IS HE CRAZY?

Jerome To Ask For A Commission.

AS A FINALITY

LAWYERS TO PROTECT THAW'S INTERESTS.

Not a Simple Matter to Break In to a Murder Trial to Find Out the Mental Condition of the Prisoner—Said to Have Followed Mrs. Thaw.

New York, Feb. 26.—The reports that Attorney Jerome will eventually ask for the appointment of a commission in lunacy are believed to be well founded, but Mr. Jerome, it is said, will not make this application until what he deems the proper time arrives. In preparation for any move in this direction Thaw's lawyers have been busy looking up cases in which lunacy commissions have been sought. On the whole they are satisfied with their investigations, as there have been one or two cases in this state which seem to show that it is not as simple a matter to get the court to break into a murder trial to order an inquiry into the mental condition of the defendant as might at first appear.

A story is published today to the effect that George Pollock, formerly hall-boy at the San Jacinto apartments, has supplied an affidavit in which he alleged that White on four occasions, followed Mrs. Thaw to the home of Hattie Forsythe, who lived at the San Jacinto, and repeatedly tried to intercept her. Mrs. Thaw, however, on each occasion, is said to have avoided White.

Scenes At The Trial.

At the trial on Monday Mr. Jerome read from the statement he secured from Mrs. Thaw's mother, and asked the witness if her mother and a Miss Simonton had not gone to White on their return from Europe and taken him with the girl's story of her downfall, the architect replying, "My wife on one side and my son on the other, and may God strike me dead if I ever harmed her."

"Yes, he told me that," said Mrs. Thaw, "and he told me his body turned ice cold when he accused him. He said he could handle a dozen mammas, but he was afraid of this Simonton woman."

Later Jerome was asking the girl if Jack Barrymore, the girl and told White's anger when he heard that Barrymore wanted to marry the girl.

"Now," sneered Jerome, "you have said that you and Jack Barrymore did not go to visit A. Dr. Carleton Flint?"

"Yes, positively. We went to see no physician."

"Tell him to come in here," said Jerome, with an impudent wave of his arm. "Then he drew back, holding the girl under a fixed stare. Through the 'stage' doorway came the little red-haired man—Dr. Carleton Flint. The little doctor passed behind the jury boxes around the turn of the corner, that he stood within a few feet of young Mrs. Thaw."

"Did you ever see this man before?" shouted Jerome.

"No," said the girl. Her lips were white, there was sudden tremor in her throat. But she had flinched her small pale face and stared fairly at Dr. Flint.

"Your name is Dr. Carleton Flint," said Jerome, his voice still at high key.

"Yes," said the little doctor. His face was flushed and he was frowning. He did not like his position.

"Did you and Jack Barrymore go to see this physician together?"

"No."

"Look at this man."

Young Mrs. Thaw was looking at him. She stared with her mouth long enough to turn and face Jerome.

"I do not think I ever saw this man in my life before," she said firmly.

Instead of further hurting the cause of her husband, Mrs. Thaw managed to make two decided gains. When court adjourned last Thursday it appeared from her own statements that she used a letter of credit from Stanford White while travelling in Europe and turned the latter over to Thaw. Monday she explained that Thaw took the letter of credit from her, saying the money was "poison," that neither she nor her mother must touch it, and that he would provide them with funds. Whatever of the money was spent, she declared, was for her mother.

The second point Mrs. Thaw made was concerning the cablegram Thaw is said to have sent to Stanford White from London. It appeared Thursday that these cablegrams were requests to White to use his influence to keep Mrs. Nesbit from "raising a row" and interfering with her daughter in her continuing in company with Thaw.

Mr. Jerome took up the subject again, Monday, but his questions elicited the information that the letters did not concern Mrs. Thaw at all, but related to a man connected with the American embassy in London, who, Mrs. Thaw said, "smoked up to" maintain a bedroom and invited her. She said the man also invited her, and that Thaw went to search for him, but failed to find him.

WANT TO VOTE

The Woman Suffrage Issue in Italy.

A WORLD QUESTION

MUST BE SETTLED FINALLY IN THEIR FAVOR.

The Great Need in Italy is Improvement in Female Education—A Day of Prayer Has Been Fixed in London—Hope the Rough Element Will Respect the Occasion.

Rome, Feb. 26.—The question of women suffrage was debated in the chamber of deputies, on Monday, on motion of Admiral Mirabelli, minister of marine, who eulogized women's moral and mental qualities. Ex-Minister Luzzati said the whole civilized world was now agitating the question where the improvement of female education should be settled in favor of women sooner or later. He contended England's two greatest sovereigns had been women.

Premier Giolitti, who promised to renew and needed amendment, but still consider the question, admitted that many laws were unfavorable to women, that probably the greatest present need was the improvement of female education. He was willing, however, to appoint a commission to consider the gradual reforms in legislation affecting women.

Appeal to a ray.

London, Feb. 26.—Having hitherto failed to obtain recognition of their political "rights" by appealing to men a portion of the suffragettes have arranged to make their claims a subject of public prayer. A demonstration with this end in view has been fixed for next Sunday in Hyde Park, where their grievances will be ventilated solely through the medium of prayers and hymns. They expect and hope that the "rough element" will respect the occasion.

ROMANCE OF A MINER.

Wedding Becalls Courtesier Mine Tragedy.

Paris, Feb. 26.—A romantic marriage, or, at least, recalling a romance, was celebrated here yesterday, when Louis Castel, one of the thirteen survivors of the Courrières mine disaster, married Angela Molard. It may perhaps be recalled when Castel was in the depths of the mine, fighting desperately for his life, he called for his fiancée, Margaret Mouroussou. Analysts of passion asked if it were not the great power of love that gave Castel strength to fight for his life, yet yesterday he married another woman. Castel gives a simple explanation. He found a name as an able attendant in the ministry of public works, and wrote to Margaret to come to Paris. Not liking the city, she would not come. After a period of distressing correspondence, Castel found in time consulting English correspondents after enquiring indignantly deny the story attributed to German newspapers that the bodies of victims were robbed.

NO TRUTH THAT THE DEAD BODIES WERE ROBBED.

Hook of Holland, Feb. 26.—The first funerals of the victims of the wreck of the steamer Berlin, which stranded at Hook of Holland, were held yesterday. Two thousand people followed the hearse two miles through the mud and a dismal fog to the local cemetery, where impressive services were held. English correspondents after enquiring indignantly deny the story attributed to German newspapers that the bodies of victims were robbed.

THE RUSSIAN FAMINE.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 26.—Agricultural statistics published yesterday show that the season's grain crop has fallen short by 622,000,000 bushels. In the north-western provinces the famine is becoming very acute notwithstanding the action of the government in sending supplies. It is stated that the meagre quantities doled out to the peasants is wholly insufficient for their needs. Merchants here and in Odessa are making arrangements for shipments of grain from the United States and Canada.

SLUGGISH KIDNEYS.

A great many people need occasionally a remedy to strengthen and stimulate the kidneys to greater activity. These organs grow sluggish, do not properly filter the blood, and the result is a disordered condition of the entire system. Peck's Kidney and Liver Pills meet the need of a reliable kidney, liver and bladder tonic and regulator. In boxes, 25c. For sale only at Wade's Drug Store. Money back if not satisfactory.

BIG FIRE AT THE FALLS.

Kingston, Feb. 26.—The Niagara Falls N.Y. Feb. 26.—The plant of the Acher Process company was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. Henry S. Fairchild, an electrician, was caught under a falling wall and killed. George's cable from the power house were torn down by falling walls. The loss is $800,000. The company manufactured bleaching powder, caustic soda, tin oxide and other products.

MURDER BY RAILROADS.

Directors Should Be Punished For Continual Slaughter.

Pittsburg, Feb. 26.—Rev. Dr. S. E. Young, of the Second Presbyterian church, in a sermon Sunday night, said: "Surely the hour has come for a general movement to prevent railroad and steamship wrecks. The murder of people by transportation companies is probably the most glaring crime of our day."

"Were one particular man distinctly responsible for each accident the people would soon find a way to land him in the penitentiary or on the gallows or electric chair. The southern corporation gives the murderer a chance to go unpunished. One of the most aggravating features is the attempt on the part of the railroads to suppress the news—as if it were imperative for the relatives of the dead and wounded to wish to know who is hurt and how badly. God give us legislators enough and brave enough to stand up right now and enact laws that will lessen the awful iniquity of railroad murder."

HARVARD BOYS DELIGHTED.

Football is Saved and President Did It.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 26.—Football is saved. The president did it.

"This is the talk at Harvard. The whole undergraduate body is happy over the attitude expressed by President Roosevelt in his speech on Saturday."

President Roosevelt's speech burst upon them and they vigorously expressed conviction that the very idea of abolishing football was preposterous, cheered mightily every Harvard heart. The general feeling about the "yard" seems to be that the "powers" that be will surely see fit to use authority to the known wishes of such a prominent graduate as President Roosevelt.

TO PASTEURISE MILK.

New York, Feb. 26.—Owing to the great infant mortality in the city, the board of aldermen, to-day, passed an ordinance prohibiting the sale of milk unless it is pasteurized or sterilized. It is also provided in the ordinance that if the milk is sold in bottles it need not be pasteurized, but it is insisted that the bottling must be done under the supervision of the inspectors of the health department, and that the bottles shall be sealed by the inspectors.

DEALS NOT CLOSED.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 26.—Capt. Sullivan, Ontario, manager of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation company, was here yesterday, and being asked concerning the report that negotiations are on foot for the sale of three or four of the steamers of the fleet, replied that had a dozen lines, who want vessels the size of those owned by the company, had looked over the boats, but no deals had been closed.

TAXES AROUSE CONGO NATIVES.

Brussels, Feb. 26.—Mail advices received here from the Congo Independent State, say that the natives (Oubangui) are excited over the taxes imposed upon them and that the Boulogis are on the verge of revolt for the same cause. Some villages have already been attacked by the natives and a score of persons have been killed.

PRESTON CONFIRMED IN SEAT.

Toronto, Feb. 26.—The appeal of A. W. Keeney, liberal, against the seating of the judge who allowed W. A. Preston, to take his seat in the legislature, in Rainy River, was dismissed by the court of appeal to-day. Mr. Preston is, therefore, confirmed in his seat.

EIGHT KILLED BY AVALANCHES.

Christiansia, Feb. 26.—Telegram from Opetty, Nordfjord, records the death of eight men, with the loss of eight lives. The Holstad homestead on Grelingsfjord was also overwhelmed and ten persons buried.

MRS. ANNA A. CROSMON DEAD.

Oplungburg, N.Y., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Anna A. Crosmon, wife of Charles Crosmon, proprietor of the Crosmon house, at Alexandria-Bay, N.Y., died on Sunday. She was the daughter of Justice Dana, of this city.

NO CYCLONE IN PHILIPPINES.

Manila, Feb. 26.—The reports recently in circulation here that the Southern Islands of the Philippines archipelago had been visited by a severe cyclone, are without foundation.

A BY-LAW CARRIED.

Amherstburg, Ont., Feb. 26.—A by-law granting free water and taxes for ten years to the Canadian Camera Limited, was carried here, by 254 to 113.
