THE VICTIMS

Include Some of Montreal's Best Men.

GATHERED $15,000.

THE NEAT WORK OF A CONFIDENCE MAN.

A Large Still Was to Manufacture Illicit Whiskey in a Subterranean Chamber—Fled and Will Not Be Prosecuted.

Montreal, July 5.—The man who caused the subterranean chamber and passage to be dug in the warehouse, back of Mr. McKee's Dominion Button works, at 428 Visitation street, turns out to be one of the most accomplished confidence men Montreal has ever produced, according to the information furnished by some of the people who are very close to some of his victims.

It is estimated that he got about $15,000 from the latter, which, even admitting that he spent about $2,000 for the biggest illicit still that was ever made in Montreal, his warehouse rent and his Italian labor employed in digging the subterranean passage, would leave him a fat profit for a couple of months' work.

The beautiful part of his scheme, looking at it from a confidence man's point of view, is that he is almost certain not to be bothered by criminal or civil prosecutions, because the people from whom he got his money are all so badly mixed up in the conspiracy to make illicit liquor that they are afraid to act.

His proposal to each individual, supposed to be absolutely confidential, and only made to that person, was to become partners with him in a scheme to make illicit whiskey.

He had all the plans arranged, he claimed, to make a thousand gallons a week. The still, one of the largest illicit stills ever manufactured in Montreal, was ordered, and he had a covered place which was absolutely free from detection in which to carry on his operations.

The manufacture of whiskey was to be carried on under the cloak of a madman, the standard. The whiskey was to be made from our wine, which, experts say, furnishes a whiskey of sixty over-proof.

Nearly every man he approached hit, but in most cases only a few dollars were advanced, the greater part of the money to be paid as soon as the plant was installed.

In letting his accomplices have a look at the machine that was to turn out their thousand gallons of whiskey a week, which was to be sold for three thousand dollars, he told them that he would have a small, inexpensive still on the premises for the revenue men to find in case they should be warned in some way or other of what was going on.

The thousand-gallon still, "Alambic," as they call it in French, cost eleven hundred dollars, and those who saw it say it was a beauty.

That night, while the arch-schemer was buying champagne for some of his victims, the big still was quietly taken apart and shipped away to no one knows where.

A few days later the gentleman himself also went away.

MARRIED AFTER ALL.

Bride Forcefully Taken To The Church Altar.

Chester, Pa., July 5.—Attired in her wedding gown, Miss Annie Arshaw, a comely girl, stood in her home, on West Second street, surrounded by her relatives, waiting for the cab that was to convey her to St. Hedwig's Polish Catholic church, where she was to be married to Joseph Stenkiwsky.

The cab finally arrived, but when the time arrived to enter the vehicle Miss Arshaw drew back as her brother approached to escort her to the conveyance, exclaiming: "I have changed my mind. I have decided not to get married."

The sudden announcement caused consternation among her relatives and friends. They endeavored to convince her that it was not the proper time to resist, but the young woman was obstinate, and, after trying to persuade her, her relative picked her up bodily and carried her to the cab.

The unwilling bride was hurried to the church, which was filled with guests, who wondered what was causing the delay.

It was expected that Miss Arshaw would decline to enter the church, but she had evidently concluded that she was doing the best, for she assumed her part in the nuptial ceremony, apparently satisfied again with the step she was taking.

After the ceremony the couple were driven to the bride's home, where they were tendered a reception.

Bibby's for boys' shirts, 50c.

Irish anti-graving prosecutions are being carried through higher courts without, so far, a single anti-graver being convicted. The land commissioners are fast taking up the land to divide it among the people, and the owners are selling readily, realizing, it is said, that since the lots will no longer be held by the gravers, that that is their best plan.

ALL-RED ROUTE

The British Government To Aid It.

AN IRISH ROUTE

PRESSED UPON ATTENTION OF AUTHORITIES.

Insisting Upon the Prompt Release of Gen. Maclean—The Color Line Drawn Against a Lad, Son of a Negro Father And an English Mother.

London, July 5.—The Telegram says rumor has it that the government is seriously entertaining the idea of granting a subsidy to the all-red route, £300,000 being mentioned.

Many friends of the route across Ireland are vigorously pressing the advantages of that scheme upon the government.

The British government has communicated with the Moroccan government, demanding that prompt steps be taken to ensure the release of Kaid General Sir Harry Maclean, commander of the Sultan's body-guard, who was captured by Raisul, the bandit chief, and is being held as a prisoner pending the granting of Raisul's terms for his surrender.

The British admiralty and war office have both drawn the color line against a youth born in London of a negro father and English mother. On the death of his parents the Standard board of guardians took charge of the boy, who has now grown up and desires to serve his country, but the authorities refuse to permit him to enlist in the navy or army.

DUSKY MEMBER WINS.

Only Negro In Georgia Legislature Is Sustained.

Atlanta, July 5.—W. H. Rogers, the only negro member in the Georgia legislature, representing McIntosh county, has won in the contest instituted against him before the house by George E. Atwood, a white man, who alleged that he should have the seat of the negro member. Atwood declared that two precincts should be thrown out on account of technicalities. The case is all the more interesting because the present legislature will probably pass the disfranchisement measure. The committee on privileges and elections, however, decided in the negro's favor.

DISCUSSES ALL RED.

Cannot Carry Mails Alone And Make Money.

London, July 5.—The News publishes an interview with a leading shipowner of whom it asked if the white labor clause difficulties might not lead to the adoption of the all-red route for carrying Australian mail.

The shipowner answered in the negative. A steamship, he says, cannot live by mails alone, except at almost a prohibitive cost. To the authorities, and he emphasized the trade-shipping difficulties in connection with goods and passenger traffic on account of the coaling question on the Pacific route.

Won By Burns.

Colma, Cal., July 5.—"Tommy" Burns, who is Noah Brusso, of Hancock, Ont., met "Bill" Squires, of Australia, for the heavyweight championship, and defeated him. Burns has been fighting professionally only six years, but he has scored twenty-six knock-outs and over forty victories. In that time he has only had three reverses given against him, and one of those was on a foul. He lost on a foul to Mike Sharpe, in 1902, after he had the battle won.

AFFECTED BY COCKTAILS.

Faithfuls Said To Have Served Them To Roosevelt.

Chicago, July 5.—Cocktails "with cherry" as related to the candidacy of Vice-President Fairbanks for election at lay delegate to the general conference of his church in Baltimore next May, are agitating Chicago Methodists and temperance workers.

The strenuous fight that is being made against the vice-president in his own district by the strong anti-liquor element of the church because of the report that he served cocktails with "cherries" in them at a luncheon, for President Roosevelt at his home on Decorated Day, may be the cause of Fairbanks' withdrawal from the contest, leaving the place to Senator Beveridge. The fight is also having a effect upon his presidential campaign.
