

York Ginger Ale

is made of ideally pure York Springs Water and sugar, with pure vegetable aromatics and Jamaica ginger-root. There is hardly another drink so allaying of thirst; and it is a mild and healthful stimulant.

The quality of the ginger and aromatics used accounts for the spicy pungency, the fragrant aroma, and the delicious flavor of York Ginger Ale. The purity of all the ingredients accounts for the good this beverage does people with weak stomachs.

But all ginger ale doesn't owe its flavor to ginger root. Too much of it gets pungency from cayenne pepper (capsicum).

Too much of it has the harsh, corrosiveness of vitriol, instead of the healthful acidity of lemons.

Some ginger ale is sickly-sweet with saccharine. The use of saccharine is prohibited in those countries where pure-food laws are enforced. Pure sugar, of the best quality, sweetens York Ginger Ale.

You run risks when you drink cayenne-peppered ginger ale—and the more of it you drink, the dryer your throat gets. It burns, not refreshes.

You run risks when you drink ginger ale dosed with glucose or sugar-substitutes,—upsets your digestion, affects your kidneys.

But you run no risk when you drink this pure, honest, wholesome York Ginger Ale, though you pay about the same for it as for spurious ginger ale. Look at the label so you can be sure you get the purest, most aromatic, most refreshing ginger ale made. It is safe to drink, inexpensive to buy, sure to satisfy, when it is labelled Treatment Accorded To A Girl Terrorist.

SERIOUS CHARGES

SHOT FRENCHMAN IN MISTAKE FOR RUSSIAN.

Sympathy of People Goes to Young Girl Sentenced to Four Years' Imprisonment—Life Ruined by Revolutionary Literature and Desire to Right Wrongs of Country.

Mlle. TATIANA LEONTIEFF, Geneva, April 19.—Much sympathy is felt here for the Russian girl terrorist, Tatiana Leontieff, daughter of a Russian councillor of state, who is charged with murdering M. Muller, a well-to-do Parisian, at the Jungfrau hotel, Interlaken, on September 1st last, and who, after a sensational trial here, was condemned to four years' imprisonment, twenty years' expulsion from Switzerland and a fine of $160.

The girl shot M. Muller, whom she mistook for M. Donovno, the Russian minister of the interior, while he was sitting at a table, and when she was arrested she exclaimed: "This man has been condemned to death by a decree of the Russian revolutionary committee."

At the opening of the last day of her trial Mlle. Leontieff created a sensation by declaring that she had been brutally treated in prison by the examining magistrate, M. Lausener, and it was on this point that the interest in the day's proceedings was centered.

The excitement in court was intense when the girl, calmly and dispassionately, and without the least trace of fear, cross-examined the magistrate and his gendarmes, and forced them to admit that she had been subjected to most violent treatment.

The gendarmes tried to hold back the truth. All they would say in the examination in chief was that when the girl was photographed they were ordered by M. Lausener to hold her hands.

Then the girl put a few pointed questions to them, and the gendarmes revealed all the circumstances. They admitted that M. Lausener, in a fit of temper, laid hold of her, but whether by the throat or the arms they were not certain, and that her clothing was torn off.

The next witness was Lausener himself. He displayed considerable nervousness, which was in striking contrast to the wonderful composure of the accused woman. He first denied using violence toward the girl, and asserted that he had only been brusque.

"Why did you not mention this incident in the dossier?" asked the president of the court.

Lausener was so confused by this question that he could give no reply.

"Did I not spit in your face?" demanded the girl.

"Certainly not," replied Lausener.

The girl drew herself up in the dock, and in tones of the utmost contempt exclaimed: "I do not wish to repeat the operation, you coward."

The president hastily interposed with the remark, "I consider the act was done."

This pronouncement was received with loud applause, which was renewed when the judge added that he would send a report of the magistrate's conduct to a disciplinary committee of the highest court.

The magistrate retired from the witness-box disgraced, and his place was taken by Capt. Frutiger, the governor of the prison at Thonon, who said that Lausener committed further acts of revenge by ordering the girl to be deprived of water and also books, including the Bible.

The calmness, intelligence and self-sacrifice displayed by Mlle. Leontieff during the trial increased the sympathy which had been felt for the misguided young woman, whose head has been turned by revolutionary ideas, and it is generally believed that, as a result of the day's proceedings, the sentence on her will be very light.

Two of the most pathetic figures in court were the girl's parents, who sobbed pitifully during the proceedings.

"I cannot turn and look at them," the girl said, "or I shall break down myself."

After the lawyers had spoken in her behalf Mlle. Leontieff pleaded eloquently for the cause of the Russian people. "She is a tall, slender girl, and her left pillar of her

THE CHURCH NEWS.

Notes From the Many Denominations.

Rev. T. G. McKee, Sunderland, has accepted an invitation to become pastor of Perth Avenue Methodist church, Toronto.

The United Presbyterians of Galt, Ont., have joined the Canada Presbyterian church.

Rev. Dr. James B. Thomas, rector of St. John's church, Stamford, Conn., is the choice of the vestry of St. Andrew's church in Rochester, as successor to Rev. Dr. A. S. Craspey.

The Presbyterian congregation of Warsaw and Dunbar have extended a call to the Rev. P. W. Currie, Port Colborne, to accept the pastorate of these churches.

Forty new churches are needed in outlying districts of London, but there is no money with which to build them.

Suffering Babies.

Mothers can find sure relief for their suffering little ones in Baby's Own Tablets. These tablets are a gentle laxative that do not gripe the little one, and cure all the minor ills of babies and young children. They are pleasant to take, prompt in their action, and unlike "soothing" stuffs, they never do harm, and the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that they contain no drugs harmful to the baby, or when the dreaded teething time comes. Mrs. Joseph Mercier, Pleasantville, Que., says: "My baby was a great sufferer from constipation, but thanks to Baby's Own Tablets the trouble has disappeared."

The tablets are sold by all druggists or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Monkeys As Laborers.

The imitative faculty of the monkey is astonishing. Stories are told of them which seem to indicate that only want of numbers prevents their becoming supreme in the labor markets of the world.

It is recorded that a young monkey, the property of a British sailor, learned to turn the capstan and furl the sails of a vessel like a veteran tar, and that a female chimpanzee performed the functions of a house servant in a family at Loango, making beds, sweeping the house, assisting in the kitchen, and so on.

Chinese monkeys, it is said, sometimes assist in tea-packing. They have been used successfully in gold washing, and even as laborers in railroad construction.

In Siam, it is asserted, apes are employed as cashiers, and have proved experts in the detection of counterfeit money.

A Mark Twain Story.

Mark Twain once received a letter from his brother, who complained that he was afflicted with a boil and the jumping toothache at the same time, and inquired, if he had heard of a worse combination.

"No," wrote the sympathetic "Mark," "and I can imagine only one that might be worse—that would be to have inflammatory rheumatism, and St. Vitus' dance at the same time!"

Malta-Vita

"The Perfect Food"
A perfect breakfast is impossible without it and it's just as good three times a day. It gives you real nourishment and renewed vitality. For Malta-Vita is rich in nutrition—every nutritive element of the best white wheat and finest barley malt extract. The malt extract, mixed with the flaked wheat, converts the starch of the wheat into maltose, or malt sugar, makes it easy for even the weakest stomach to digest and adds a pleasing taste which cannot be found in grain foods sweetened with sugar, glucose or syrups. Try Malta-Vita with cream or fruit. All grocers, now 10c.

Ancient Auction Custom. London, April 29.—An ancient custom in connection with the letting of a piece of land at Bourne, Lincoln, known as the "White Bread Meadow," was observed yesterday. The land is let by auction, and at each bid a boy is started to run to a certain public house, and the land is let to the person whose bid has not been challenged when the last boy returns.
