HAS INVALID WIFE

A DISTRESSING FEATURE ABOUT JOHN F. DUNCAN.

The Bank Manager Sent to Penitentiary—Sickness in His Home Led Him to Forgery to Get More Money.

A distressing feature in the downfall of John F. Duncan, formerly manager of the Bank of Commerce, at Aspy, who is serving four years in the penitentiary for forgery, theft and fraud, is that he has an invalid wife.

Counsel for Duncan made an earnest plea for leniency before Judge Chisholm, of Berlin, who tried the case, stating that the crime was committed under extenuating circumstances, pointing out that through having an invalid wife, Duncan had been unable to meet expenses, notwithstanding he was earning $100 a month, at the time of his downfall. He had been in the employ of the bank since he was fourteen years old, and had earned his promotion through satisfactory service.

General Manager Laird, of the Bank of Commerce in a letter to the prisoner's counsel, referred to the previous good character of Duncan while in the bank's service.

Duncan voluntarily returned to the bank $3,000 which he had taken.

In passing sentence, the judge said that it was true that he was great pressure on account of illness of Duncan's wife. It was favorable to him, he had returned $3,000, yet there was $10,000 necessary to cover up defalcations. There had been a betrayal of trust, which betrayals are becoming common, and it was regrettable that he should be made an object lesson for others. The court observed that probably he didn't realize what sentence could be imposed upon him, but he could give him twenty-eight years, having been guilty of three charges, but he would not give him such a severe sentence.

Taken To The Pen. William Betts and William Houser, found guilty at Berlin, Ont., on a charge of assault and causing bodily harm to John Oraskie, now deceased, have arrived at the penitentiary. Betts will serve three years and Houser, two and a half years.

Invested With Habit. Of the Religious Hospitalers of St. Joseph.

On Tuesday, at the Church of St. Joseph, Hotel Dieu, of this city, took place the imposing ceremony of investiture with the habit of the Religious Hospitalers of St. Joseph, Miss McGowan, of Fort Covington, N.Y., being the recipient. She wore for the occasion a bride's gown, with long veil and carried a white taper, lighted and ornamented with flowers. His Grace Archbishop Gauthier presided at the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Fathers Hanley, Murphy, McGowan, Macdonald, Cullane, Keane and Carey. His grace, vested in robes of office, with crozier and mitre, proceeded to the cloister grating, accompanied by his assistants, and interrogated the novice as to her design. She having answered in a clear intelligible voice that she desired to receive the habit of the order and spend her life in the service of suffering humanity, his grace then blessed the habit, veil, and crown which she was to wear. After receiving the habit from the distinguished prelate she withdrew to rest for a few moments, and then came back to receive the veil, and crown in the sombre dress of the religious. The altar and archbishop's throne were tastefully decorated with natural flowers, papers and many colored lights. The music and singing was appropriate and sweetly rendered by the nuns' choir. Rev. Father McGowan is a brother of the novice.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer shows the society to be in a flourishing condition.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. William Cockburn; first vice-president, Mrs. John Nicolle; second vice-president, Mrs. Robert Meek; secretary, Mrs. R. J. McClelland (re-elected); treasurer, Mrs. C. DeCarret.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring president, Mrs. J. G. Elliott, and retiring treasurer, Mrs. Robert Meek, both of whom made appropriate replies.

A Dance Last Night. The Whig hall was, last night, the scene of a pretty dance under the auspices of St. Luke's Club. There were about seventy-five couples on the floor, dancing to the excellent music provided by McAuley and Salisbury's orchestra. Miss Florence Brown, of Chicago, in whose honor the dance was given, proved a general favorite with all present. The refreshments, in charge of William Harris, were delicious.

Peterboro and Lindsay have been given the go-by by the Midland Baseball League, which is now being held at Oshawa and the principal business that was transacted was the freeing out of the Peterboro and Lindsay clubs. The Western Canada Lacrosse Association, at its twelfth annual meeting at Winnipeg, came out strongly for amateurism, and the following resolution was carried unanimously: "Resolved, that the Western Canada Lacrosse Association place itself on record as endorsing legitimate amateur sport and the movement to organize a Manitoba Athletic Union to control athletics in the west, in affiliation with the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union."

He at once covered James Johnston's deposit, of $25, and arrangements are now being made for a match any time on or before April 15th.

In the Cobalt trip Brooks had five matches with ringers in the north and settled a cold $1,000. He remarked that he would like to wrestle the heavy champion of Queen's tournament for a "blooming silver cup," but he would almost prefer getting a few dollars.

The Kingston wrestler is not very keen in following his trade as cheesemaker this season, but in this respect he has not made up his mind.

CITY IS SACRIFICED

FOR THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.

Letter Getting Power For Its Cars Too Cheap—More Street Lights Could Be Put Up If Company Paid Enough.

"If the street railway company paid what it should pay for the power it gets from the city light and power plant, the people could have more street lighting," said an up-town resident to-day. "I understand that Mr. Campbell, the city's electrical expert, stated at a recent meeting of aldermen that if everything was charged up in comparing the rate for power as it is done with the street lighting, the railway company would be required to pay $600 a year more than it does now. Why is it that the street car company get electric power at a cheaper rate than the city itself, which owns the plant?"

"Ald. Nible is right when he says that the citizens are not getting street lighting as cheap as they should get it, but it is not a very important reason why they are not getting cheap street lighting is because the street cars are getting power at below cost. In other words, the citizens are sacrificed for the benefit of the street railway company, of which Ald. Nible is one of the largest shareholders. I would suggest that Ald. Nible direct the attention of the light and power committee to this matter and, in his capacity as a civic representative, ask the city to pay more than it does now. I am afraid to see that Ald. Gaskin is protesting against the street cars using the bulk of the city's power at the plant at such a low price. He is a member of the light committee and should ask for a consideration of this matter."

The $900 mentioned above would give the city ten more street lights, which the street railway company, which Ald. Nible said he would be satisfied with if given without further appropriation.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

Notes About Harbor Doings—Welland Canal Opening.

The schooner Clifton will sail clear for Oswego on Saturday, for coal, for Kingston.

The schooner Acacia will clear for Charlotte, just as soon as the ice is broken around Nine Mile Point. The vessel had been loaded all winter with feldspar.

Toronto News: Where is the wrecked barge, Rebolet? That is the question that has baffled the crew of one of the tug boats which has been searching vainly to locate the places where the vessel sank. The tug has been employed on this task since last Saturday, but up to the present the search has been fruitless.

The harbor resembles a large millpond this morning. There was not a ripple on the water and though a little ice is still floating about it, the horizon is further off at this season of the year than at any other, and many tales are told of vessels of all descriptions, steering clear of objects that were really the object of its distance up to three miles away.

The Welland canal will be opened on April 15th, and it is expected that the M. T. company's fleet will leave on their first trip up the lakes on the 13th. Mariners are not necessarily superstitious crowd, but no vessel ever makes her initial trip on Friday. In this respect they all agree and it is said that to launch or christen a vessel on Friday, is a sure sign of impending disaster.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

To Be Conducted By the McMaster Band.

Representatives from the different churches met in Cooke's Sunday school room and formed themselves into a choir to assist in the special union evangelistic services which will begin on Wednesday, 10th inst.

The case of Richard G. Armstrong, the city pastor's evangelical alliance to conduct a two weeks' campaign in the city, beginning in Cooke's church next Wednesday.

A choir of one hundred voices is wanted to support the singing, which is such an important factor in revival services. A hearty invitation is extended to all the members of the church choir, young people's societies and church congregations to meet to-night in Cooke's vestry at eight o'clock to practise over the pieces, used by the band in their services.

David H. Williamson, soloist and City Pastor, of the McMaster Evangelistic Band, while in his teens, began singing as a tenor in the choir of St. Gies' Presbyterian church, Toronto. From there he went to Jarvis Street Baptist church choir, where he had the privilege of being under Dr. A. S. Vogt, now conductor of the world-famous Mendelssohn choir.

From Jarvis street church Mr. Williamson went to Bloor Street Baptist, and became senior soloist and received instruction under H. M. Fletcher, senior conductor of the Toronto choral union, and the Schubert choir. In March, 1903, he accepted the position of leader of the quartette choir in Walmer Road Baptist church, and left there in May, 1904, to fill the position of conductor of the music in the McMaster Evangelistic Band then on its first tour.

THE POLICE COURT

CARTER FINED FOR BREACH OF BY-LAW

Strange Work For a Twelve-Year-Old Lad—Another Case Adjudged.

At the police court, this morning, a resident was charged with a breach of the by-law, that of carting garbage through the city in uncovered barrels. Snodgrass was the complainant. While standing near the corner of Brock and Wellington streets last Saturday afternoon, with Constable Bateson, he had noticed a rig with two barrels in it. One of the lids was broken. A twelve-year-old lad was driving the wagon, and the lad told witness that he was working for a certain man. The rig had stopped in front of Livingston's store, when the witness made his inspection.

The accused said that the barrel was filled with dry garbage. He did not think that he was guilty of a breach of the by-law. The lad who was driving the rig was twelve years of age, and had been adopted by witness' mother. The boy came from Boston, his parents being dead.

City Solicitor Melnyk, who appeared for the prosecution, said that it was rather a strange work for a lad of twelve to be doing.

The magistrate said it was no work for a lad, and asked whether or not the boy was attending school. The defendant said that the boy would attend school after the holidays.

City Solicitor Melnyk argued that the accused had not taken the necessary precaution in his work.

The magistrate said that the owner of the rig would have to be responsible for the boy's action. The necessary precaution should be taken. He imposed a fine of $2 and costs. His worship remarked that it was a shame that a boy of such tender years should be engaged in such work.

The case of Richard G. Armstrong, charged with a breach of the by-law in having erected a house on the street line, was further enlarged for a week.

EASTERTIDE SONG.

"Au Revoir"—Words and Music By Mrs. Browett.

Flowers sweet and blossoms bright: What said we when he bid us part? To sleep through winter's stormy night: Au Revoir—Au Revoir.

Swallows swift, and robins gay: What said we as ye flew away? What said we on that drear, bleak day: Au Revoir—Au Revoir.

Bills unbound resume their trills, And sing quartets among the hills, The o'ercomes rise in liquid swells, Au Revoir—Au Revoir.

The birds are back! the flowers are here! O heart of mine, there's naught to fear, We say adieu to our treasures dear: Au Revoir—Au Revoir.

Joyous, joyous Easter-tide! Symbols abound on every side, Death ours and us shall not divide. (The but) Au Revoir—Au Revoir.

Power divine! we prostrate fall, At His feet who conquered a' all; Obedient list such service call: 'Till He Come! 'Till He Come!

NAMES WORTH MILLIONS.

Trade Marks Which Have Become Invaluable.

All cameras are not "Kodaks." All piano-players are not "Pianos." All ready-to-finish clothes are not "Semi-ready."

These three well-known trade mark names have taken a permanent place in the English language, though they did not exist fifteen years ago. They have been made to mean so much that the public applies the name generally to anything that resembles them.

By enthusiastic and intelligent promotion, the owners of a trade mark such as "Semi-ready" have succeeded in revolutionizing an industry, and have incidentally created an asset valued in the millions. As a great American millionaire observed, "I had rather own a well-known trade mark than a million-dollar plant."
