His Right Hand and Arm Are Badly Burned, Also the Foot. Through Which the Current Escaped From His Body, But He Will Live. Niagara Falls, Ont., March 23.—With his right hand and arm burned black, his face and left foot scorched and his whole nervous system a wreck, William Reid lies in the general hospital, a puzzle to physicians and electricians, who cannot understand how he remains alive.

Mrs. Craigie's Address.

An amusing story of the late Mrs. Craigie, the noted novelist, was told the other day at the Authors' Club, New York. "When Mrs. Craigie was in America last year," said an editor, "she was invited to make an address at a certain meeting. She accepted the invitation, but her name, through some oversight, was put far down on the programme, and worse than that, the chairman, a rather stupid person, introduced before her some speakers who were not on the programme at all."

Woman.

Rear Admiral Coghlan, commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, whose reputation as a retailer of good stories has increased each time he has spoken at dinner, told a story a few nights ago, which was given to illustrate his distaste of being the last speaker.

"Having the last word," the rear admiral said, "reminds me of a story I heard not long ago.

"A certain man died and a clergyman was engaged to offer an eulogy. The worthy minister prepared a sermon of exceeding length and strength, but just before he entered the parlor to deliver it he thought that it might be advisable to learn what the dead man's last words had been.

"He didn't have none," the boy replied. "Ma was with him to the end."

"Trusses fitted by Dr. Chown" give ease, comfort and security. Marriage frequently is the dyspepsia of undigested love.

WABASSO COTTON CO.

THE NEW CONCERN FORMED IN MONTREAL.

It Will Erect a Fine Mill at a Quebec Point—C. R. Whitehead Will Be the Manager—To Make Fine Goods. Montreal, March 23.—The Wabasso Cotton company has been formed, in this city, with a capital of $1,750,000, including stocks and bonds, and a mill, to be erected in January, 1908, will be erected at either Three Rivers, Ottawa, St. John's, Que., or Sherbrooke, according as the promoters are able to make suitable terms with the municipal authorities. C. R. Whitehead, manager of the Montmorency cotton mill, up to the time of its inclusion in the Dominion Textile company, and who has since been joint manager of the textile company, is to be the manager of the company, have resigned his former position. The promoters state that the new concern will not be a competitor of the textile company, but will make a higher grade of goods such as are now imported from England.

WRECK N BIG FOUR.

Coaches Rolled Down Embankment—Engineer Killed. Danville, Ind., March 23.—Passenger train No. 11, on the St. Louis division of the Big Four railroad, west bound, from Indianapolis to St. Louis, left the tracks near Avon, yesterday. Engineer Gregory was crushed beneath his locomotive. Seven passengers were injured, none fatally. The coaches rolled down a twenty-foot embankment. A gravel pile near the track caused the engine to leave the track, carrying the coaches with it.

Kingston's Example.

Belleville, Ontario. Antiquated as Kingston is and behind the times in many respects as compared with other places, yet in regard to its public utilities, it has for some time set an example which other municipalities will do well to emulate if they can. The water works have long been successful and to time until they were stand at a low figure, and the municipal lighting department appears to have been equally successful.

Lost His Life For A Hat.

Vienna, March 23.—A farm hand named Robert, who was employed at the Otto shelter house, on the Rax mountain, where so many fatal accidents have occurred, lost his life yesterday, when trying to save his hat. He was following two other men down the mountain on an easy path, when the wind blew his hat off. He made a dash to catch it, but fell over the edge of the path into the Thied rathine, and died from the injuries received.

PISTOL TRAP FOR BURGLARS.

Invention Leads to Arrest of Criminal.

Geneva, March 23.—A local landlord named Clement, who lost heavily through burglaries in a number of his houses in the suburbs of Geneva, recently invented an automatic pistol, which has proved an effective burglar trap. The pistol, which fired small shot, was so attached to a locked window or door that an attempt to force it open discharged the weapon. While visiting some of his unhabited villas at Collonges, yesterday, M. Clement forced a shutter on one house broken, and the pistol attached thereto discharged. A trail of blood extended from the house for a distance of 500 yards. The police learned that a man named Boissonnet had been admitted to a local hospital suffering from shock wounds in the face. He was arrested, and confessed to the attempted burglary.

C.P.R. IS WEAK.

The Cause of it is Tight Money.

New York, March 23.—Another serious slump in stocks, when business began, today, revived a great part of the nervousness and apprehension prevailing in the panic period of last week. Yesterday's violent break in the Erie and Canadian Pacific paved the way to some extent for the action of the market, today. The particular weakness, however, appeared to find its origin in foreign markets, where the money situation seems to lie at the root of the troubles. In London a stock market settlement began on Monday. At that time discrepancies in prices of securities, since the last settlement two weeks ago, have to be made good. This was held to account for the particular weakness of Canadian Pacific.

Farm Talk.

The late Charles Bliss, the famous star of Dan Rice's circus—he was the original "human fly"—imputed his success to thoroughness. "Don't attempt a new trick," he said one day in Madison, "till you are a thorough master of it. The only way to succeed is to be so thorough in everything you undertake that failure is altogether an impossibility. If you are going, for instance, to be a stump speaker, if you are going to address a lot of farmers, don't talk farm talk unless you have studied it up. Don't be like a stump speaker I know who yelled at a cross-roads meeting: 'He who puts his hand to the plough must not turn back.' 'Wot's he to do then when he gets to the end of the furrow?' shouted a hired man in blue overalls."

SHOT BY GAMBLER

COUNTY ATTORNEY KILLED AT FORT WORTH, TEXAS.

Another Fatally Wounded—Marder Chased and Arrested After Revolver Battle With Deputies and Angry Mob. Fort Worth, Tex., March 23.—Following an attack on an alleged gambling house, yesterday, County Attorney Jeff D. McLean was shot and killed, and Hamil P. Scott, a member of the attacking party, was fatally wounded by William Thompson, proprietor of the resort. Half an hour later, Thompson was surrounded in a lumber yard and captured, after a desperate fight, in which he suffered bullet wounds that may prove fatal. The scene of tragedy was seen by hundreds of men and women, including many legislators attending a stock show. The resort is in the heart of the retail quarter.

Weather Observer Imprisoned By Gale.

Vienna, March 23.—The observer occupying the Bonian Weather Station Observatory, on the Blednica mountain, over 6,000 feet above sea level, had a sensational experience on the night of the wreck of the Berlin. A hurricane was registered at over 105 miles an hour when the triple windows of the instrument room were blown in, and an anemometer was broken. The room immediately began to fill with snow.

Feudal Story of Irish Industry.

One of the most important of Irish industrial enterprises suffered a great blow recently. A fire broke out in the Providence Woolen Mills, Foxford, doing great damage. The history of these woolen mills is remarkable. Some fourteen years ago the village of Foxford, county Mayo, was one of the poorest and most desolate looking spots in Ireland. Now it is not only a prosperous, thriving center, but a picturesque, charming town, and the magical change has been brought about owing to the agency of one woman, a man. This remarkable woman is Mother Murrugh Bernard, a Sister of Charity. Coming with her community to Foxford her heart was smitten by the abject misery of the people and she determined to improve their lot. But an all-wise she met with discouragements and obstacles. As a result of almost superhuman exertions she at length raised a fund to start the Providence Woolen Mills. From the start the work prospered marvelously.

Japanese Cleanliness.

Prince Hasebe, the distinguished Japanese, referred at a dinner recently to the well-known cleanliness of his nation. "If you should visit a Japanese home," he said, "you would be obliged to remove your shoes at the doorway. Japanese floors are very beautifully kept. I know of no house where some thirty or forty servants have no other duty than the polishing of the floors. A young Japanese student, studying in London, had the misfortune to live in an apartment house where the janitor did not keep the hall in very good condition. It was a great chance to him, and he felt it keenly. On the approach of winter, the janitor put up in the entrance the notices: 'Please wipe your feet.' The young Japanese, the first night he observed this notice, took out a pencil and added to it, 'On going out.'"
