Lady Willoughby de Broke A TRIO OF NOTED BRITISH SPORTSWOMEN. Among the aristocratic women of England who are famous in the field of sport, the Duchess of Newcastle, Lady Willoughby de Broke and Mary Lady Gerard are among the foremost. Lady de Broke is one of the most perfect horsewomen in England, and she is as brilliant in the home as she is in the hunting field. While the Duchess of Newcastle is one of the most daring riders of the day, is in the hunting field. Mary Lady Gerard is the famous Diana and beauty whose knowl-

New York and Boston.

The week that the press announced the gift of $10,000,000 for the Russell of New York added to the map of the city 7,000 feet of ocean beach at Rockaway for a seaside park and sanitarium. In addition, authority was given to secure for the public in perpetuity an ocean park at Coney Island. A private donor of millions was canonizwhile the benevolent motives of public official were almost unher-

Mayor' McClellan's , message called attention to the fact that Greater New York, with more available ocean beach than any other city in the world, had but a paltry thousand feet that it could call its own. He had a bill prepared authorizing the city to spend $2,500,000 for a seaside park where millions could enjoy a respite from the monotonous shop and overheated tenement, and where private societies and the city might erect, back from the high-water mark, convalescent homes for winter as well as summer. For two years the opportunity and the need has been described by the Metropolitan Park Association, the Outdoor Recreation League, and Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. The papers took turns in featuring New York's lack of free ocean beach where it should have been beach rich. So enthusiastically was the project supported by the public that a republican legislature aided a democratic mayor to make this gift of health. The first institution to be erected will be a seaside hospital for crippled children, victims of non-pulmonary forms of tuberculosis. For this $250,000 was raised by the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor .. .
