$2 straw hats for $1 at Jenkins. Ald. W. E. Nettle is very anxious to have the city exploit the power question, as he is looking for the city to pay for what may be a street railway benefit.

Try Bibby's tonight. "Ald. Bigney, suit a citizen to day, had as much right to celebrate with the Orangemen, and in fact more so, than the 14th Regiment had to participate in Independence Day jubilation in Watertown, N.Y."

"The proprietor of the Freeman was avenged by one of the file and drum bands yesterday and was greatly pleased. The musicians rendered 'The Star Spangled Banner' at special request, and were given an encore.

See Bibby's display straw hats. A citizen who drives the delivery wagon for a local firm of grocers was placing some goods on board the steamer Metha, yesterday afternoon, and failed to reach the gang plank again until the steamer had pulled out. Jenkins for flannel pants. "Sham and Supersham," with the Living Age for July 6th, reprints from "Hawwood's," a good specimen of the vitriolic style in criticism which has almost gone out of fashion.

George Bernard Shaw has been the recipient of so much adulation that a lit-tle of some criticism will do him no harm. The Urtext in India is explained in its origin and significance by a native Indian writer, Anwar Ali, in an article from the Nineteenth Century.

Attractive summer hose at Bibby's. Quite an interesting scrap took place at the Grand - Trunk station, yesterday evening, as the Orangemen were unstrapping for their homes, after celebrating the centenary of the war of 1812.

Objection to some remarks and started in to clean up. P.C. "Nick" Timmerman was close by and got into the meshes. The offenders escaped but the mockery was relieved for a few minutes at any rate. It was the best of many good rounds which were in evidence.

He will likely leave for his home this afternoon. He is in the penitentiary about one month. Thompson soon after two o'clock, walked out of the penitentiary a free man. He was heartily congratulated on his release by prison officials and others. While in the prison he was a worker in the dormitories.

The pardon came at noon today. He left the prison wearing the clothes he had on when he entered the prison. He had little to say, beyond the remark, "I don't want to see this place again." His home is in London.
