Porto Rico was ceded to the United States in 1898 at the conclusion of the Spanish-American War, and is permanently a possession of the United States.

Since the American occupation the increase in production of sugar, tobacco and fruits, the principal exports (except coffee, which is third in importance), has been very great, for the reason that these products go into the United States from Porto Rico free of duty, while all other countries have to pay heavy duties.

The altered position of the island, politically and commercially, has so stimulated trade that the total exports, which in 1901 were $8,583,962, have shown large gains each year, the amount in 1906 having been $23,-257,530. The rate of development of the business of the island is further evidenced by the totals of imports, which in 1901 were $9,366,230, and in 1906 were $21,827,665. This rate of progress bids fair to continue with increased momentum, the climate and the fertility of the soil responding to better methods of cultivation which

The population of Porto Rico, according to the census of 1900, was 952,243, the island being said to have the third densest rural population in the world. The Porto Rico Railways Co., Limited, was formed in October, 1906, under a Canadian cuarter, and ac-business of San Juan, the capital and chief city of the island; Santurce, a populous suburb, and Rio Piedras, a town 71/2 miles distant from San Juan. The water power, which is estimated to be sufficient for all the needs of the company, is now being developed at Comerio Falls on the La Plata River, 15 miles from San Juan. An issue of $800,000 of bonds is now being made for an extension of 171/2 miles from Rio Piedras through Trujillo-Alto to Caguas, the centre of a large and fertile valley, thickly cultivated, principally with sugar cane and tobacco, and with tobacco factories and sugar centrals in and tributary to it. This will be the only railway running into the interior from San Juan, and it must, from the nature of things, show heavy freight and pas-

An important contract has been made with the Porto Rican Leaf Tobacco Co., a subsidiary company of the American Tobacco Company, under which the Porto Rico Railways Co, hauls at remunerative rates all the freight of the tobacco company between Caguas and San Juan for a period of ten years. The population along the line of railway is estimated at fully 100,000.

The Company's electric raffway and electric lighting business has been in successful operation for years. Net earnings were $75,402.31 in 1905, and $99,154 in 1906, while results for the first five months of the present year indicate net earnings for 1997 of over $140,000. These earnings were produced by only $850,000 of the full bond issue of $2,300,000, as the proceeds of an issue of $650,000 of bonds made last October for developing the water power, double tracking, buying new cars, etc., and the proceeds of this issue of $800,000 have yet to be represented in earning power. There is thus the unusual feature in an offering of bonds carrying a stock bonus that

The Present Rate of Net Earnings of the Porto-Rico Rallways Co. considerably exceeds the interest on the whole bond issue of $2,300,000, although the proceeds of nearly two-thirds of the whole bond issue are being spent so as to greatly increase both gross and

Messrs. J. G. White & Co., of New York, constructing and operating engineers, have made a careful estimate of earnings and expenses of the entire system for the calendar year 1908, which shows net earnings sufficient to pay interest on the $2,300,000 of outstanding bonds, leaving a surplus of over 5% upon the $2,800,000 of outstanding stock. Prospects are favorable for large increases in net earnings year by year, as gross earnings are expected to expand steadily, and Messrs. White & Co.'s estimates are on the basis of 46 1/2 operating ratea high rate for operation by water power in a tropical country. The company is well equipped for the successful management of its business, both through the special experience of a number of members of the Board of Directors and through the Consulting Engineer's intimate knowledge of West Indian conditions. A LARGE PORTION OF THE ISSUE OF $800,000 OF BONDS HAVING BEEN SOLD, WE NOW, SUB-

An arrangement has been made under which subscribers for other than even thousands may even up fractional shares, at the time subscriptions are made, by buying or selling on the basis of $30 per share.

Subscriptions are payable as follows: 12 1-2% upon subscription, and 20% each on the First Days of September, October, November and December Next. Bonds may be paid for in full on subscription, or on any instalment date thereafter.

Applications will be made in due course to have the stock of the company listed on the Toronto and Montreal Stock Exchanges Subscription books may be closed at any time without notice.

The right is reserved to allot smaller amounts than applied for, and to reject subscriptions. To insure allotments, out-of-town subscribers may telegraph subscriptions at our expense.

Prespectus and application forms furnished on request. We regard an investment in the thirty-year 5% gold bonds of the Porto Rico Railways Company, Limited, at 92%, as safe and desirable in itself, in view of the considerable surplus earning power over bond interest, and particularly attractive in view of the bonds being accompanied with a bonus of 50% of their par value in stock, which should come into dividends within a comparatively short time.
