Philosophy
One who pauses to consider cannot help but realize the merchant who sells few and does not advertise must make fabulous profits in order to stay in business, while the merchant who advertises can afford to give better values because he sells many. A gross of hats can be bought cheaper than a single dozen, therefore sold cheaper. The consumer is the one who profits and alive to the fact these days that the merchant who keeps a shouting in the newspaper is the merchant to trade with—the merchant who buys to sell many at moderate profit.

TELEGRAM OF GREETING.
Americans Admire the Kaiser's Pottery.
Berlin, July 23.—A party of American millionaires, at the head of whom is Andrew Carnegie, received quite unusual marks of honor at the hands of the kaiser during the Kiel regatta.
They visited Cadenen, in East Prussia, at the special invitation of the emperor, to inspect the porcelain factory and farm there which belong to his majesty.
The party travelled from Kiel by a special train provided by the kaiser, and were welcomed on their arrival at Cadenen by officials of the imperial household. There they were shown a museum in the emperor's villa, adjoining the factory. During the meal a telegram from the emperor arrived, bidding the Americans welcome to his Cadenen house. The guests telegraphed in a reply, expressing their respectful gratitude for the emperor's gracious invitation and warmest admiration of everything they had seen at Cadenen.
The millionaires congratulated the emperor on his possession of successful factories and prosperous farms, and assured him that they were deeply impressed by his wonderful efficiency as a practical business man and his abilities as a scientific farmer.
Some of the millionaires will now come to Berlin to inspect the shops in the centre of the city, known as the Hohenzollern stores, where products of the emperor's factories at Cadenen are sold.

PAYMENT IS REFUSED.
France Involved in Military Scandal.
Paris, July 23.—France is threatened with a serious political scandal in connection with the supply of beds for the army.
The government contract is out for the revision and upkeep of the beds at so much a year, and it is stated that the twenty years' contract given in 1877 was at a much higher rate than ever was paid before.
As the contract is now expiring, the government, in accordance with its terms, should take over the company's beds and pay $1,200,000 for them, and the parliament has been asked to vote this amount.
But the parliamentary committee advises against any such payment, on the ground that the contract of 1877 was a dishonest one, and that a certain politician, whose name has not been divulged, received $400,000 as commission to insure the signing of the contract.

NEW SAINT CREATED.
Rome, July 24.—The pope has decreed the canonization of Joseph Oriol, a pious priest, who lived his life in Barcelona. He has also sanctioned the miracle attributed to Marie Madeleine Postel, the founder of a religious order for women, who recently was canonized.

A CHEAP TAUNTY HERO.
This is the Character Given Orchard.
Boise, Idaho, July 24.—Lawyer E. F. Richardson, brought his two days' argument in defence of William D. Haywood, to a close at half past eight o'clock, last night, with a fierce denunciation of Harry Orchard and James McParland, the detective. He declared that the theory that religion actuated Orchard in making his statement was a cheap tawdry hero. He declared that, though he had denied it, immunity had been promised this man for his confession. One circumstance rather talked the course in his behalf, and that was Orchard's attempt to commit suicide after his confession, but he really did not think the journey between Trieste and Salzburg by 110 miles.

Will Be Held Into Sad Affair.
WILL NOT SURRENDER

THE SHOOTING SOLDIER TO SHERIFF PIPSETT.
Orders Must Come They Say From the Secretary of War—Mr. Caidenhead Has Placed His Case in Hands of the Proper Authorities to Seek An Explanation.
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 24.—There may be an international enquiry over the shooting, on Monday night, of Miss Elizabeth Caidenhead, of Kingston, Ont., by Private Gillette, at Fort Brady, who had shot at an escaping deserter.
The officers at the fort have declined to surrender Private Gillette to Sheriff Pissett, pending orders from the secretary of war, to whom the accident has been reported.
George M. Caidenhead, of the Canadian "Soo," brother of the victim, said yesterday "I sincerely trust the matter in the hands of proper authorities in the American government and asked for an explanation."

Secretary of State Notified.
Sault Ste. Marie, July 23.—Miss Caidenhead was in town on a visit with a relative, George M. Caidenhead, Spring street, chief clerk in Major & Broek's hardware store. When struck in the head, she fell between Mr. and Mrs. Caidenhead, succumbing immediately. The body will be sent to Fergus, where her relatives reside. Great carelessness is alleged on the part of the sentry. The secretary of state has been wired to take the matter up with the minister of war at Washington and a strict investigation will be held.

It was dedicated yesterday. The building was turned over by Mr. Westinghouse in person, who came for the purpose from New York.

HOLDS THE FUNDS.
Prominent in Political and Financial Life.

Charles H. Treat
Hon. Charles Henry Treat, treasurer of the United States, was born at Frankfort, Maine. He was educated at the public schools in Bucksport, Me. Mr. Treat married Miss Frances Emily Huxford. He went to Delaware in 1877, and soon became a power in politics in that state, just missing election as a United States senator. He was interested largely in manufacturing in Delaware. In 1892 Mr. Treat went to New York city, where he became prominent in political and financial life. He has been treasurer of the United States since June 30th, 1905. He is president of the Manila Navigation Company. He has a home in Washington and a summer residence at East Orange, N.J.

MILLIONAIRE ANGRY
CUSTOM OFFICIALS SEARCH MORGAN YACHT.
Quest For Works of Art Aboard Ends in Discomfiture of Italians.
Milan, July 24.—A great sensation has been caused here by the news which has leaked out of an overhaul of Pierpont Morgan's yacht, the Corsica, recently by the customs authorities at Venice, in consequence of special orders from the central government in Rome.
The celebrated American millionaire repeated hurried visits to Italy, and the frequent presence of his yacht in Adriatic and Mediterranean waters have occasioned grave suspicions on the part of the Italian government, which has been more than ordinarily watchful and disturbed of late owing to the notable growth of the clandestine export trade in precious works of art.

WAS A WOMAN-HATER.
Swiss Town Inherits Fortune of Miser.
Geneva, July 21.—Jacob Luderech, aged forty years, known as the strangest man in Switzerland, has died at Masingen, canton of Berne, leaving a fortune of nearly $50,000. He was a peasant, a miser, a money lender, a woman-hater, a testotoler, a non-smoker, and a vegetarian. He was often fined for working on Sundays.
Luderech never allowed a doctor or any other person to enter his house, and had no friends and no relatives. On several occasions burglars entered his house, but found nothing of value to take away.
Before his death he burned all his papers, and his fortune is, therefore, inherited by the authorities of Masingen.

Widow to Write of English High Life.
London, July 24.—Lady Randolph Spencer Churchill, or, as she now prefers to be called, Mrs. George Cornwallis West, is engaged in writing her memoirs, and they are to be published simultaneously in England and America in the course of next year. Since the memorable April day in 1871, when the marriages of Jennie Jerome, daughter of the late Leonard Jerome, and New York, to Lord Randolph Churchill took place at the British embassy in Paris, the Lady Randolph has been in close touch with all the most interesting people of her adopted country. To take only three figures which belong to history: Queen Victoria, Disraeli and Parnell. On each of these she will be able to throw a new light.
Mrs. Churchill described her to a friend as his ideal of the woman known to readers of "Lothair" as "Divine Theodora," and at the time Lord Randolph amazed his friends and confounded his enemies by his original line on the Irish sympathy, it was openly said his sympathy with the nationalists was owing to Lady Randolph, who had been converted to home rule by Father Healy.
Mrs. George Cornwallis West's reminiscences of Queen Victoria cover an intimate knowledge of the late British sovereign and her court for a quarter of a century. The Queen took a keen interest in everything that concerned the hospital ship Maine, and one of the last long conversations held by her, on an public matter was with Lord Randolph Churchill, who, during the last autumn of the Queen's life, was staying at Invercauld, while the court was at Balmoral.
It is an open secret that Lady Randolph proved of most admirable assistance to her son while he was compelling his father's life. She is a voluminous and brilliant letter-writer and a series of vivid letters, written by her in the winter of 1870-1870, when accompanying the hospital ship Maine to South Africa, were published in the Anglo-Saxon Review, which was founded and edited by herself, and contains many articles which few other editors could have procured.

WAS CRUSHED.
And Died Very Soon After Accident.
FLY WHEEL TURNED

HAD STEAM ENOUGH TO FORCE IT AROUND.
Joseph Chambers Died in Five Minutes—Leaves Widow and Eight Children—Put Head and Shoulders Between Fly Wheel Spokes.
Tweed, Ont., July 24.—A fatal accident occurred at the sulphide mine near here, Monday evening. The victim was Joseph Chambers, engineer. The unfortunate man had just finished his work and had shut off steam. The machinery had stopped with the crank shaft of the air-compressor on "center." Chambers put his head and shoulders between the spokes of the fly wheel in order to reach a bolt which needed tightening. The weight of his body on the spoke of the fly wheel was sufficient to turn the wheel slightly, and there being some steam still in the cylinder the fly made a quick revolution and caught Chambers between the fly wheel and the crank shaft. He was so badly injured that he died in a few minutes. He leaves a widow and eight children.

OFFICIALS QUIT HOUSE.
Protests in Song in Austrian Parliament.
Vienna, July 23.—A remarkable scene was witnessed in the Austrian parliament recently.
The Ruthenians, a Russian group of thirty-three members, denounced the Polish officials in Galicia for their conduct at the general elections and demanded a parliamentary inquiry. The proposal, however, was supported only by the socialists, while all the other Slaves, as well as the Poles, Czechs, Germans, Clericals and anti-Semites voted against them.
Seeing themselves outvoted, all the Ruthenians resorted to protest by song, and vigorously raised a revolutionary chorus with the refrain, "The Ruthenians are not yet lost," and they followed this with another declaring that "We are no longer Russian and Polish slaves."
The effect was striking. The singing of the president's bell failed to stop the demonstration, and the premier and other ministers left the house.
