Synopsis of Canadian Northwest

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-West Province, excepting 1 and 25, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person the sole head of a family, or male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for homestead entry or suggestion must be made in person by the applicant at the office of the local Agent or Sub-Agent.

An application for entry or suggestion made personally at any Sub-Agent's office may be filed for the local agent by the Sub-Agent, at the expense of the applicant, and if the land applied for is vacant on receipt of the telegram such application is to have priority and the land will be held until the necessary papers in complete the transaction are received.

In case of "pre-emption" the entry will be generally cancelled and the applicant will forfeit all priority of claim.

An applicant for inspection must be eligible for homestead entry and only one application for inspection will be received from an individual until that application has been processed.

A homesteader whose entry is in good standing and not liable to cancellation, may, subject to approval of Department, relinquish it in favor of father, mother, daughter, brother or sister, if eligible, but to no one else, on same date as the original entry.

Where an entry is summarily cancelled or voluntarily abandoned, subsequent to institution of cancellation proceedings, the applicant or his assignee will be entitled to prior right of entry.

Applicants for inspection must state in what particular he is interested in, in detail, and if subsequently the statement is found to be incorrect in material particulars, the applicant will lose any priority of entry which he has been granted if it may be summarily cancelled.

Duties—A settler is required to perform the conditions under one of the following classes: (1) At least six months' residence upon each quarter section of land each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader residing upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such homesteader, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements may be satisfied by residence upon such land.

Before making application the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Coal—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 800 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per acre each year payable shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz—A person entitled to an open, or over, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim, 1,500x1,500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5. At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year for the minimum of three years in lieu thereof. When $100 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made, and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 per acre.

The locator provides for the payment of a royalty of 1-10 per cent, on the sales. Please mining claims generally are 100 feet square, entry for 35, favorable years.

An applicant for gold or silver claims is to deliver for gold five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lasses shall have a derrick in operation within five miles from the mine for the lease for each five miles. Rentals $10 per annum for each mile of line leased. Royalty at the rate of 1-10 per cent collected on the output when it exceeds $10,000.

W. W. CORY, Deputy of the Minister of the Interior. N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be tolerated.

HUMORS OF THE HOUR.

Colonel Johnson was presented with a beautiful service sword in a solid silver scabbard. The sword was presented by Lieut. A. W. Neely on behalf of Colonel Johnson's old company, Lieut. Neely speaking as follows:

"Colonel Johnson, you have never been a particular friend of mine, but the other members of Company F have requested me to say a few good things about you, but the good things I know about you are not military and will be omitted on this occasion.

"I will say, on behalf of the company, that you have always treated every member in a fair, honorable and military manner, and when error or carelessness crept in on the drill ground you have treated them in a strenuous manner, as far as the English language would permit."—Honolulu Advertiser.

Mary Madef is a young lady whose pocket money varies according to her good or bad behavior. One day, Mary made things exceptionally lively for the household, and a fine of a halfpenny was imposed for one offence.

Scarcely had the parental fiat gone forth when a second misdemeanor followed, then a third.

"Now," said Mary's mother, this time I shall fine you a penny, and if you are naughty again I shall make it two-pence.

"Dear, dear!" sighed Mary, agitated at the threatened fine, "I don't want a penny, but I shall make it two-pence."

"And do you think meat is likely to make people ill?" said the man who studies diet.

"Certainly," said the professor. "If it doesn't get you any other way, it will keep your worries and the death about the cost of it."—Washington Star.

An uncommonly good story is being told of the Rev. Mr. H. White, who died recently. Early in his history, when a curate in Brighton, he was aroused from his sleep in the small hours of the morning by a sick call. He was summoned to a bad quarter of the town and was brought to the bedside of a man who was rapidly sinking amid surroundings of destitution and squalor.

He passed away while Mr. White was offering his prayers for his behalf, and Mr. White, on rising from his knees, discovered to his astonishment that his watch had been removed from his pocket and was held tightly in the grasp of the dead man.—Westminster Gazette.

Marion Hill tells a good story of the stage in the July American Magazine. The chief character is a dull girl whom a persistent man endeavors to drill as a witch in "Macbeth."

"Like this," he hissed to the stolid Venus, trying to magnetize her with his magnificent eyes, "Macbeth, beware! beware! beware!"

"All right," whispered Brenda stoically. They cared not to be too vocal. She glanced out to the stage in order to fix locations. "I say be where? and where is it you will be, Mr. Studheim?"

"Right in front of me, in a cold-storage swab—and it's beware. It means look-out, look-out, look-out—(and God help us all if we don't!)"

"O, I thank you, Mr. Studheim, for your explaining kindness," murmured Brenda.

He shot her an alert look, to detect possible sarcasm, but coughed. With a tragic supplication to the helpful powers above, Morris went to his doom.

For the wabby passage up the trap, the glare of the blood-red lights in the eyes of the tortured Thane, all proved unsettling to the "second apparition," who gurgledly wailed:

"Ach, look out, Macbeth, look out! two dimes, and look out some more yet."

There is a certain old gentleman who partakes of the qualities of the diamond as it is mined, but whose lack of "polish" is a sad trial to his eldest daughter. The old gentleman, as he expresses it, "got that with both feet when some dude investors come piratin' round the range." Not long ago the family were gathered in the library, one of the windows of which was open.

"That air—," the father began, but was quickly interrupted.

"Father dear, don't say 'that air'—say 'that there,'" the daughter admonished.

"Well, this case—," he again attempted, but was quickly brought to a halt.

"Nor 'this ere,' 'this here' is correct," he was told.

The old gentleman rose with an angry snarl. "Look here, Marj," he said, with asperity. "Of course I know you have

Children Who Are Nervous

Nervousness is often a family predisposition. We inherit tendencies to disease just as we inherit physical resemblances. Strain of study, restlessness all the time, early introduction into the duties of social life, develop all too soon, nervous troubles among children.

St. Vitus dance, headaches, epilepsy and kindred maladies are becoming alarmingly common among the young. Pale, wan-eyed, listless young people are met everywhere.

To neglect signs of weakening down is criminal. Parents by ignoring very manifest symptoms of mental and nervous strain, actually condemn their children to life-long invalidism, which dwarfs their power of work, limits the possibilities of their children's lives to very narrow ranges. Upon the first sign of nervous feelings, St. Vitus dance, run down condition, weakness, persistent and recurring headaches give them that wonderful body, brain and nerve-builder—Perrozone.

Its action is positive in this class of disease, both in young and old, and its result, through its influence upon blood forming, is so permanent that the crisis is soon passed.

been to school and all that, but I reckon I know what I want to say, an' I am going to say it. I believe I feel a cold in this ear from that air and I'm going to shut the window!"—Harper's Weekly.

A new order of things has been instituted down at Coney Island, under which the "barbers" are not permitted to bark on Sunday. Last Sunday to get around this rule the "barbers" made sandwiches of themselves, and these are some of the printed notices they displayed to attract the crowd:

"The police won't let us talk. Aren't they the mean things?"

"Honest, this is a swell scenic rail-way. Come down to-morrow and let me tell you all about it."

"Wouldn't it be great if the police enforced this law on mothers-in-law?"

"If this show just goes on around and makes the police give you your money back, I haven't said anything about it."

"They say that silence is golden. The box office man says that statement is a joke."

Sir Thomas Lipton, apropos of bachelorhood and marriage, said in an after-dinner speech in Chicago:

"Bachelors, I admit, are villains, but it is a shame to play such tricks on them as it is customary everywhere to do."

"A nasty trick was played on a bachelor friend of mine at a dance. A woman was reproaching him for never having married, when her husband, a little behind her, said gruffly:

"He says he could have cut me out and married you if he had wanted to."

"The woman started. 'Why didn't he do it, then?'"

"He says he owed me a grudge," the husband explained with a chuckle."—New York Tribune.

TRAMP EARNED HIS NAME.

Remarkable Cat Found By From Philadelphia to New Jersey.

At a cat show held in Madison Square Garden, New York, a couple of years ago there was an exhibition of a very remarkable cat appropriately named Tramp, who not only carried off a blue ribbon for being an honor to his race, but also gained considerable distinction from the fact that he had found his way from Philadelphia to his Orange home in New Jersey, which is a couple of hours' run on a fast train.

Tramp (he was called then), had been made a present by his owner, Mrs. Fielding, to a friend living in Philadelphia, and this callous method of "bartering" with his affectionate master, ranked in Tramp's mind, for he had not been a week in his new home when, after a bad attack of homesickness, he determined to find his way back to "mother" with as little delay as possible.

He, therefore, gave his new friends the slip and was not heard of for several months, when one morning he made his appearance at his Orange home looking, if not actually sleek and fat, at least in good health, though he walked with something of a limp. He was welcomed with open arms, soon made himself at home, receiving the congratulations of his former owner with a quiet dignity which, Mrs. Fielding declared, was a just reproof for her callous conduct. She immediately made a name for Tramp, and has since openly declared that nothing will ever tempt her to part with the animal again.

OLD TIME SPIRITISM.

Drunkennes Raised Apparition Which Did Not Cure Drunkard.

This curious tale of old-time spiritism is taken by Defoe from Baxter's (1615-1691), "Historical Discourse, of Apparitions." There is now in London an understanding, sober, pious man, oft one of my hearers, who has an elder brother, a gentleman of considerable rank, who having formerly been a very pious man, years does often fall into the sin of drunkenness. He often lodges long together here in his mother's house, and whenever he is drunk and has slept himself, some one knocks at the wainscot, as if one rapped on the wainscot. When they remove his bed it follows him. Besides other loud noises on other parts where he is that all the house hears, they have often watched him and tied his hands lest he should do it himself. But his mother declared that she had seen his shoes under the bed taken up and nothing visible to touch them. The drunken sinner recoiled, in spite of these solemn warnings, to abandon his evil ways.

ALL RIGHT AGAIN.

Conductor's Anxiety Was Relieved By One of the Two.

They had evidently been quarrelling before entering the street car at the ferry.

"I would thank you, Mr. Johnson, not to sit by me!" she said icily.

"Oh, Lucy, I'll never go, with her again—never, dear!"

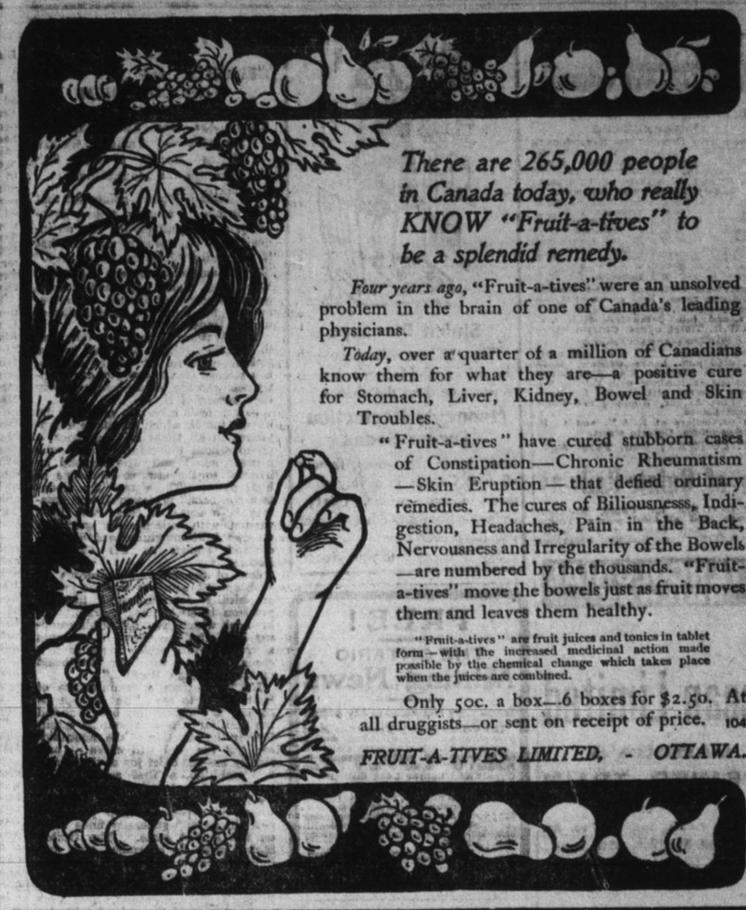

Gradually the harsh tones melted to soft, endearing phrases. The car had become very crowded. It stopped at Van Ness.

The conductor, wedging among passengers midway of the aisle, could not see the rear steps. With his hand on the bell cord, he suddenly yelled:

"How is it back there now?"

"It's all right. We've made up again," impulsively responded the young man.

"Oh, Willard, he didn't mean us!"

There are 265,000 people in Canada today, who really KNOW "Fruit-a-tives" to be a splendid remedy.

Four years ago, "Fruit-a-tives" were an unsolved problem in the brain of one of Canada's leading physicians.

Today, over a quarter of a million of Canadians know them for what they are—a positive cure for Stomach, Liver, Kidney, Bowel and Skin Troubles.

"Fruit-a-tives" have cured stubborn cases of Constipation—Chronic Rheumatism—Skin Eruption—that defied ordinary remedies. The cures of Biliousness, Indigestion, Headaches, Pain in the Back, Nervousness and Irregularity of the Bowels—are numbered by the thousands. "Fruit-a-tives" move the bowels just as fruit moves them and leaves them healthy.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices and tonics in tablet form—with the increased medicinal action made possible by the chemical change which takes place when the juices are combined.
