KINGSTONIAN CHARGED WITH GRAND LARCENY.

Charles Smith, Ontario Street, Placed Under Arrest and Taken to Glen Falls, N.Y.—His Denial Charge Made.

In the custody of Under Sheriff P. O'Connell, Charles Smith, aged twenty-three, employed at the locomotive works, and residing on Ontario street, left on Tuesday morning on the five o'clock boat for Glen Falls, N.Y. He will have to face a charge of grand larceny on the other side of a grand jury. He is accused of stealing a horse and rig from Thurlow C. Leavens, a liveryman at Glen Falls.

Smith was placed under arrest at his home about four o'clock, Monday afternoon, by Acting Detective James Bateson and Constable Thomas Mullinger. He spent the night in the cells, and then left for Glen Falls, with the sheriff and Mr. Leavens, who came to Kingston yesterday.

The Kingston police were communicated with about a week ago, concerning Smith, who was learned, through a Kingstonian, and Officer Bateson, who was given the case, located him, and his arrest was then an easy matter.

Smith claim that he did not steal the outfit, but says that after driving to a place known as Huffman's Ferry, about fifty miles from Glen Falls, he gave a man $10 to take the horse and rig back to the livery stable at Glen Falls.

"He will be given a chance to straighten out all this story," said Sheriff O'Connell, when speaking to a Whig representative. "He says that he can take me to the place where the deal was made, and show me the man who promised to take the rig back, and on our return we will look for this man."

According to the story told by Sheriff O'Connell, Smith hired the outfit from Liveryman Leavens on June 20th last, claiming that he was a bootmaker from Albany, and that he wanted the rig to go to a place called Lake George, ten miles from Glen Falls, where he had a job to attend to. He said that he would return with the rig in three hours, or at the latest inside of five hours. But he failed to keep his promise.

After waiting a reasonable time, the liveryman, naturally, became very anxious about his horse and rig, and Sheriff O'Connell was told the circumstances. The officer found that Smith had been out driving with a young woman, who, by a strange coincidence, bears the name of Smith. And it was from the young woman that Sheriff O'Connell received the tip which resulted in the locating of the prisoner.

Smith, she told the sheriff that she had been out driving with a young man, whose name was Smith, and whose home was in Kingston, Ont. She also furnished the address of the man, and it was plain sailing. After a telegram had been sent, a little skirmishing done by the local police, Smith was soon gathered in by the nets of the law.

Smith was quite willing to go back to Glen Falls.

RAN THE RAPIDS LATE.

Dr. R. E. Sparks Tells of the Interesting Trip.

Dr. R. E. Sparks writes to the Whig as follows:

Steamship Dominion, July 20.—We left Toronto yesterday morning, per steamer Toronto, and arrived in Kingston at night. The steamer Brockville was late arriving at Prescott, consequently, when we arrived at Cornwall, we were unable to run the rapids. We were obliged to wait until the morning of the 21st, when we were able to run the rapids. This caused much disappointment among the tourists aboard.

However, we arrived at the head of the world-famous rapids just as the sun was sinking in the west. The evening was clear and the moon was shining brightly. The water was calm and the rapids were in the distance. We were able to see the rapids in all their glory. This was a most interesting experience. We were able to see the rapids in all their glory. This was a most interesting experience.

At about six o'clock this morning we steamed out of the harbour en route for Liverpool. As we passed Three Rivers about eleven o'clock, we met the steamer Lady Grey, with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and suite aboard. Great preparations were being made for his reception at Montreal. The weather is fine. We are drawing near Quebec. Thus far we have never missed a meal.

NO TROUBLE FOR HIM.

W. C. Andrews Has No Fear of Handcuffs.

W. C. Andrews, of 21 Chatham St., Bradford, who is visiting in the city, knows him best. He is a well-known character in the city, and he does not mind handcuffs that well entitles him to that name.

Andrews was a caller at police headquarters last night, and asked to have his feet shackled and a pair of handcuffs placed upon him. He refused to do so, and he was taken to the police station. He was there for some time, but he was not troubled in any way.

A TERRIBLE LESSON.

A Lad Shot Through the Body.

News of a sad and fatal accident which occurred at Old Station, a village just this side of Sharbot Lake, has reached the city. On Monday, a young lad, named Wayne, put his hand in the pocket of his older brother's coat and drew forth a revolver. He was fooling with the weapon when it went off, the bullet penetrating the body of a younger brother and almost instantly killing him. The unfortunate occurrence has caused much sorrow in the neighborhood, and teaches another terrible lesson.

Strength of Liberalism.

The strength of the liberal party in Nova Scotia was strikingly shown when James O'Brien, government candidate, won a decisive victory in the Hants by-election, securing the large majority but one ever given to a candidate of either party in thirty years. Hants is one of the closest constituencies in Canada, and the opposition made a dead set upon it under their leader, C. E. Tanner, and their paid organizer. It is a strong made prohibition, and the opposition added to this was a campaign of slander, personal abuse and reckless misrepresentation unparalleled in Nova Scotia. The county was swarming with campaigners, and the contest was exceedingly hot and acrimonious. The vote was: James O'Brien, liberal, 1,728; Everett O'Brien, conservative, 1,722; majority, 356. Justice Dryden, who vacated the seat, had a majority of only fifty in the general election last June. A great political demonstration followed at Windsor.

Their gentle action and good effect on the system really made them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection."

The Work Is Proceeding. When asked about the O'Kilk street sewer, the city engineer said that work was proceeding, and that efforts would be made to have the extension laid before the summer end. The work was not being done by his department, but under contract. The construction lay with the contractor. As city engineer, all he had to do was to see that the pipe was satisfactorily laid. Other details with the contractor lay with the board of works.

Left For Home. The Ottawa Old Boys and Girls, who have been visiting in Kingston, returned home, last night, per special train, which left the K. & P. depot at 8:30 o'clock. The station platform was crowded with people, who were present to say goodbye, and as the train pulled out three hearty cheers were given by the home guard. The visitors expressed themselves as having a very pleasant stay in the city, and had a good many nice things to say about the old Limestone city.

GREAT MISTAKE MADE IF ENGLISH ARE TREATED AS FOREIGNERS

Because of Their Cockney Speech—Chance We Have to Make Them Ardent Imperialist-Canadians.

There is a rather regrettable tendency on the part of children, and of their elders, too, to treat the immigrants coming here from England, and especially from London, as practically "foreigners." Of course the Cockney accent, in its purity, is a bit difficult to understand, and to the ear unaccustomed to it, might be mistaken for a tongue but rightly connected with the English of our knowledge. At the same time it would be well for parents and school teachers to remind the children that the flat harshness of our Canadian speech strikes very jarringly on the English ear, but that we would be somewhat offended if our brothers and sisters from the little isle threw after us upon the street the taunt "Foreigner."

We want to teach these people from home and conditions, of which we in this wide free country can have no conception, of the blessings of self-reliance, of the need of working, if we would eat in this country just as in the old land. We want to raise them to the plane of self-respecting individuality on which most of our own poorer classes rest. At the same time let us commend them for the soft and gentle speech, for the respectful demeanor, which they have brought with them, and which may well be a lesson to us, who have been so busy hewing out homes and clearing up the wild that we have forgotten almost, the grace of those manners which make the man.

We have a great chance to make these little Englishers staunch, steady imperialists, and therefore the best kind of citizens for this Canada of ours but we will not do it by sneering at what seem to us peculiarities or by forgetting that they have come straight from the land which bore us in her side.

They Are Not Worrying. In a letter recently received from Deseronto, by the Belleville Intelligencer, the statement was made that eleven immigrant families were recently "dumped" in that town, every one of the families having from five to seven children. As is usually the case, none of the immigrants trot in the Rockefeller class, and what those poor people are going to do when winter comes on the writer of the letter hates to guess. However, the immigrants, good luck to 'em, are as jolly as sandboys, and are quite satisfied to let everybody else do the worrying. After the grinding poverty, rife among the poorer classes in the old country, the conditions in this land of plenty at present make them feel something like the Israelites of old when they reached the happy land of Canaan. May they never see the reverse side of the picture.
