THE SPORT REVIEW

A BIG ARTIFICIAL RINK FOR TORONTO.

Alf. Smith May Stay With Kenora—The Canada Cup Prospects—General Notes on Sports.

Cornwall will have a strong team in the N.L.U. this year.

The Canadian Lacrosse Association has decided to give field captains another try.

President Barroch of the O.H.A. left yesterday, for Calgary, where he will make his home.

Two Peterboro men have leased Dev's Ottawa arena, for the summer, and will conduct a roller skating rink there.

Farrell, the St. Louis shortstop, who was purchased by Toronto, has come to terms, and is ready to report. He writes from Hot Springs accepting the Toronto contract, and says that he is in superb condition.

The movement to abolish the two-year clause in the N.L.U. constitution will be opposed by the Temucosh Club, but will receive the hearty endorsement of the Torontonians at the annual meeting of the N.L.U.

Here's a St. Louis bowler dead from over-training for the tournament now in progress in that city. Bowling must be a exhilarator if it produces fatalities, will be the conclusion of the authorities whose mission it is to "reform" sport.

Ottawa Citizen: If the Ottawa hockey team had gone West after the Stanley cup they would not be any quibbling. They would go on the ice and play the game if Kenora signed all the Manitoba and International league stars.

Alfred Smith of the Ottawa hockey team, and considered by many the premier player of Canada, may not return to the capital. It is reported that he has received inducements to remain in Kenora and wear the red thistle of the Stanley cup holders next year.

The Brandon hockey team is pretty nearly a Stanley cup proposition in itself. The team has been drawn from all over the dominion. Leader, Hall and Ross being practically the only residents of the West City team. Coach, Under Quinn is from Winnipeg. Leader, originally from Quebec, and Ross from Montreal. Doc Smith, from Montreal. Joe Hall from Brandon, and Service from Smith's Falls.

Work on the building of the finest amphitheatre and the first artificial rink in Canada will be begun at once by the Mutual Street Rink management of Toronto. The new arena will have an artificial ice plant, the first of its kind in Canada. The ice surface will be 205 by 90 feet, exactly the same size as that of the Montreal Arena. The building itself will be 325 feet by 190 and will seat 10,000. When the ice surface is not in use 3,000 more people can be seated.

School Children Boycotted.
London, March 23.—A serious deadlock has arisen between the education authorities of Durham county and the borough of Gateshead. Recently Gateshead took a census of the county children attending its schools, and demanded payment for some four to five hundred coming from Durham. This demand has been refused by the county, and yesterday the Gateshead Education Committee approved of a circular to send the parents of the children living over the borough boundary, informing them that their children will not be admitted to the Gateshead schools after the end of next month.

A Rochester, N.Y., despatch says: Although it is exceedingly doubtful that any other United States city will build for the honor of defending the "Canada" cup trophy, Chicago, Detroit and Toledo have an eye on the cup. If Toronto wins back the trophy the Royal Canadian Yacht Club will be challenged at once by probably all three of these United States clubs.

Alien Ousted By Aliens.

The proverbial use of time it to spend it counting the minutes.

SEIGNORIAL SYSTEM

A MONOGRAPH BY W. B. MUNRO, M. A.

A Graduate of Queen's of 1906—He Writes a Valuable Treatise on a Study in French Colonial Policy.

The following editorial in the Toronto Globe, of March 20th, refers to W. B. Munro, M.A., a graduate of Queen's University in 1906. Mr. Munro took the degree of M.A. and LL.B. here, winning the medal in history and the Gowen prize in political science. The Globe says:

"A notable monograph on this extremely interesting theme has just appeared from the Longman's press. Its author, W. B. Munro, is a Canadian by birth and education, who has won his way to an assistant professorship of government in Harvard University. His monograph, which is the latest number of the lengthening series of 'Harvard Historical Studies,' has for its title the designation, 'A Study in French Colonial Policy,' and the most cursory perusal of its contents will prove to any reader that the book is much more than an account of the seignorial system. Mr. Munro himself suggests the idea that he owes to Parliament's sketch of Canadian feudalism, the inspiration, that prompted this extended study, and no Canadian who has ever felt a like inspiration will withhold his tribute of appreciation of the way in which the author has performed what was evidently his labour of love. No adequate pecuniary remuneration for such work can be expected.

"Any attempt in this connection to give a detailed account of Mr. Munro's line of treatment would be found impracticable. It must suffice to say that having set up 'the European background' against which to exhibit his sketch of this side of French colonial life, he proceeds step by step to explain the nature of the early and later seignorial grants, the social and economical relations between the seignior and the censitaire, and the process of disintegration through which the system passed until the passage by the Canadian parliament of the act of 1854, by which the privileges of the seigniors were abolished and the privilege of acquiring a fee simple title to their lands was conferred on the censitaires. Mr. Munro notes the fact, too often disregarded by publicists but well known to those who observe the institutional life of the province of Quebec, that 'comparatively few of them took advantage of this provision,' and that 'to the present day they or their descendants continue to pay their 'rente censitaire' with more or less punctuality. In other words, the seigniorial system cannot be correctly described as 'abolished' so long as a large proportion of the holders of land prefer the status of tenants to that of freeholders.

"While the Canadian student, academic or other, craves and acknowledges a debt of gratitude to those who under foreign auspices devote themselves to the laborious work of discovering and collating the facts of early Canadian history, he may be pardoned for an expression of regret that so little has been hitherto accomplished in the same direction under the auspices of our Canadian universities. The excellent set by Mr. Munro should stimulate some one or more young men of like spirit to devote themselves to the work of research with equal intelligence and persistence, probably he will be inclined to regard this as the least important of the results traceable to the preparation of his admirable treatise."

DIES OF BROKEN HEART.

Wife of Convict Forgives Him on Deathbed.

Paris, March 23.—Mrs. Gally, wife of the defaulting Paris bank clerk, who fled to South America in the yacht Catarina, died last night in a Paris hospital. Mrs. Gally, who was twenty-seven years of age, leaves two children. She was prostrated at the news of her husband's flight, and practically died of a broken heart. The wretched Gally is now a convict in the French penal settlement of Cayenne.

Feeling her end approaching, the dying woman summoned to her bedside her two children, and counselled them to forgive their father, as she forgave him.

DESTROYED IN FIRE.

Mistaken For Children, Fact Causes Excitement.

Paris, March 23.—An amusing scene was witnessed, this afternoon, at a fire in Vincennes.

A factory in the Rue Monereul caught fire, and it was noticed that what appeared to be a large number of children were being thrown out of the windows. The police arrived with fire ladders, and a rumor spread that a large number of children had been burned to death.

It was quickly discovered, however, that the places on fire was a doll factory, and the "children" were merely large dolls. Over 2,000 dolls were destroyed, but no one was hurt.

RABBITS LEARN TO CLIMB.

Wire-Net Fence Likely to Prove Useless.

Melbourne, March 23.—A new characteristic of the rabbit is showing the Australian farmer. A land owner at Albany announces that he has actually seen rabbits climbing over "rabbit-proof" wire-net fencing. The animals were making their escape from ground inclosed by heavy rains and according to the witness' story, they scaled the wire on the posts, and so easily surmounted the inclosure.

Thousands of acres of wire-net fencing may prove useless if rabbits have learned to climb.

Seventy-Seven Years As Teacher.

London, March 23.—By the death of William Fletcher North, at Seasham, Lincolnshire, has lost its oldest Sunday-school teacher. Mr. North, who was ninety-two, was born, lived and died on the same farm. He became a Sunday-school teacher at fifteen, and a local preacher at eighteen.

A POLITICAL TRIBULATION.

That Came to An Old Type Stump Speaker.

Saturday Night.

Politicians all recall with very kindly feelings the late J. G. Jardine, who was for several years Canadian commissioner to South Africa, and who died from the effects of the climate a year or so ago. Mr. Jardine was a stump speaker of the old-fashioned type, with a voice more mellow and thunderous even than that of Hon. William Paterson. In 1896 Mr. Jardine was engaged by the liberal candidate in a New Ontario constituency to address a series of meetings throughout his riding.

"At the first meeting," said Mr. Jardine, "up pops a little fellow and asks me how I have the face to ask for votes for a human cannibal."

"I asked indignantly what he meant by such a vile aspersion on an honorable gentleman. The little fellow laughed and declared that my candidate had knocked down a man in a bar-room row and had chewed his ear. I tried evasion, but they laughed at me. At every meeting during the campaign somebody would spring the same question, and I simply had to try and deceive the audience, though it didn't do much good."

"After the votes were counted it was found that the candidate had been defeated, and he wouldn't even pay my expenses."

"Thus I had not only all the humiliation of having practiced deception to secure the election of a condemned cannibal, but I didn't even get paid for it."

The total weight of British coinage in circulation averages about 4,500 tons.
