THE 5 P.M. EDITION IT IS A GHOST STORY

SAID DULLMAN GOES TO "DARK HOLE"

Man Who Tried to Blow Up Welland Canal Becomes Obstreperous And Is Put Out of Sight.

Ottawa, July 9.—Dullman, the mysterious life prisoner, who is behind the walls of Kingston penitentiary, and who is probably the most celebrated criminal in any Canadian penitentiary, has, it is announced, been sent to the dark hole and stone pile, because he refused point blank to work.

No criminal more interested in the department of justice than does this man. He is of scholarly attainments and knows every part of the world like a checker-board; but he has kept his past life to himself, and no one knows what he is or whence he came. All he will say is that no one but himself is to blame for the fiendish attempt to blow up the Welland canal and he is glad that no one was killed.

Not long ago he had a good job in the penitentiary keeping books, but fancying himself slighted he refused to work and went to the dark hole without a murmur.

It Is a Ghost Story.

So far as can be ascertained it is a ghost story which tells of a convict having suffered punishment in the penitentiary for offences against the regulations.

The prison authorities say that he has been a good convict amenable to all orders, and quietly and earnestly fulfilling all duties put upon him. He is still at his old job, on the stone pile in the prison yard.

He speaks stonily with considerable ability, having learned through long pounding the most vulnerable spot in the warden's breast before him.

He is not given to conversation, maintaining the reserve that characterized him during his trial at Welland. It is thought that his exemplary conduct is due to the hope that he may be released before many years.

RELATIONS ARE MUCH STRAINED.

London, July 10.—Great Britain, to-day, acknowledges the possibility of war between the United States and Japan. Confession of this belief is significantly evident in preparations, being made by the government to prevent Great Britain being drawn into such a conflict despite her treaty with Japan.

The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, at The Hague, says that as a result of his enquiries he learns the Japanese-American situation is really strained, although both governments are trying to conceal the fact. He asserts that, since June 20th, the question has entered upon an acute phase. Japan has been sending the United States extremely categorical notes stating without bitterness, but in the clearest terms, that unless Washington is able to control California, Japan will consider herself free to act directly against California.

Foresees Grave Complications.

Ottawa, July 10.—"We hope this war cloud may soon be dissipated by the sun of diplomacy, but before that can happen, the people to the south of us must realize that Japan cannot be bluffled, and that their diplomatic dealings with the government at Tokio must be marked by honesty of

The Victim Of a Very Mysterious Assault.

MAJOR THACKER.

Halifax, N.S., July 10.—Major Thacker, commanding the Royal Canadian Artillery in camp at McNab's Island, was the victim of a mysterious and violent assault in the dead hours of Monday night. Some one, as yet unknown, crept under the canvas tent and struck the major across the forehead with a tent pin, as he lay asleep. The officer was rendered unconscious. He had a terrible gash from which the blood flowed profusely. It was three o'clock in the morning when he regained consciousness and called for help. A general alarm was sounded, which brought every one in the camp on parade. The roll was called and every man was found present. A search of the woods was ineffective.

It is believed the assault was committed by one of the soldiers, but no suspicion attaches to any particular individual.

HAVE NOT SEEN EACH OTHER SINCE 1822.

"Young Folks" at Wedding—General Invitations Issued to All Persons More Than Ninety Years Old to be Present.

St. Louis, Mo., July 10.—Invitations to the wedding of John B. Bunden, 101 years old, and Miss Rose McGuire, 100 years old, of Tate Springs, Tenn., on August 26th, have been issued by J. B. Bunden, Jr., of No. 3,400 East Avenue, St. Louis, a nephew of the prospective bridegroom. The elder Mr. Bunden is now journeying to England to claim his bride-to-be, and they are expected to return the latter part of July.

General invitations have been sent to every person more than ninety years old to attend the ceremony and remain at the Bunden home, in Tate Springs, as long as they desire. According to information received by the nephew of the centenarian, there will be 235 "boys and girls," all ninety years and over, in attendance. The centenarian bride-to-be is said to be a guest of his nephew in St. Louis several weeks ago.

A rare romance lies back of the announcement. Away back in 1822 John Bunden and Rose McGuire lived on adjoining farms in Tennessee. They loved each other as children, but soon after their engagement the girl's parents decided to return to their home in England. The sweethearts were broken-hearted, but parted without any agreement to meet again. The girl returned to England and the young man went to California as a "forty-second."

Mr. Bunden prospered. He spent a small fortune searching for his one-time sweetheart. Finally he learned that she was in England, and, true to his heart, had never married. He returned to Tennessee and purchased the two old homesteads. Then letters were exchanged and he learned Miss Rose still loved him, although three-quarters of a century had elapsed since they parted, and that she was willing to join heart and hand.

The house party at the Tate Springs homestead promises to be most interesting. The bridegroom proposes to have embodied in a booklet the portrait and life sketch of every guest. This souvenir will be issued about August 1st, so that the guests may have opportunity to become acquainted with one another before they meet at the wedding. In addition to sending their photograph and life history, each guest has been requested to give his or her definition of love.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bongard, Picton, will leave for a trip to Calgary and the coast. They expect to be gone almost for a couple of months.

Philip Ketcheson, Tweed, charged with indecent assault upon two little girls named Arbutick and Casey, was committed for trial. He was allowed out on bail.

An interesting social event took place on June 26th, at the residence of the bride, Roblin's Mills, when Miss Orser was united in marriage to Harold Cunningham.

Finey Inspector Marsh Clark, visited the vicinity of Little Sandy Bay, West Point, on Friday last, and brought into town a quantity of gill nets which he had captured.

Word reached Almonte, on Saturday evening of the accidental drowning of Peter Drynan, son of Bruce Drynan. The young man left in the spring for the mining regions about Cobalt, and lately was with a prospect party in the Larder Lake region.

A porch-climber operated in Smith's Falls, on Monday evening, for the first time, when Senator Frost's residence was entered and all Mrs. Frost's jewelry, except what she was wearing, carried off.

Miss M. J. McDonagh, formerly a resident of Toronto, died on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. G. E. Vandusen, and was buried on the following day in Glenwood cemetery, Picton. The deceased had many friends in Picton and the county.

Lightning struck and damaged a dwelling owned by Mrs. Joseph Onyon, Colborne, and occupied by John Nobles, and also struck Miss Campbell's house at Lakeport. In both instances the inmates of the dwellings were stunned.

Where Is Alfred Herod?

A Watertown despatch says that Manager Loren E. Johnston, of the New Woodruff, in that place, received a letter from Canon Starr, of this city, enquiring after Alfred Herod which it will be remembered, disappeared about the first of the month, going over to Cape Vincent and supposedly on route to Watertown. In his letter the local clergyman described Herod as "short, thickset, with a large head, bulging eyes, and a heavy brown mustache." The description tallies fairly well with that of the man found hanged in Brockville, last Sunday, but he was five feet seven inches in height, while Herod goes five feet two inches only. The coincidence was communicated to Canon Starr, however. The current report about the city, at present, is that Herod was seen and recognized in Rochester by one who knew him well.

Score Of Indians Starve In Northern Forests.

Quebec, July 10.—A despatch from Roberval was received in town yesterday, bringing news of the death from starvation of twenty-one Indians in the forest about Lake Mistassini. The Indians, twenty-one in number, are stated to have left Mistassini, about three hundred miles north of Lake St. John, about the end of March, intending to make the journey to Roberval 13 feet. They brought little provisions with them, depending upon the animals which they would encounter upon their trip for their sustenance. Their chase, however, failed them, and they succumbed one after another to the pangs of starvation. But one of the party managed to survive, and he has just brought the news to Roberval, after a journey full of hardships and suffering.

Plunkett Brings Unconscious Man From River.

Smith's Falls, Ont., July 10.—Alfred O'Farrell has the distinction probably of being nearer death and escaping than any man in Smith's Falls. While bathing in the river below the town, he could swim a little, but he got beyond his depth and could not turn himself about. Then he got excited and went to the bottom, once, twice, thrice. The last time he remained there. Among those who were looking on from the bank was Wallace Plunkett. Dressed as he was, because he saw there was no time for undressing, he plunged in, dived, and brought up the apparently lifeless body of O'Farrell. He found him lying on the bottom. He was perfectly unconscious, and it was feared that he was dead. The work of resuscitation was begun, however, at once, and in about ten minutes the workers were rewarded by signs of returning consciousness on O'Farrell's part. This gave rest to their labors. A messenger was despatched for a doctor, but when he reached the scene his services were not needed. Plunkett's action will probably be placed before the Hulsean Society official.
