Judge's Charge.

New York, April 11.—After deliberating for more than eighteen hours, without being able to reach an agreement, the Thuw jury reported before Justice Fitzgerald, at 11 a.m., to-day, and asked permission to examine many of the exhibits introduced during the trial and also asked to have read to them the testimony of several of the eye-witnesses to the tragesly. Among time exhibits called for were the letters which Harry Thaw wrote to Attorney. It is also says that produced drunkenness is seen in those localities than where licenses are in yogue. He also says curtailing what was intended to be a curtail to common the flowers the Doutney, his mothers that the hall was crowded as on fine high the house of Commons, yesterday, the house of Commons, yesterday, the house of Commons of th

The judge also informed the jury that an illusion, unless the illusion, if true, might result in the injury of the state of Maine legislature, to relate man suffering it, could not be accepted as an excuse. Altogether, the charge, while it consisted principally of a complete explanation of the law, was considered by those who have followed the trial, adverse to the defendations which the attorneys for the Thaw was very much depressed judge's words and could not suphis feelings. He left the cour room dejected and with apparently little hope left of an acquittal.
