Sought Protection at the Police Station.

Robert Thompson, who has been night. The police are working on th case, and an arrest will no doubt be made in due time. Thompson says that he can identify his assailant. Thompson's story is that he was scated at one of the tables alone, and that he was attacked without any provocation whatever. He says that he was thrown on the floor, and kicked in the face. As soon as he could make his escape he ran to the police station, where he remained all night. He will require medical attention, and will be sent to an hospital. Several of his teeth were loosened, and his

"Have You?"

"If you have a good thing you should push it along by good advertising. If you haven't, our advice is let advertising alone." An enterprising merchant can always make it worth while to induce a customer to come to his store-but a "dead one" never finds a way because he would rather sell a few customers at high prices than many at close prices. It pays to deal with Whig advertisers because
