Mr. Meek, on behalf of the mayor, explained that prior to the calling the meeting his worship had made ar rangements to visit Ottawa on civiousiness and regretted exceedingly hi inability to be present. He then ivered an exhaustive account of history of the House of Industry, it management, and the sources which its financial support was forth coming. The assessed value of the House of Industry was $12,600, while the furniture, etc., was over $2,000. The actual cost per head was about $1.50 per week. On an average about ten persons a year came to the House of Industry from the county, though this was a matter often hard to trace.
