HOLDING OUT

The Jury Locked Up For A Second Night.

RUMORS FLYING

ABOUT CONDITIONS IN THE JURY ROOM.

Judge Fitzgerald Went Home to Bed Shortly Before Midnight and the Jurors Were Locked Up—They Have Spent Many Hours in Discussion.

New York, April 12.—At 11:30 o'clock, last night, the jury in whose hands rests the fate of Harry K. Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, was ordered locked up in the jury room for a second night, and Justice Fitzgerald went home to bed.

He had then been deliberating on a verdict for more than thirty hours, and spread through the criminal courts a much longer period than has been necessary in most of the other famous criminal trials of recent years.

As the hours flew by without any sign from the jury all sorts of rumors spread through the criminal courts building about conditions in the jury room. Upon one point they all agreed, that a bitter fight was on between the jurymen over Thaw's guilt, and that the outcome would be largely dependent upon the endurance of the contending factions.

The rumor most generally heard and most commonly credited, whether it has any foundation or not, was that either one or two jurors were holding out against a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree or guilty of manslaughter.

No Decision Yet.

New York, April 12.—Justice Fitzgerald reached the court house, at 10:31 a.m. It was persistently reported, this morning that the Thaw jury is divided nine to three. Some said that the nine were for conviction of manslaughter and three for acquittal, while others declare that three were for conviction and the nine for acquittal, because of insanity. One thing is certain, the jury is struggling hard to reach a verdict. The appearance of the jurymen this morning, indicated that they had been through a long and a bitter fight, the strain of which was telling upon them. It is said that the states attorneys have practically given up hope of securing a verdict on the first degree, but that Jerome expects the jury to deliver some sort of punishment to the prisoner if only to subject his exaggerated ego.

Calls Speech Cheap Poetry.

London, April 12.—Commentary on the Thaw trial at New York, the Evening Standard ridicules the oratory of Messrs. Delmas and Jerome as being "Happodocic, says it considers Mr. Delmas to be the worst danager in this respect, and adds it "seconded as if a minor poet had been let loose upon the court."

The paper inquires if it is impossible that a jury of practical experienced men could be influenced by such empty rhetoric, and says:

"Oratory of such a kind is inconceivable in an English court. It would disgust the judge and jury alike, and provoke a hissing remonstrance even from the prisoner at the bar."

Still Out.

New York, April 12.—Justice Fitzgerald decided to go out for luncheon and ordered the jury to be put under lock and key for the day.

Harry Thaw, this morning, through his attorneys, gave out a statement in which he said: "I wish some jury would take it upon themselves to try every one else, except a person who carries a concealed weapon more than I do. I consulted an ex-chief of police, a man respected in this community, and he advised me that my duty was to protect myself."

The Ex-Provost's Lapse.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 12.—After sixty-one years of total abstinence, Sir Robert Cranson, ex-Provost of Edinburgh, and one of the most distinguished guests at the Carnegie dedication, dropped off the water wagon last evening, when, in a glass of claret, he drank to the health of his fellow Scot, Andrew Carnegie.

Lady Cranson chided her husband about being a teetotal inebriate after he had drained the glass.

DIKE WOMEN'S CHAMPION.

Bill For Office-holding and Voting Rights.

London, April 12.—Sir Charles Dike, advanced radical, has introduced in the House of Commons his woman's enfranchisement bill, which was read for the first time without any discussion. The bills introduced in the British parliament by Sir Charles Dike are similar to the bill which he introduced last year and which was rejected by a majority of 199.

It provides for enfranchising every registered man and woman of full age and that nobody shall be disqualified by sex or marriage from being elected to either house, or to local bodies, or from exercising any public functions whatever.

They returned from their honeymoon trip a few days ago. Yesterday Mrs. Givens learned that her husband was married and wife No. 1, and an infant child called Woodstock. She at once swore out a warrant for Givens' arrest, but Givens had decamped, and so far the police have no trace of him. Givens had lived in St. Thomas for years of age.

And is Succeeded By Sir Eldon Gorst.

In making the announcement the foreign secretary eulogized Lord Cromer's services, and said his policy would be continued. Sir Eldon Gorst, agent and consul-general, has been appointed on the advice of Lord Cromer. He had twenty years' experience in Egypt.

LIVELY TIME

Remarkable Scene in The House.

FOWLER FRANTIC

G. EULAS FOSTER GREW VERY PASSIONATE

And Made Use of Language of An Abusive Type—Said the Minister of Justice Shook His Clevered Fist—He Was, Indeed, Justified.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Ottawa, April 12.—There was a remarkable scene in the House of Commons yesterday. George W. Fowler, who was taking part in the debate upon the insurance commission, declared that his associates had purchased their lands from the C. P. R. in the open market, and on the same terms as anyone else, and was proceeding to argue that they had some right to do so as anybody else when Mr. Martin of Montreal, made some remark which was inaudible in the galleries. This provoked Mr. Fowler's anger, who shouted that the hon. gentleman's remark was scandalous and untrue.

Immediately there was an uproar. Cries of "order" came from the liberal benches to which Mr. Fowler retreated, but that he did not care.

Mr. Aylesworth rose to a point of order that the expression "scandalous and untrue" was unparliamentary and should be withdrawn.

Mr. Fowler refused. Mr. Bennett shouted: "You can't put in the gag today," and Mr. Foster yelled, "I am not under a royal commission now."

Mr. Martin explained, in French, that he had objected to men taking the trust funds of a corporation like the Foresters for private speculation.

Mr. Fowler, working himself into a passion, asserted that the insinuation was false so far as he was concerned. He challenged Mr. Martin to prove it.

Mr. Foster moved that the first words of Mr. Martin be "taken down," and then storm burst in. "The jury, cried of "Take it back," "Coward," "Bully," and so on were flung across the floor, and Mr. Foster said that Mr. Martin's words were "a scandalous, lying assertion," and Mr. Aylesworth rose to a point of order, shouting in a voice vibrant with passion: "See the conspirator! There stands the conspirator!"

Mr. Aylesworth, who also was worked up into an overpowering passion, demanded that the expression "scandalous, lying assertion" be withdrawn.

Mr. Henderson asked if it were parliamentary for the minister of justice to shake his clenched fist at the house.

Deputy Speaker Macell, tried to stem the storm, but in vain, and finally left the chair.

The debate proceeded on quieter lines.

RAT-HUNTING AT QUEBEC.

Flooded Cellars Drive the Rodents Out of Sewer.

Quebec, April 10.—An unusual scene of excitement was witnessed in Lower Town this afternoon, being to wit, high easterly wind, that the first of the last three days the water rose to an abnormal height in the River St. Lawrence, and especially opposite the city, because the ice at Cap Rouge could not allow the water to pass up the river.

The result was that the water flowed over the wharves and made Dalhousie street a regular lake, flooded all the cellars of Lower Town and caused the water rats to swarm pell mell through the streets, chased by hundreds of men and boys, who went wild in their endeavor to kill them.

The flood caused a great inconvenience to passengers crossing to Lewis Island from Quebec on the ferry boat, who were unable to reach them without the aid of boats, and being subject to a charge of twenty-five cents. Merchants in Lower Town in anticipation of tomorrow's high tide removing their goods from the ground floor to a more secure place of storage.

Windsor, Ont., April 12.—An unique gathering was held here last night, at the residence of W. C. The ages of the brothers range from eighty to sixty-five, an average of seventy-five each. Mr. Donaldson, of this city, being the "baby," fifty-five years of age.

DISGRACE TO MINISTRY.

Young Clergyman Deposed By the Bishop.

New York, April 12.—Rev. W. Howard Mears, curate of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, arrested by the police at a house in the Tenderloin district, on March 24th last, where he had gone in company with a negro woman, was deposed from the ministry, yesterday, by Bishop Coadjutor Greer, following a report by a committee of enquiry appointed to investigate the conduct of the preacher on the occasion in question. The committee reported that the curate violated his sixth ordination vow, which required that a clergyman, "as far as in him lies, shall make himself a wholesome example and pattern to the flock of Christ."

Rev. Mr. Mears asserted that he was not actuated by any wrong motive in visiting the house in the "Tenderloin," and that his presence there was with a view of making sociological investigations, but he accepted the committee's findings, declaring in writing his withdrawal from the ministry, and forwarded his resignation to Bishop Coadjutor Greer, who then deposed him. The magistrate before whom Mears was arraigned, after his arrest, accepted his explanation of his presence in the "Tenderloin" and discharged him.

BADLY CRUSHED

And is Likely to Lose His Life.

London, Ont., April 12.—James Palmer, West London, seventy-four years old, was probably fatally injured at the McCormick works while engaged in putting some boxes in the landing near the elevator. Palmer got in the shaft, not noticing the elevator was descending until it was too late to escape. He was frightfully crushed.

Arthur Autertrack had a close call from being fatally injured at D. S. Ferris's works, at noon. Autertrack was working on the fourth story, and, thinking the elevator was down, started to put his head out into the shaft when the elevator struck him, inflicting a cut about eight inches long, requiring many stitches.

An Old Story.

Ottawa, April 12.—In the senate Sir Mackenzie Bowell read a cable from Great Britain stating an agreement had been reached between the United States, Great Britain and Canada whereby Canada agrees to give up deep sea sealing rights for a monetary consideration.

Hon. Mr. Scott said this was an old story which appeared from time to time. So far as the Canadian government knew nothing had been done toward breaking up the agreement made two or three years ago, as to the seal fisheries. The matter had not been discussed informally, but no formal proposals had been made.

Repairs To Steamers.

Detroit, Mich., April 12.—The Canadian steamers Neepawa and Strathcona have been docked at the Ecorse yard for repairs. Examination shows that much work is needed on the Neepawa. About twenty-five plates must be removed from the boat and the bottom, the injuries covering both portions of the boat. She will be in the dock some time. The job on the Strathcona is much smaller, but as she was docked late yesterday, the extent of work was not definitely determined.

Teacher Commits Suicide.

Chicago, April 12.—Principal James H. Brayton, of the Raymond public school, committed suicide, yesterday, by shooting. Ill-health is believed to have been the cause. Mr. Brayton, who was sixty-one years of age, was born at Lyons, N.Y., and studied at Cornell University. He had been connected with the Chicago schools for thirty years. He was prominent socially and in Masonic circles, and was a member of the jury which convicted the Haymarket anarchists in 1887.

Cattle Dying In Cuba.

Havana, April 12.—The rural guards report the death of hundreds of cattle throughout the island as a result of the continued drought. Cuba has not had a good rain since the October cyclone, and the crops are suffering greatly from lack of water.
