THE 5 P.M. EDITION CHARGES BLACKMAIL

LEUT.-COL. GREENWOOD ERIC RAILROAD PAID UNION OFFICIALS,

An R. M. C. Graduate Here From South Africa.

One of the guests at the Royal Military College ball last night was Lieut.-Col. Greenwood, of Johannesburg, South Africa, who graduated from the college in 1882, along with Lieut.-Col. Taylor, the present commandant, and Prof. A. K. Kirkpatrick, of Queen's School of Mining. Lieut.-Col. Greenwood formerly belonged to Peterboro, where he was a civil engineer, and commanded the 3rd Dragoons. At the time of the Boer war he went to South Africa, and at its termination decided to remain at Johannesburg, where he was head in railway work under Lieut.-Col. Percy Girouard. He is now on a trip home to see his children. One of his boys he intends sending to the college at which he received his civil and military training. The colonel is staying at the British-American.

LOOKING FOR PLAYERS.

Montreal Baseball League Manager in the City.

Champlain Prosecker, manager of the Spalding baseball league, Montreal, was a visitor in the city, yesterday. Mr. Prosecker is keeping his weather eye open for some good ball players, and he was at the Cricket Field last night, some of the number being having a work out. He says that Kingstons has some promising players. Mr. Prosecker also visited Gananoque, but so far as is known at present, he has made no circuit to players in either place. The Spalding League is purely a city league, and has been providing the Montreal fans with good baseball. Mr. Prosecker does not play in the league, having been classed as a professional.

Live Stock Market.

Montreal, June 24.—About 1,000 head of butchers' cattle, 250 calves, 114 sheep and lambs and 593 fat hogs were offered for sale at the Point St. Charles stockyards this morning, and about 130 butchers' cattle, 150 calves and 75 sheep and lambs were offered at the East End Abattoir. Trade was rather slow, and the prices of cattle had a downward tendency, especially as this was the case with graded cattle, which are getting plentiful. Prime heaves sold at 5 1/2c. per lb.; pretty good cattle, 4c. to 5 1/2c., and the common stock 2 1/2c. to 3 1/2c. per lb. Calves sold at $2.50 to $10 each. Sheep sold at 4 1/2c. to 5 1/2c. per lb. Lambs, at $3.50 to $5.50 each. Fat hogs sold at 6 1/2c. to 7 1/2c. per lb.

No Decision Yet.

Fredericton, N.B., June 25.—Judge Lantry did not give his decision in the application of Mr. Emmerson's counsel for a postponement of the trial of the libel case, this morning, but adjourned court until 7:30 o'clock tonight, when he expects to render decision.

Ottawa, June 25.—The Montreal Longshoremen have officially notified the Minister of Labor that they will not accept the award of the board of conciliation and arbitration in the recent strike.

JUDGE KILLED ASSAILANT.

Would Have Gone 100 Miles to Do Deed.

Houston, Va., June 25.—The trial of former Judge W. G. Loving of Nelson county, for the murder of Theodore Estes, son of Sherrill M. S. Estes of Nelson county, has begun in the circuit court, Judge Barriadae presiding.

His Hand Burned.

Charles Powell, carpenter, Baglan Road, had the misfortune to seriously burn his hand the other day. In the course of his labour, he had to fill a coal oil burner. In so doing he spilled some of the oil over his hand and on lighting the burner accidentally ignited the hand as well. Besides this, some shaving files fell on his hand that there was excitement galore for a few moments. The fire was stamped out in due time but not before Mr. Powell had suffered severe burns.

Take Narrow View.

At a largely attended convention of the Liberal association of the county of Grenville, Dr. W. C. Brown, dentist, of Prescott, was elected president, over Albert Whitney, former president of the association, and brother of the premier of Ontario. Mr. Whitney deprecated attacks made on himself because of the relationship. "If brother does not want my help, would not take it, and does not need it." The vote was: Brown, 241; Whitney, 232.

Was In Hard Luck.

Early this morning, several people on Princess street, in an attempt to pass a comparatively young man, who told a hard luck story, and who offered for sale, a small pocket comb, which looked much the worse for wear. The crowd looked in at the window, the part of a vagrant, but claimed to have had a streak of bad luck. He was given assistance by some pedestrians who opened their purse strings for him.

A Fine Number.

The well-printed Canadian Freeman presents a fine issue this week, giving a complete report of the celebration of the diamond jubilee of Sister Theresa, who has been a teacher in Rideau street convent, Ottawa, for over sixty years. It also gives a fine portrait of the above sister. Hon. Mr. Lemieux, postmaster-general, Senator Colby and others. Altogether the Freeman is a credit, not only to its publisher, but to the people of that faith, which it has faithfully represented for twenty-five years in Canada.

O'Kill Street Sewer Again.

The O'Kill street sewer is again the subject of protest. The contract to lay the extension pipe was let late in the winter, but the contractor has not yet been able to go ahead with the work to any extent. A beginning was made at the outlet, and the sewage water has been diverted some what and to flow towards the bathhouses at the west end of the bay. Owners are protesting, and the board of works is asked to have the extension worked hurried on. The O'Kill street sewer has been too long the subject of discussion.

Barnes Came Back.

George Barnes, the immigrant who was sent to Brookville, on his way to Montreal, has arrived back in the city, and the police, again, have him on their hands. It will be remembered that the magistrate ordered him sent on, when he appeared in the police court on Saturday, on a charge of vagrancy. He was sent on, but Barnes evidently has a warm spot in his heart for the Limestone City. He reached the city yesterday evening, and as he had no place to stay over night, he went to the police station for shelter, where he will remain until his case his disposed of.

Closing Exercises.

The annual closing exercises of Miss McNeill's private school, Clergy street, took place this morning, Archbishop Manning presiding. The following pupils received prizes for winning the highest number of marks in their respective classes: Martin Purcell, Mary James, Lionel O'Grady, Margarette Kane, Marie Watkinson, William Coyle, May O'Regan, Gerald Lynch, Gertrude Martin. Prize for composition awarded to Willie Coyle. Prizes of Christian doctrine, donated by Rev. Father Fallon, Buffalo, N.Y., awarded to Martha Lambert and Martin James. A gold medal for deportment, donated by Mrs. Watson. Prize for composition awarded to Gertrude Martin.

D. J. McLennan, manufacturing, face masks, etc., Buffalo, N.Y., will be in Kingston each Monday. Engagements may be made by leaving name and address at Best's Drug Store.

About the beginning of May fog and clouds which have hung over London during the winter vanish, and the unfamiliar sun is seen again. A new life seems to stir in that grimy underworld where the ger and disease stalk, year in and year out, twin spectres of poverty, and about the fashionable quarters, London and rhododendron blossoms overhang the streets bordering the royal parks, which are thronged with residents, tillip and juncos, colored by the sun, and become then all the elite flock to the meadows. The season has opened.

Picture the change. A year since, mile of streets, empty since fall, for the chance passing pedestrian thousands of hours, all showing more shattered, certainless winter suddenly awakened and active. Children seen, accompanied by smartly dressed mothers or governess; automobiles (called motor cars), coaches and livers with high-stepping horses, livery attendants, form a long line on either side of the roadway. In the houses in Park Lane and Belgrave Park their doors to parties, receptions and bridge parties; the Oxford and Roger's street, their doors to parties, telegrams, rooms to the Savoy, Cecil, Victoria street, in London, and all the fashionable hotels, by thousands, and all that is wealthy, continental, and smart dines nightly in the parks or at the Carlton.

Sundays a stream of humanity along the busy avenues of Hyde Park, especially near the Achilles statue, the case year along the Piccadilly and another along the Piccadilly, as fashion dictates, about the London season. This special function of London season, along Fifth Avenue, is all dressed in grey or fawn frock coats and new high top shoes, they move with true English hardness, and with conscious of swinging their sticks and carry right glove in the left glove, so as to have the shaking hat for greeting acquaintances. The men are very various of silks and linens. A man may be said to be a concentration point of all social living in the season. In early morning "liver brigade" trots or the old-fashioned tan laid down, corrupt as the old or Royal coat, corrupt as the Rotten Row. The grand parade follows during those hours, the automobiles spin along the roads, after which come the cars. To drive in the park at least times a week is a duty not performed, and the duty is to perform, in the height of the season, a stream of vehicles is so dense, completely chokes the roads, at a small pace past the crowded idlers who lean over their seats to get a better acquaintance. Each cochman carries a "cobble" as a symbol, not so much of military rank, but not so universally.

During the lifetime of the moving picture, her days of glory or other of her four castles, has no "fountain of honor" the scattered social groups, harmonious whole and taken naturally at the head of the queen, center to the throne when royalty had been made less contemptible by the foibles of the fourth William's grandees in re-establishing ceremonies and restoring the crown. She had ideas—no princess, for instance, ever permitted to stand on a public square or to lunch in a public place. The accession of the present inaugurated a new era. It has assumed his place in the sun, and the English of most brilliant and serene Europe.

The season originated in King to town of the great, and still regulates its duration from soon after the start of the season; in spring, on summation of the season, the light of English of the night of the month. The benefit of the season is so much "the thing" "dearful" laborers of the town of it, it numbers an visitor may be the door of gentlemen to enable its connection with the opening of parliament of the season.
