JUSTICE?

THE JUDGE (severely): Prisoners at the bar, it has been proved that the Timbuctoo Agent of the Life Insurance Company, whose Directors you are, gave a policyholder a cigar. The terrible crime of REBATING must be suppressed in the interest of outraged society. You are fined $1,000 each, half to go to this public-spirited witness in the box.

(The Royal Commission of Life Insurance has created a sensation by the extraordinary remedy proposed by it to stop rebating. They "do not believe that penalties imposed upon the immediate parties to a rebating transaction will prove at all effective," because such penalties "do not interest the directors of companies in which the practice prevails. The Managers and directors themselves must be compelled to make the law effective by having the strongest personal inducement to do so. Visiting penalties upon companies punishes the policyholders." The remedy it proposes is that a penalty of $1,000 be imposed upon every director and manager of a company, any of whose agents pays or allows, or offers to pay or allow, any rebate of premium, and that any person shall be authorized to sue for this penalty, one-half of the amount of the person suing. No such director or manager shall be indemnified, in whole or in part, either in respect of the penalty or of any costs, out of the funds of the company." The Commissioners further make it clear that this fine shall be collectable whether the rebate be given or offered "with or without the knowledge of the manager or director sued.")

"OLD IRONSIDES" SAVED.

She Has Been Put Into Good Shape.

Boston, May 14.—The famous frigate Constitution or "Old Ironsides," as she is endeared in the hearts of the people of the United States, has not been given over to the hands of the ripper and destroyer, but has been put in good shape. She has just received three huge masts, duplicates of the original masts. The great cross-saws, adze, and other tools which were in vogue when Leviathan wooden ships were built, and which are rarely seen in a modern shipbuilding establishment, have been diligently applied by shipwrights, shipjoiners, shipfitters and calkers for many months, day after day, until the veteran looks, to-day, almost as did the original ship when launched in Boston, September, 1788. In the remodeling of this ship her lines and form of old have been followed after the model carved by Josiah Humphreys, who was one of the designers; the model was found a few years ago in a state of good preservation at the Humphreys' homestead at Haverford, Pa. The main mast has a massive semi-circular top, of an area big enough for a southern family's dining-room, and weighs eighteen and one-half tons, a tremendous weight for the keel of the old vessel to support.

Rule Making To An Extreme.

Rules are good, and without regulations there would be chaos, but sometimes rule-making goes to extremes. For instance, when a waiter in an eating house says it is the rule that a man must not eat pie with a spoon, it is a good thing for the patron to say "it is my rule not to eat pie any other way." That is about the way William Stead treated a bunch of Boston autocrats the other day. He was to lecture before the Economic Club there. In the forenoon he was surprised to learn that women were never admitted to the club. He protested that what he had to say he wanted to be heard particularly by women, and had counted on having an audience of women, largely composed of the highest type of intellectual women. The club officers informed him that the rule, no women, had never been broken and he would have to talk to them only. Then Stead reared right up, and he said: "Gentlemen, I have rules as well as you, and one of them is that I never talk where women cannot hear me, as I never say anything I am not anxious to have good women hear; so I guess there will be no lecture to-night," or words to that effect. The club weakened. All the evening papers announced that women would be admitted, and the hall was crowded.

The Cheerful Side.

A man went into a hardware shop and inquired: "How much do you ask for a bath-tub for a child?" "Four dollars," was the reply. "W-h-e-w!" whistled the customer. "We'll have to go on washing the baby in the coal-scuttle till the prices come down."

Bobby (whose father at Ottawa was whipping him—Mamma, were all the bad men drowned in the flood?) Mamma—Yes, dear.

Bobby—Ain't it about time we was having another flood?

Gadabout—"Stammering has its advantages, you know, old chap."

Kontent—"How so?"

Gadabout—"Why, a fellow who stutters doesn't need more than two or three ideas to keep him going all the evening."

Bell—Your marriage was the result of love at first sight, wasn't it?
 Nell—Yes, I never shall forget that day. Only time in my life I was ever known to forget my glasses.

THE SPORT REVIEW

SHRUBB, OF ENGLAND, AFTER LONGBOAT.

Two Women to Swim For World's Championship—Sails Being Made in Kingston For Toronto Racer.

An odd feature of Thursday's game at Detroit against Cleveland was that the Detroit outfield did not have a put out.
 The Newark Eastern Leaguers will play an exhibition game with the Pittsburgh National League team at Newark on Sunday, May 19th.
 At Los Angeles, Jack ("Twin") Sullivan, of Boston, and Hugo Kelly, of Chicago, fought twenty rounds to a draw before the Pacific Athletic Club.

Toronto Star: Oldrieve & Horn, of Kingston, are building a suit of sails for Adele, the Canada's cup boat. She will be brought up from Kingston under their management and will use them in her tuning up performances here before the trial races.

At Brighton, Eng., an interesting tennis match was played at the Princess Club when Cecil Fairs and Eustace H. Miles defeated Peter Latham and Jay Gould by three sets to two. In the first set Gould played poorly, but afterwards his service was very effective.

Bowlers from all parts of New York state will gather at Rochester this week to compete for the various prizes offered by the State Bowling League. The entries list a large number, including many of the best bowlers of the state. The strongest sort of competition is promised.

Miss Elaine Golding, of New York, the American champion woman swimmer, has replied to the challenge by the Australian champion, Miss Annette Kellerman. Miss Golding accepted the challenge and announced that she would swim a series of races with the Australian girl for the woman's championship of the world.

In a match at London for the world's professional tennis championship and a side bet of $2,000, Peter Latham, the former champion, defeated Cecil Fairs, holder of the title, by 7-3. The match, which was for the best of thirteen sets, was distributed over three days, May 6th, 8th and 11th. Jay Gould acted as referee.

Alfred Shrubbs, of England, the great distance runner, was a passenger on the White Star line steamer Cedric, which arrived Sunday at New York from Liverpool. Shrubbs' purpose in coming to America is understood to give exhibitions, and, if possible, to obtain a series of professional matches with Longboat, the Indian runner, who won the Boston Marathon last month. Whether a meeting with the feet-footed Canadian will be arranged, however, is in doubt, as the latter is still an amateur, while Shrubbs is a professional.

After a tour of Australia, the Englishman was suspended for some infraction of the amateur athletic laws and he has never been reinstated.
 C. M. Daniels' career as a swimmer may well be given as an example of perseverance. He failed and failed, until finally success came his way. The indoor records, which he set during the winter, just passed, are as follows: Fifty yards, 25 1-5; 100 yards, 56 2-20; 200 yards, 2:32 2-5; 400 yards, 5:31 2-5; half mile, 11:44 4-5. The young champion was born in Ohio twenty-two years ago. He is tall and slight, but of substantial frame. He is depressed. He stands six feet one inch, and weighs around 160 pounds in condition. Unlike most athletes, he does not alternate his periods of faithful training with long apries. He leads a regular life, will take an occasional drink, and smokes and eats what his fancy dictates.

THE MEASURE OF A MAN.

One Can Find it Out From His Exact Height and Weight.

If a man tells you his height and his weight, then his exact measurements can be figured out. That is the algebra of physiology—and this simple science is the basis of every physique type system of Semi-ready tailoring. The seven types of man are based on height and weight and the variations from normal are met in the following: Fifty expert sailors in every Semi-ready store. The H. D. Sail For Europe.

Washington, D.C., May 14.—Count and Countess Hatzfeld, Austrian ambassador to this country, sailed today for Europe, to take a short vacation at the home court. There is a general scattering of the diplomatic corps for the summer. Mr. Lagercrantz, the new Swedish minister, who arrived last week, is the cover of his brother, of the Pittsboro steel works in the central part of Sweden, and he is enjoying his first experience as a diplomatist. He has, however, a wide experience in the business world, and with his wife did heroic work in the slums of London. Later he did social work in India.

The Rheumatic Group.

When there is an excess of uric acid in the blood one of the "grogs" of affections is bound to appear sooner or later: rheumatism, gout, sciatica, lumbago or neuralgia.
 To expel any of these diseases the poison in the blood must be neutralized and expelled and the disordered condition of the kidneys and digestive organs must be removed.
 If this is done the disease is cured and its return prevented. Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure will do these necessary things every time. Its action is prompt, certain and thorough. Ten days' treatment. Price 50c., at Wadell's drug store.

Millionaire At Cobalt.

Cobalt, Ont., May 14.—Mr. Huyler, the New York chocolate millionaire, and his manager, Mr. Roberts, interested in Cobalt, have been here after spending four days here. Mr. Huyler bought a large block of Temiskaming stock.

ALMOST NATURE'S GARB.

Americans Cause Sensation in Berlin.

Berlin, May 14.—Frederick Duncan, the brother of Isadora Duncan, the American dancer, and his wife are causing a sensation in Berlin by a crusade in favor of the "simple life." They wear little, and, like the monkey tribe from which humanity is said to have descended, they eat only nuts and fruit.

They demonstrate their views on this subject by publicly parading the streets of the capital in the scantiest of clothing. Duncan wears only a coarse sheet, which, passing over his left shoulder and beneath the right arm, leaves his right shoulder and entire right arm, side, chest, and back exposed. The sheet reaches to the knees, leaving the legs and feet bare. A pair of sandals complete the costume.

Duncan, who has flowing locks half way down his back and a long, bushy beard, resembles rather a wild man of Borneo than the apostle of a nobler mode of life.
 Mrs. Duncan's costume is a trifle more in accordance with propriety. Her apparel looks like a shawl with many folds. The neck and right shoulder are left bare, and the garment reaches almost to the ankles. She wears sandals.

Held In Switzerland.

Zurich, Switzerland, May 14.—Charles Barnstall, Chicago, has been arrested here upon the demand of the German authorities, charged with fraud. It is alleged that Barnstall obtained $16,250 last month from a lady of Munich, Bavaria, to whom he was betrothed. After obtaining the money it is alleged Barnstall absconded. He had $12,500 in his possession when arrested.

Kidneys Must Have Aid.

Unlike most other diseases, kidney troubles seldom show any tendency to cure themselves; their tendency is to grow steadily worse. Disorders of the kidneys lead to lumbago, gout, rheumatism, heart troubles, Take Peck's Kidney and Liver Pills and be cured. In boxes, 25 cents. For sale only at Wadell's drug store. Money back if not satisfactory.
