—a picturesque clump of plants commemorating the British victory from the Corsican tyrant. Accordingly, she wrote to the Duke of Wellington requesting leave to present to the Duke a copy of her sketch. The duke, who, in spite of extreme age and with perceptions not quite so clear as they once were, still attended to his own correspondence, replied as follows: "F. M. the Duke of Wellington presents his compliments to the Baroness of London. The Bishop is quite at liberty to make a sketch of the beches which the duke were left at Waterloo, if they can be found. But the duke is not aware that they differed in any way from the beches which he generally wears."

"Put Into a Book." Thomas Mitton was Dickens' solicitor as well as his schoolfellow and used to say that he was the only one of all of "Charlie's" friends whom the novelist had never "put into a book." Mitton's hearers smiled inwardly, because they recognized obvious pieces of Mitton in several of the novels, the scenes and the arguments being in Wemmick ("Great Expectations") and Tappertit ("Barnaby Rudge"). Not much in common, it may be said, but the two accents, never theless, life being more various and more inconsistent than fiction, there he was visibly. Dickens was greatly pleased to hear of Mitton, and it was in a letter to the lawyer that he described most admirably the frightful railway accident from which he escaped physically unscathed, but gravely shaken in nerve.—London Chronicle.

FRUIT TREES KILLED. The Frost Has Likely Done Serious Work.

Pictou, Feb. 20.—It is feared throughout the county that much damage has been done to the orchards this winter. It is thought that with no snow to protect the trees and the unusual severity of the cold will combine in killing them. The probability is that the frost will be particularly severe on small fruit trees, such as plums and cherries. Apple trees as a rule, are of more sturdy growth.

Much speculation has been advanced towards Pictou's prospects for junior year's team showed up well. It is understood all but Benson, who were on the line-up this winter will be eligible for next season's games. This presents happy prospects for the town, as they are regarded as the star player of the Brockville septette, contemplates returning to Pictou to reside and will be a likelihood for next winter.

The spaces between the stripes of insertion forming the yoke was embroidered with little forget-me-not flower sprays in natural colors.

BED FIRED; NEGRO DIES. Suffers Fearful Agony in Resort at Peoria, Ill.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 20.—After suffering fearful agony, George Isabel, colored, died, the result of burns received yesterday, in a resort. Before losing consciousness, the deceased stated someone entered his room while asleep, saturated the bedclothes with kerosene, and applied a match.

Minerva Williams, a sweetheart, had made threats against his life, it is said, and is being held by the police. She asserts Isabel went to bed intoxicated and lighted a cigarette.

To Colonize Vancouver. Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 20.—The Canadian Pacific railway company has completed, in Montreal, a contract with the British Columbia Development Association, of London, O., which J. Wilkinson and Hon. J. H. Turner, ex-president of British Columbia, are prominent members, for the colonization of a hundred and fifty thousand acres on the Esquimaux and Nanaimo railway land grant on Vancouver Island, which now belongs to the Canadian Pacific railway. The $200,000 necessary for the purchase of land, expenses of clearing, etc., have been obtained. Sir Frederick Borden's name is associated with the project. The land, it is certain, will be much sought after by small British settlers with some capital, if placed at a reasonable figure.

WHAT MAY HAPPEN. Wave of Crime May Re-Establish Guillotine.

Paris, Feb. 20.—Since the announcement that the guillotine would probably never be used again in France, crime has increased notably, especially in Paris, and there is now a prospect of sentiment in favor of capital punishment. There is some prospect of a place being again found on which to erect the guillotine, which now remains stored in a government shed pending a decision whether head chopping shall be resumed in all its revolutionary picturesque or the system now in force continue of sentencing the criminal to death and depending upon the president to commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

THE PARAGRAPH PULPIT

Rev. C. W. Casson, Ottawa.

All Things Are Sacred. If there has been one lesson taught me more plainly than all others, it has been that there is in this world nothing secular. All is sacred. All is permeated by the spirit of divinity. There is no day more holy than any other—no day, and no act, and no place. Whatever the time, or the place, God is there, and makes it sacred by His presence. This is the larger lesson that the world must learn before it enters the larger truth. Every inch of ground is holy, every common thing is sacred, every imperfect man is inherently divine. Knowing this, how dare you despise anything or anybody?
