IN ANY SEASON

It's well to look after your coal supply in summer, when prices are low—prepare for winter. In winter, too, we're not so rushed with orders as in cold weather. The provision man looks ahead, and the interest on your present outlay won't equal the advance per ton later on. Figure it out for yourself and then let us have your order for the highest grade coal in the market.

THE SCANDAL BUSINESS.

A few days ago the Ottawa Citizen reported that a clerk in the finance department had sold an advance copy of the insurance report to an insurance man for "a neat cheque, which he endorsed over in payment of a grocer's bill." The libel was hardly printed before the Citizen was called upon to recall it. The clerk having to do with report announced that there were only five copies of it, and these remained in his custody until they were laid before parliament.

The Citizen was called upon to make a retraction, which it did by saying that it was "evidently misinformed regarding the alleged sale of copies of the report in advance."

It regretted its mistake, but held that it was not unnatural under the circumstances. It then charged that an employee of the finance department acted as salesman for the official stenographer in the disposition of copies of the evidence, and that some of these copies commanded a remarkably high price.

There was nothing secret or confidential about the evidence, most, if not all, of which had been taken in open court and summarized in the papers. The stenographer was probably authorized to get it printed. Was he authorized to sell it, and was the government willing that he, though paid for his service according to the usual rates, and a clerk should traffic in the sale of it to their personal advantage?

In view of the fact that the first statement of the Citizen was challenged, and withdrawn, with regret, it may be as well to await developments before accepting or acting on the second accusation. The Tory partisan press are in the scandal business for political effect, and a remembrance of the fact will make clear how some current rumors should be regarded.

POLITICS AND THE ARMY.

The way of the Dundonald grievance, and withdrawal, with regret, it may be as well to await developments before accepting or acting on the second accusation. The Tory partisan press are in the scandal business for political effect, and a remembrance of the fact will make clear how some current rumors should be regarded.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Once more the rumour is out that Mr. Borden will be retired from the leadership of the opposition. That salary of $7,000 a year is the source of great envy.

Now that Dr. Chambers has been made jailer of Toronto, he is said to be "out of politics." Unless his subordinate are less active than formerly he will not, however, be out of trouble.

The Appeal of Boston, a socialist paper, nominated W. D. Hayward, of Idaho, for the presidency of the nation. Considering that Hayward is on trial for his life, his nomination is surely a fool idea.

The Chinese are being driven out of the Transvaal. No wonder. They represented a species of labour that was demoralizing. The average Chinese coolie is not to be trusted anywhere. He is a moral leper.

A speaker in the Anglican synod in Toronto referred to the preachers as a guileless lot! He did not, of course, refer to the one who became jailer in Toronto, or the other one who is after the magistrate in Brantford!

Mr. Bannerman's idea is not to kill off a few of the lords or terrify them into silence by new appointments. He will simply ignore them in his legislation. But how? These old chaps are, like children, sometimes very noticeable.

The Hamilton Herald suggests that ex-Trooper Malloy be given a grant from the Hamilton patriotic fund to enable him to pursue his Oxford career. "Could the money," asks the Herald, "be used for a more appropriate purpose?"

N. B. Davidson, K.C., of Toronto, writes to the Mail that he did not say anything in the Anglican synod of Toronto which warranted that paper of labelling it with a scare heading, "Ottawa as a centre of graft." But the Mail makes no apology.

The Toronto conference has advised all preachers who go into business to drop the prefix "Rev." There are so many combinations nowadays, so many ways of making dividends, that it would never do to say "Rev. Mr. So-and-so will now be paid his grant."

Ottawa's power and light plant (civic management) is proving a great success. Net profit in six months even $7,000. Number of consumers and receipts increased by eighty per cent., and maintenance and operation (chiefly on account of installation),

ANOTHER CRISIS IN RUSSIA.

Russia faces another season of turmoil. It is the result of a discovery the most shocking that has yet been made. In the lodgings of a deputy, a suspect, were found the documents that incriminated fifty-five social members of the duma. The representative of the czar demanded the immediate suspension of these, preliminary to their prosecution. Fourteen were directly charged with plotting against the national government. What the others were accused of was not, in the ultimatum, stated, but the ukaz which dissolved the duma has it that they were concerned in an attempt on the life of the emperor.

The second duma has been a disappointment. It has not been as progressive as the first assembly, and it has been at greater variance with the government. This is due to two things: (1) The czar has a council which is superior to the parliament the people elect; and (2) the czar has had, in Stolypin, one whose rule has been hard, whose drum-head court-martials have been enforcing his authority with the greatest severity. The czar complains that the second duma has been antagonistic all along. It has. There has been an absence of all sympathy and confidence in the emperor, and there could only be a rupture from that condition sooner or later.

The emperor's plan of reform is not at all promising. It is to have the different classes of people represented, but only as they are influenced by the Russian spirit, while the people who have "not attained sufficient civic development" will be disfranchised. Can this be done outside the duma? The czar rules by power divine. God has given him the power to rule the people, he says, and as he gave the past electoral law (now declared inefficient), he can cancel it and issue a second law framed to produce the results he desires.

Thus the nation or empire is taking a step backward. The people are not ruling but the czar, and the monarchial idea, as exemplified by the man, in defiance of public opinion, is losing in public favour. The rebellion of half a century cannot be crushed out at once by force. This has been tried and it has failed. The co-operation of the people can only be secured when they are allowed to legislate freely, as in Britain and Japan. There may be governments many in this country, and they may be defective, but they reflect public sentiment which in the long run is bound, if sane, to assert itself.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

Here's A Graft.

Montreal Gazette.

Toronto expects to secure close upon half a million dollars this year as its share of the receipts of the much-abused street railway service. To the outsider it would appear that a partition like this is worth cultivating.

Just What He Does.

Brantford Expositor.

The Anglican synod of Toronto has passed a resolution in favor of the Anglican spirit, while the people who have "not attained sufficient civic development" will be disfranchised. Can this be done outside the duma? The czar rules by power divine. God has given him the power to rule the people, he says, and as he gave the past electoral law (now declared inefficient), he can cancel it and issue a second law framed to produce the results he desires.

What Is The Matter?

The English government approached "The Mikado" because they were afraid that the Japanese would not warships at Chatham played airs from that opera, perhaps to show that they understood Gilbert and Sullivan's joke better than the British themselves.

Beginning Of The Trouble.

Woodstock Sentinel Review.

Lord Dundonald has withdrawn from the British army, because he was left without any work to do. When asked if he intended to enter politics he replied that he did not intend to remain idle. If memory serves us well, it was the noble lord's inability to remain idle where politics were concerned that was responsible for the beginning of his trouble as a soldier.

SLENDER MAN.

He is the Man Who Can't Get a Suit to Fit Him Right.

The slender man is in a tizzy, by himself, and is quite as perplexing to the average tailor as is his opposite extreme, the corpulent man.

The typical slender form has a sloping shoulder, but there are exceptions. Few tailors can make a coat which will fit correctly without fitting too tightly and thus emphasizing the slenderness.

The "Semi-Ready" physique type system has conquered every difficulty, and the slender man in Type C can find his exact proportions just as can the corpulent man in Type F. The Semi-Ready tailoring has solved the troubles of the man who has always had difficulty with his tailor. The H. D. Bibby Co., 78-80-82 Princess Street.

Vigorous Health is the Power to Inspire an All Women Should

One of the most noted, almost men of this century, article, has said, "Whatever success I have had in the world I owe all to my wife. I first know her inspiration, and the greatest my life."

To be such a success of the love and admiration of the wife should be woman's goal. It is a woman first that flags, that she gets early shadows appear under her backache, headaches, bearing nervousness, irregularities, or should start at once to build up a tonic with specific power. E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for every sick and ailing woman, should be tried. It brings new life and vitality. Mrs. J. G. 611 South 10th Street, Tacoma.

What Lydia E. Pinkham Compound did for Mrs. Alder, for every sick and ailing woman, should be tried. Her advice is always helpful.
