

Mops

A LARGE VARIETY TO SELECT FROM

Prices 10c., 15c., 15c. and up.

Corbett's Hardware.

"Royal Crown" Witch-Hazel Toilet Soap

It cleanses the skin by dissolving the greasy matter, and carrying off all excesses of the skin.

Ask your druggist for "Royal Crown" Witch-Hazel Toilet Soap.

Warrick Bros.

191 PRINCESS ST.

GRAND UNION HOTEL

Opposite Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY.

Coal Coal

Just received, fresh from the mines, good, Hard Coal.

Stove and Chestnut

Write, please or send your order to the office, foot of Wellington St., and it will be filled promptly.

S. ANGLIN & CO.

Cor. Bay and Wellington.

Real Estate Headquarters.

If you want to buy or sell City Property, go to a man who makes a specialty of same.

GEO. CLIFF,

95 Clarence St., Opposite Post Office Phone 335

COAL

OUR SPECIALTY IN COAL SUPPLYING

It is of course by the ton, but whether you want a ton or a half ton, or a corded, you may be certain that the quantity you desire is here upon order. It may interest you to know, too, that whether you require one, two or twenty tons, we fill all coal orders with the greatest possible accuracy—no item which counts on cold days if the bins chance to be empty.

R. CRAWFORD

Foot of Queen Street, Coal the suits.

Saves A Lot of Bothers

The starch that needs to be cooked, that won't stick, that gives a brilliant gloss with almost no iron effort, isn't that the starch you ought to have them use on your clothes? Buy it by name... your dealer sells it.

Celluloid Starch

The Natural Beauty AM

The only "treatment" a woman needs to make her complexion beautiful—and her hands soft and white—is the daily use of

"Royal Crown" Witch-Hazel Toilet Soap

It cleanses the skin by dissolving the greasy matter, and carrying off all excesses of the skin.

Ask your druggist for "Royal Crown" Witch-Hazel Toilet Soap.

DIAMONDS

We invite the most expert criticism as to our prices and high-grade quality of our Diamonds. We have them at prices ranging from $15 to $200.

You are invited to look at our stock.

Kinnear & d'Estevo,

Diamond Merchants, 100 Princess Street

Royal Insurance Co. OF ENGLAND.

Business in Force $109,000,000 Assets $200,000,000 Profits Paid (1905) $2,326,000

This Strong British Company has paid the sum of profits for the past FORTY years.

SECURELY guaranteed by any LIFE Company in the world.

We invite Your Investigation.

W. J. B. White, Agent, Kingston

A WOMAN'S GRATITUDE.

A Mountain Woman Writes in Praise of Newbro's Herpicide.

"For several years I have been troubled with dandruff, causing me much annoyance, and my hair became very thin. I have used Newbro's Herpicide for a month and the dandruff has entirely disappeared, and my hair is becoming much heavier than formerly. New hair is growing where there was none, and I am very thankful to you for the benefit I have received from Newbro's Herpicide. Very truly yours,

MRS. U. B. FOSTER,

No. 985 Utah Ave., Butte, Mont.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c. and $1. G. W. Mahood, special agent.

Murdered For Sixpence.

Paris, April 30.—A costermonger named Winkels went into a cafe at Central last night and played dice with the landlord for a penny a throw until he won sixpence.

When Winkels asked for payment the landlord told him mockingly to "ball again." The costermonger thereupon drew his knife and stabbed the man to the heart. The murderer fled, and has not been arrested.

Rub Away Pain.

Instead of enduring rheumatism, neuralgia or any other form of pain, rub Smith's White Liniment over the aching spot a few minutes and the pain will be gone. This remedy remedies and removes the cause also.

The best liniment for all injuries for any inflammation or congestion. Large bottles, 25c., at Wade's drug store.

English sedlitz powders in a tin box. Sold at Gibson's Red Cross drug store.

In the reign of Charles I. the death rate in London was seventy a thousand, or more than three times what it is now.

Non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla

If you think you need a tonic, ask your doctor. If you think you need something for your blood, ask your doctor. If you think you would like to try Ayer's non-alcoholic Sarsaparilla, ask your doctor. Consult him often. Keep in close touch with him.

We publish the formulae of all our preparations.

J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

THE WHIG, 47th YEAR.

DAILY BRITISH WHIG, published every day, at 50¢ per year. Single copies at 2¢. A special WEEKLY BRITISH WHIG, 12 issues and over, published in Paris on Monday and Thursday mornings at $1 a year. Attached is one of the best Job Printing offices in Canada; ready, stylish and cheap work; also improved press.

The British Whig Publishing Co., Limited

EDW. J. B. FENNER, Managing Director.

Daily Whig.

HOW THE PEOPLE ARE DOSED.

There was a sad plaint from a contemporary when it learned that the bill for the regulation of patent medicines was not to be passed this year. What is the loss? There is a Pure Food law across the way, and it does not prohibit one from buying an article that is adulterated. The law simply makes a manufacturer label his goods. And the label is the last thing which some men consult. "You may, therefore," says the critic, "buy all the coal tar and dye you like."

The situation has caused the Pennsylvania School Journal to comment upon it, and to say that science has lent itself to the adulteration of food, and has invented cheap substitutes with such skill that "nothing is what it seems to be." Butter comes from the butchers' packing houses, done up in aniline dye. Wheat bread is made of cornmeal, alum and such things. Apple vinegar comes from the harnyard pump, freighted with typhoid fever. Catechu is coal-tar dyes and salicylic acid, pepper is cocainum shells, mustard and clay; jellies and preserves are aniline dyes, and the by-products of vitriol honey never saw the busy bee—the chemist makes it. Red wine is salicylic acid, white wine is sulphuric acid, and, worst of all, whiskey is largely wood alcohol.

"The marvel of it all is that any human life remains," says the School Journal. But despite all the concoctions and deceptions, all the adulterations and frauds, all the arts and devices of the chemist, "the average term of human life is never as great as it is in this day of imitation." Would you believe it?

WORK OF THE SESSION.

The federal parliament was in session for over five months—a long time. That some of it was wasted goes without saying. Goldwin Smith has laid it down as a fact that public bodies are not deliberative in their proceedings, and he must have had the commons on his mind, when he spoke, and especially those members of it who are called the loyal opposition. They do most of the talking for effect. They were always on the alert, generally not so much to defend the public interest, as to twist some passing circumstance into a public scandal. Hence there was a deluge of small talk, to very little purpose.

There was some useful legislation, however, including the revision of the tariff (after a careful study of the question by the finance minister, minister of inland revenue, and minister of customs), the readjustment of the provincial subsidies, equitably, notwithstanding the kick of British Columbia; Consolidation Act, by which it is hoped a great many of the disputes between capital and labour will be amicably settled; the Canned Foods' Inspection Act, which should secure safety to the people who consume canned goods; the Electric Expert Act, and other measures, of less significance.

Through the departure of the premier and two of his ministers to England, there to attend the colonial conference, some legislation was laid over, and the discussion of the insurance report, or rather the act recommended by the commissioners, was deferred until next year. Meanwhile some of the affected members may cool down, or undergo an experience that will be corrective in its quality. The insurance report will stand as a reasonable criticism of things as they were found, despite the abuse of Foster, Fowler & Co.

Parliament will be pleasanter and more attractive when the members engage in the consideration wholly of what is for the public good rather than of what is for the toil or injury of its members. Too much time is now consumed in personalities.

THE REVIVAL IN BUSINESS.

The industries' committee is to be congratulated upon the success of its work, in closing up two of the agreements by which the industries of the city will receive important additions. These will expand in business connections, it is believed, and will bring in their train other enterprises. So that the outlook in a business sense is quite encouraging.

The smelter site has been held a long time by the city, but not in vain. Had it passed into private hands, and been used for other than manufacturing purposes, it would not be available now for the lead smelting which requires the isolation it can here secure. Lead has been found in large quantities in this vicinity, (contrary to the assumption of very knowing persons), and with some railway connections, not expensive or difficult of construction, this industry should be very rapidly developed.

The exemption question is one on which the people are divided. The business that exists upon its merits, that is engaged in producing an article for which there is a demand, does not need exemption to make it go. It is a feature of the times, however, and is advanced in most places as an inducement to men to locate in them for business purposes when as between several sites there is not otherwise very much difference. The exemption of the new industries from taxation is an incident that carries with it some weight now, and it will be generally approved.

Kingston has not grown quickly and has not drawn to it as many people and industries as it should, and the fact has been hard to explain. The revival, however, appears to have set in, and the demand for labour and houses is a sufficient evidence upon this point.

ROOSEVELT'S ORIGINAL IDEA.

The president of the United States, who is essentially independent and sometimes startling in his views, now advocates the payment of such expenses as may be incurred in presidential and congressional elections. He takes the position that no man can undertake a national campaign for the first office in the gift of the people, with his own means, unless a very rich man with a heart for any sacrifice. No man of moderate means, however worthy and distinguished, however fitted for the duties of the hour, could presume to conduct an election whose costliness no one but the party treasurer can know.

In addition to Mr. Roosevelt has been included by the Harriman letter to a friend in which he talked of the large interest he had had in the last presidential campaign and the amount he contributed to the republican funds. It is true that the president has practically told him he lied and challenged him to the proof, but the incident in itself does not dispose of the point at issue.

The proposal of the president is not that all the expenses of the candidate, republican and democratic, be paid, but only those that are legitimate, that under the law as it exists can be reasonably allowed. These are liberal enough, considering the figures that appeared after the last New York state election. The published expenses, however, are not all of them, though they may represent all that the president wants to see covered by a public appropriation. There is no marked expression of approval for the scheme, which may not be an evidence that it is not very much considered.

One thing is certain—that the government of the day and its candidates will receive no quarter from the great corporations. Mr. Roosevelt has waged an uncompromising war upon them and there will be no financial aid from them towards his reelection. Nor does he desire it. He does not seek another term, and may not seek nomination for it under any circumstances. What he does is not for his benefit, but in the interest of honest elections—if they can be had.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The breakwater at King street west is all right for ice shoves and storms, but as a lover's retreat it has lost its attraction.

An English authority declares that no material makes so good a road as the slag from the foundry furnace. A good article, but very scarce.

At the conservative pow-wow in Peterboro which Mr. Bergeson was expected to address, one motto read: "Laurier Has Betrayed Us in England." How? Will some one please explain?

No need of sidewalk sweeping ordinarily in Kingston. The women do the sweeping with their dresses, which is the more remarkable, seeing that ordinarily they oppose dust and dirt.

Ontario is the only province so far where the local government has taken the necessary steps to enforce the Lord's Day Act. In all the other provinces it is without effect, after all the labour and expense which it entails.

One of the big three insurance companies in New York has published its statement of business for 1906. It did less new business, but at half the expense of a similar amount formerly. The exhibit has challenged popular attention.

Toronto now looks to the legislature for such power or legislation as will enable it to regulate the street railway. There is a man in the Queen City, however, whom Mr. Whitney cannot scare, and he happens to be the manager of the street railway.

In Rochester the old asphalt or concrete is removed from the pavements and rolled into the surface of the macadamized streets. It improves the surface of these streets. Will the works' department try tar on the surface of the new macadamized streets here?

Mr. Hanna, at Peterboro, told of the things the government of Mr. Whitney did. He did not talk of the things it promised and did not do. Those old speeches will be turning up by-and-by. Like ghosts, they are already disturbing the ministers.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS

The Necessaries.

Toronto Telegram.—The price of necessities goes up? Not unanimously. Cobalt stocks are over so much cheaper than they were last summer.

Wouldn't Be Enchre.

Hamilton Herald.—W. T. Stead said in a recent speech, "I have seen three kings and two queens." But he failed to say what he held in his own hand.

Getting Their Reward.

Toronto Star.—Country postmasters are to have their pay increased, the government having determined to reward the almost personal interest they take in other people's postcards.

In Real Distress.

Montreal Star.—A New York misa of eighteen has discovered that she can no longer live on an income of $13,500 a year. Even the rich are feeling the dreadful pinch of the cost of living.

Made The Money Fly.

Ottawa Free Press.—When the House of Commons gets to work it works. Last night and this morning over $7,000,000 were voted in two hours, and yet there was no skimping of debate.

Worthy of His Office.

Syracuse Post-Standard.—In view of the fact that most of the clergy are insufficiently paid, Bishop Vinton of Western Massachusetts, has asked his diocesan convention to reduce his salary from $5,000 to $4,000 a year.

A Very Serious Question.

Rochester Post-Express.—A Connecticut minister says a Sunday breakfast given by Nicholas Longworth was as much a violation of the closing laws as the open saloons down town. Can it be that the breakfast food had a stick in it?

A Leather Medal?

Hamilton Spectator.—The Canadian Press Association should give Mr. Cooper some solid recognition of his services in relieving Canadian newspaper publishers of the necessity of sending their product to subscribers in the United States.

Too Much Money.

New York Paper.—John W. Gates has rented apartments in a New York hotel for $16,000 a year. It is understood that he is much annoyed because the price is not $100,000. Mr. Gates does not seem to be bothered with small change.

Military Discourtesy.

Brockville Record.—Possibly the Ontario government was a bit bumptious in the matter, but the Recorder has no hesitation in saying that common courtesy would seem to indicate that the military department should have notified the province of its intention before proceeding to take possession of the land under the B.N.A. act.

We Should Say Not.

Ottawa Journal.—Mr. Stead has informed the secretary of the Canadian Club at Toronto that he cannot find time to address the club as he had originally intended. Some candid friend has probably shown him a handful of clippings from the Toronto Telegram of recent date. With all Mr. Stead's peculiarities he is not altogether a fool.

No Feather Duster Affair.

Waterbury, N.Y. Times.—The investigation of various state departments by Gov. Hughes during the coming summer will be no feather duster affair. It promises to be a real house-cleaning, and some state officials will likely spend their mid-summer vacation at the capital, the while their long closed books are piled open by a conscientious executive or one of his representatives.

TIREDDNESS COMES IN THE SPRING.

What Are You Doing to Overcome It?

The cold of winter exhausts vitality and exposes everyone to disease. Spring is sure to bring tiredness and languor that will not go.

Spring sickness doesn't cure itself—the cause is in the blood, and that cause must be remedied. It is easily done with Ferronone, a marvelous remedy that purifies the blood and expels those humors and poisons that depress and weaken.

Just think of it—Ferronone uplifts the entire nervous system, renews the blood, makes it rich and red-gives the sort of aid that's needed in throwing off weakness and spring languor.

Tens of thousands enjoy the advantages of renewed health through Ferronone— if you'll only use it, you'll surely grow strong too; it's beneficial action is noticed even in a week—you see it goes right to work, removes the cause of the trouble and then quickly makes a cure.

For those who sleep poorly and have nervous apprehensions, Ferronone is a boon; it is a specialist in such cases.

Where there is paleness, poor appetite and languor, Ferronone makes the patient feel like new in a few days.

In tiredness, nerve exhaustion, spring fever and debility, the power of Ferronone is known from coast to coast and universally used with grand results.

Let Ferronone build you up. Let it will do so quickly if you give it the chance. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name Ferronone.

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused It to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 24, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until to-day Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words every where, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice, and there were thousands—received careful study and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-earned knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its originator passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. With womanly assistance, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

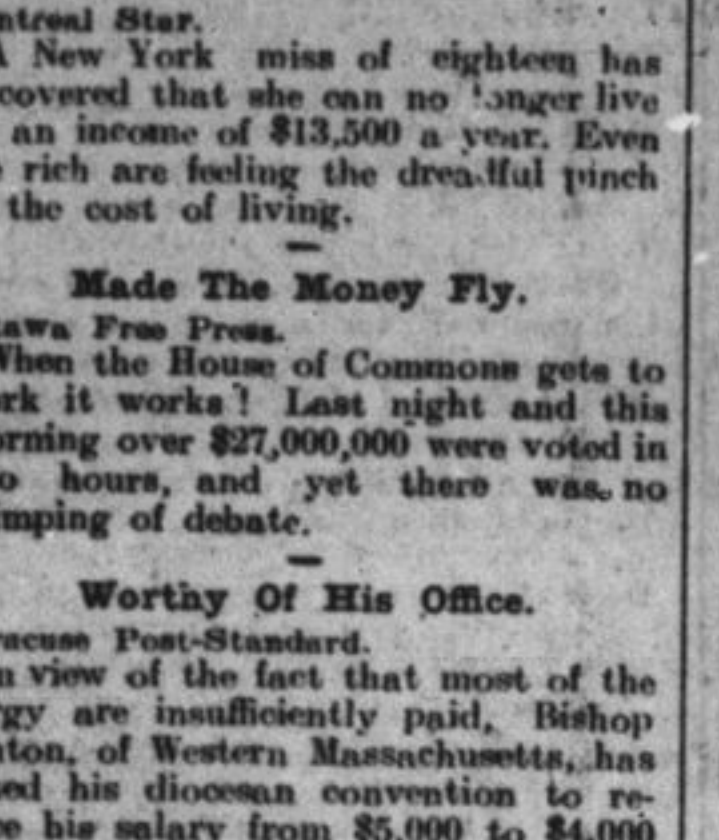

The three sons and the daughter, with

TRY IT

THEN YOU WILL SAY

"SA"

IS SO POPULAR. AN... LEAD PACKETS ONLY

and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old-fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest-fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured, and it became quite popular among them.

All this so far was done freely, without money, and without price as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

LARD Proprietary

Owing to the phenomenal first limited amount per share will be sold will then be material.

The advance will take just as soon as the very limited amount most of which is sold.

I am not urging anyone to buy the stock in Canada and I am anxious, however they want at the first moment to give you not not last must longer.

My following has convinced. Thousands will I have never advised ally advancing in price. My method after plan is listed on the Exchange been a legitimate mar.

That is my record.

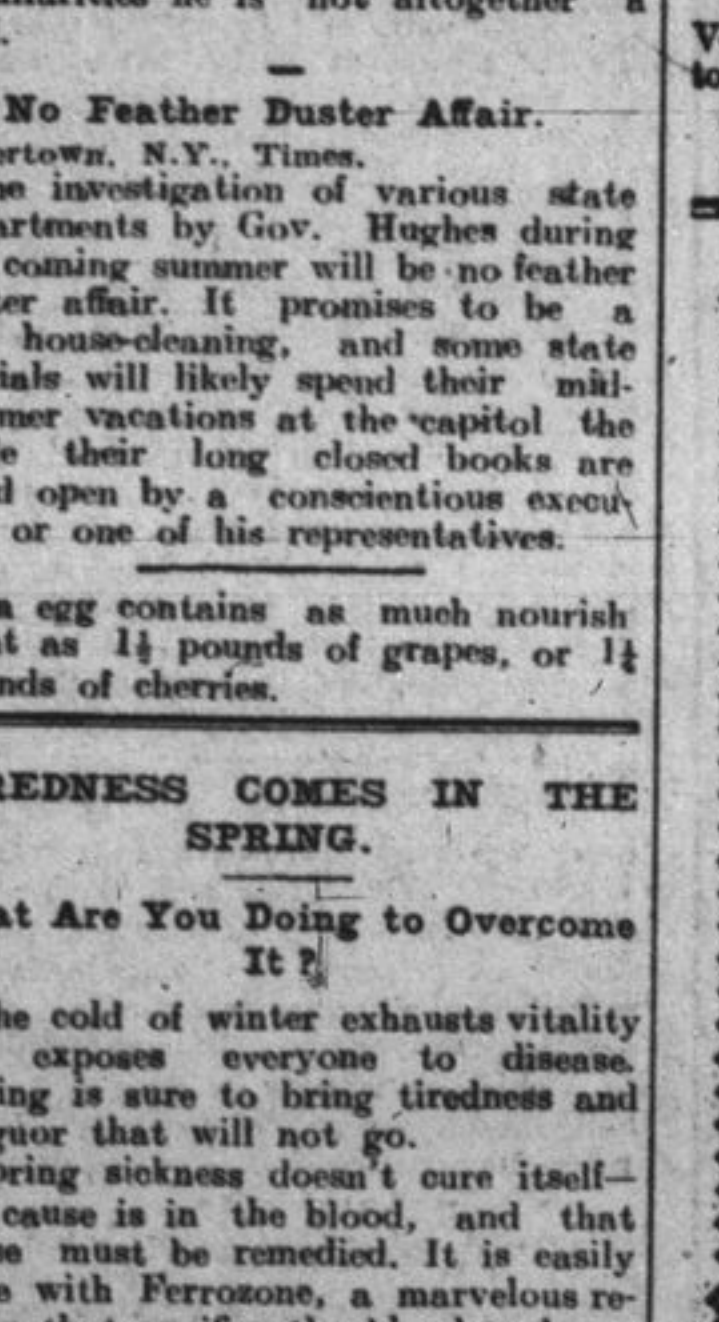

Larder Lake Proprietor placed on the New York Exchange. I predict that very soon a share. I furthermore advise results, and it will be of a share will then surely see $1 some say, but those who the trip to Larder on New York, Boston and several other cities when and my engineers have months past.

The facts about the Larder Company in the Full particulars, however personally, or by mail.

Again I say, I am not is selling itself even far from Canada and the but I am anxious that far the best thing I have price.

41-45 ADELAIDE S TORONTO.

LONG DISTANCE Main 7585 "7586 BRANCH

Rain Coat Weather

The man, who owns one of our useful Raincoats, has no fear as to what the weather may be, for if it rains he is protected. If it shines he has a modishly modeled garment that plays the role of a Swagger Light Weight Overcoat.

Rain or Shine He's Well Attired

Our Raincoats are correctly tailored in the best rain proof Fabrics, plain or fancy, snug fitting collars and perfect fitting shoulders.

Raincoats, $10, $12.50, $15 and $18

See Our Semi-Ready Special $15 Raincoat

The H. D. Bibby Co.

TRY IT THEN YOU WILL SAY "SA"

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused It to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 24, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until to-day Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words every where, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice, and there were thousands—received careful study and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-earned knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its originator passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. With womanly assistance, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

The three sons and the daughter, with

Rain Coat Weather

The man, who owns one of our useful Raincoats, has no fear as to what the weather may be, for if it rains he is protected. If it shines he has a modishly modeled garment that plays the role of a Swagger Light Weight Overcoat.

Rain or Shine He's Well Attired

Our Raincoats are correctly tailored in the best rain proof Fabrics, plain or fancy, snug fitting collars and perfect fitting shoulders.

Raincoats, $10, $12.50, $15 and $18

See Our Semi-Ready Special $15 Raincoat

The H. D. Bibby Co.

TRY IT THEN YOU WILL SAY "SA"

LARD Proprietary

Owing to the phenomenal first limited amount per share will be sold will then be material.

The advance will take just as soon as the very limited amount most of which is sold.

I am not urging anyone to buy the stock in Canada and I am anxious, however they want at the first moment to give you not not last must longer.

My following has convinced. Thousands will I have never advised ally advancing in price. My method after plan is listed on the Exchange been a legitimate mar.

That is my record.

Larder Lake Proprietor placed on the New York Exchange. I predict that very soon a share. I furthermore advise results, and it will be of a share will then surely see $1 some say, but those who the trip to Larder on New York, Boston and several other cities when and my engineers have months past.

The facts about the Larder Company in the Full particulars, however personally, or by mail.

Again I say, I am not is selling itself even far from Canada and the but I am anxious that far the best thing I have price.

41-45 ADELAIDE S TORONTO.

LONG DISTANCE Main 7585 "7586 BRANCH

Rain Coat Weather

The man, who owns one of our useful Raincoats, has no fear as to what the weather may be, for if it rains he is protected. If it shines he has a modishly modeled garment that plays the role of a Swagger Light Weight Overcoat.

Rain or Shine He's Well Attired

Our Raincoats are correctly tailored in the best rain proof Fabrics, plain or fancy, snug fitting collars and perfect fitting shoulders.

Raincoats, $10, $12.50, $15 and $18

See Our Semi-Ready Special $15 Raincoat

The H. D. Bibby Co.