THE 5 P.M. EDITION

COMMERCIAL MATTERS.

What is Going On in the Business World—The Markets.

Canadian newspaper print is being largely used in London.

Business in the Dominion this week reached 21, some week, 1905, 21.

The Saskatchewan Valley Land Investment Company has been formed, with a capital of $20,000.

U.S.A. trade, estimated for the week ending July 5th, 1907, was $2,045,000, same week last year, $1,990,000.

The Commonwealth of Australia has agreed to take over the vast northern territory of South Australia, with all its facilities, and a transcontinental railway will be constructed.

There were 4,792 failures reported to the Receiver for the first six months of 1907, involving liabilities of $76,527,050 and assets of $62,018,143. This is a decrease in number of 1.6 per cent. from 1906, of 8.5 per cent. from 1905, of 10.2 per cent. from 1904, and almost identical with the number reported in the first half of 1906.

The flour making industry is one that is growing rapidly in Western Canada, and the New York Commercial says that the output now is but a mere trifle compared with what it is bound to be in a few more years. Scores of mills are being erected in these provinces every season, and each year sees the number in greater proportions than the previous year. The demand for Central and Western Canada's flour is steadily growing, and previous to this it has been the capacity of the railways to remove the grain for export. As the season goes on, however, the proportion of wheat that will be sent out in the new state will diminish, and the amount exported in the manufactured shape will grow at an enormous rate. Every town or city of any size in Western Canada that has not already a mill wants one. There are already there some of the largest mills in the world, and the demand for this commodity that the future has in store can hardly be estimated.

A Sudden Death.

On Friday afternoon, as the steamer Selkirk was entering the lift lock at the Galop Rapids, Capt. Theophas Leduc, in command, was suddenly overcome. As he sank to the deck he asked for a drink of water, but before his son, Mate William Leduc, could secure it, he passed away. The deceased was forty-eight years old. He was born in Val-de-Fleur, Que., and lived in Kingston for twenty-two years. A wife, two sons and two daughters survive. The late Capt. Leduc was a prominent member of the Catholic Order of Foresters. The funeral will take place at St. Mary's cathedral, Sunday afternoon, at two o'clock.

CITY DIRECTORY

SOME FEATURES OF THE BOOK JUST OUT.

Estimates the City's Population at 22,545—Steady Growth Recorded—Familiar Facts Revealed by a Perusal of the Book.

The new directory of the city of Kingston has just been issued from the Whig press, and in size and appearance is a marked improvement on any Kingston directory yet produced. That the Limestone city is not standing still is evidenced by a goodly increase in the number of pages required to print the names of all residents (except married women) over eighteen years of age. Last year's reading matter occupied 253 pages; this year, 243—an increase of ten pages.

Populations of towns and cities in the Dominion are given in the directory. There was a time, not so long ago, when the estimated population was arrived at by multiplying the number of names in the directory by three. Of late years, however, owing to race suicide or some other cause, the average has decreased to two and a half. By this means of computation—and in Toronto and elsewhere it has proved accurate—the present population of Kingston is now 22,545. In 1905 the same method gave the total at 20,000, and in 1906 at 21,815. This year, therefore, shows an increase of 292 over 1906, and of 709 over 1905. There is good reason to believe that the above figures are very close to the correct mark. The names of students, beyond those who reside here permanently, are not given in this year's directory.

Included in the book is a complete directory of the four suburbs—Barrfield, Cataragui, Garden Island and Portmouth, just at present. The publisher of the Belleville directory might be justified in using such names, but local publishers, not I.

The man who wrote on the fly leaf of a certain book that "if there should be another flood, I will not be here," is probably not so sure of his own safety. He had a right to his opinion, anyway. His severe and humorous criticism, however, could never apply to a city directory. The letter is an full of interest and information as an egg is of meat. It tells you just who are the officers of all companies, lodges, clubs, etc. It lists up all the barbers in a row for your inspection. Does your tailor owe you a bill? Then, turn up the list of tailors and you will find his correct name and address. Want a boarding house? The directory gives you the addresses of over forty good ones to select from. Ever have a desire to know how many life insurance agents are ready to "write you up" in the directory? It gives the number at 48. If you wish to order a new silk gown for your wife there are at least 127 dressmakers ready and willing to oblige. The directory gives these addresses. It tells you where the bailiff lives—64 Patrick street, but he's not an Irishman. In fact, it is a vast encyclopedia of information, embracing nearly everything one would ever require to know concerning the city and the busy and varied life within its walls.

It may come as a sad disappointment to some men to learn that there is only one John Collins in the city when they have been used to meeting a different one each morning. This gentleman with the familiar name—boards at 43 King street west. It may not seem quite logical to find a great many Graves, but only one Coffin, yet that's the way the directory puts it. We leave the reader to guess whether this Coffin is a Goodman, a Brightman, a Blackman, a Sugarman, a Countryman, a Deatman, a Freeman, or a Goldman. There are numerous samples of each.

The animal kingdom is well represented. Read the list: Bears, Buck, Kid and Lamb. If you are a sportsman and prefer chasing the feathered tribe the directory offers you Eagles, Partridges, Pigeons, Quails, Hares and plain birds. If you are ever obliged to "take to the tall timber" to escape the wiles of the man who has Colnalt stock to sell, the directory provides a number of Forrester, Matheson, Glens and Hills as safe retreats. You are particular about the kind of timber, why, then, there is Ash, Birch, Branch, Bush, Cherry, Elm and Hem to choose from. The diligent searcher through this pageant procession of knowledge will be rewarded by finding Farthings, Pennys, Pence and Pounds.

There are more names in the Directory beginning with S than with any other letter. The number exceeds 800—to be exact 855. On the other hand there are only six U's. The first name in the book is that of Miss Alice Abbott, of 378 Division street; the last that of Miss Zelma Zuchowig, of 133 Clergy street. Thus, true to tradition and fact, woman gets both the first and the last word. The Smiths are still in the lead, there being 114 such names listed, besides a fair number of Smyths and Smythes. The "Campbells are coming" to the number of 41, while the Clarks muster 50. The Johnstons have 35 to their credit, and the Browns and Jones 33 and 25 respectively.

Dinner To Homeopaths.

Last evening Dr. C. L. Curtis gave a dinner at his residence, on King street, to the homeopathic representatives on the Ontario Medical Council, viz., Dr. E. T. Adams, Dr. G. E. A. Hardy, Toronto; Dr. C. Henderson, Strathroy; and Dr. L. Luton, St. Thomas. The visitors were royally dined by Kingston's veteran homeopathist, who is a fine entertainer.

HIS ARM TORN OFF.

Terrible Injury To Capt. Edward Maloney.

Brockville Reporter.

Edward Maloney, captain of the barge Mary Lyon, owned by the George Hill Coal company, of Oshawa, and lying at the Lackawanna tow in Oshawa, had his right arm crushed in a wreck and torn from the socket on the barge late Monday afternoon in an ambulance, where the arm tip was amputated. The operation was a success and Captain Maloney is reported to be doing nicely.

Death On Wolfe Island.

The late Miss Stella Greenwood, daughter of Thomas Greenwood, of Wolfe Island, whose death occurred on Wednesday, June 26th, was a bright and popular girl, and her passing away caused sincere sorrow to her many friends. She was ill for a couple of months and bore her sickness with patience and hope. Her remains were followed to the grave on Friday, June 28th, by a large concourse of friends and acquaintances. In the Church of the Sacred Heart a solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Spratt. The pallbearers were Thomas F. Greenwood, Samuel DeGart, John Tazari, Daniel DeGart, Henry Yott and Rodney Yott. There were also six young lady friends of the deceased who preceded the hearse, bearing floral wreaths, which they afterwards deposited upon the grave. They were Misses Lillian Greenwood, Stella Spoor, Irene Staley, Philene Crawford, Agnes Keegan and Irene Coyle.

Find On Big Ben.

The latest report to shareholders of the Big Ben Coal mines says: "It is with great pleasure we advise you that F. L. Cole, our mine superintendent, reports that he has uncovered a fine vein just northwest of our office building, which carries nickel and cobalt. It is on the surface. He advises sinking a shaft on this vein, and we will have some assays taken to find out its value and report the results in our next letter. Work is being continued at the No. 2 shaft, which is now seventy feet deep and is now putting a substantial cribbing all the way down. We expect to drift from this shaft, and feel sure that we will find native silver when we intersect the calcite vein which strikes to the west. No. 5 shaft continues to improve and the prospects for making this one of the best paying shafts on the property are excellent."

To Tear Them Down.

This morning, Alhman Aggrove, chairman of the city property committee, instructed the city engineer to have the market verandahs removed on Monday morning. If the contractor to whom the verandahs were sold did not get to work at them by four o'clock this afternoon. It is said that the first contractor would his right to remove them. However, the city engineer will put men to work at the verandahs on Monday morning. Many complaints have been made to the property committee chairman about the verandahs being half torn down, and the late Alhman Aggrove, in view of this, decided to act.

Macdonnell Vs. Henderson.

BROADBRIM

Weekly Letter From The City Of New York.

MURDEROUS

EATEN AT NEW YORK THE POLICE.

The Rights of Freemen — M. Twain's Remarkable Success Forty Years Ago. He Was Newspaper Reporter.

Special correspondence; letter No. 1.

New York, July 4.—The summer girls is at full tide. Churches are ringing and shepherds are folding their clerical attire. The tourist is to spend his loose change. Some has made an estimate of the amount money pleasure-seekers carry out of country, placing it at $3,000,000. This vast sum and add to it the earned wages of nearly 100,000 strikers in different parts of the country, we can almost see our national ruin. This condition is to continue longer.

The freight handlers and stevedores have been on a strike for several months. All along the river-freight has been piled up which strikers would not allow them to be. The steamship companies employed Italians, who are now arriving here thousands every week. The strikers unable to endure their idleness longer, resolved to give up the strike. A wild rush for the steam offices and informed the companies they were ready to go back, but the companies' honor, they were told there were "no vacancies." There were some places that had been filled by too young. The Italians saw their advantage and demanded equal wages. All these were discharged and a lot of the strikers put in their places. The discharged Italians got outside gates the strikers fell upon them and outnumbered the Italians, five to one but the countrymen of Julius Caesar Scipio Africanus were no holiday fighters and all were armed with some of deadly weapons. They fought the desperation of madmen. The reserves were called out, and although the rioters made common cause against them, never was seen a grander triumph of perfect discipline over disunited force. The police numbered about the first charge of all sorts of missiles and many of the police seriously wounded, but they never marched on with the steadiness of those long night-sticks rose and with unerring aim. You may judge the character of the conflict by the time it lasted (nearly five hours) by the murderous rioters were beaten, the houses in the vicinity were with the wounded.

While stopping the loading and loading of freight on steamships serious blow to the city's prosperity, it is not to be compared the deadly peril to the city's life caused by the garbage heaped in the middle of the streets, and sometimes the sidewalks, with the thermometer working up towards the 90 mark. This demerit all contractors should make for a year, with heavy penalties for their violation, not in fines, but long terms of imprisonment at labor.

No man desires to deprive the who works of the right to leave his tion when the employer does not give him demand for better pay and shi
