YEAR IN THE CENTRAL

PICTON YOUTH SENT DOWN BY THE MAGISTRATE.

Ross Palen Pleaded Guilty to Stealing $99 From the Russell Hotel—Had Been Having Fast Time.

With tears in his eyes, Ross Palen, aged nineteen, of Pictou, stood before Magistrate Farrell, in the police court, this morning, and admitted having stolen $99, the property of George Jeanman, proprietor of the Russell hotel, Prince street. He was sentenced to one year in the Central prison.

Palen was arrested, Tuesday night, by Police Constable Patrick Driscoll, that officer, in company with Constable James Megarry, having been working on the case.

The robbery was reported on the night of July 22nd, and when the $99 took hold of the case, there was no clue whatever for them to work upon. The burglar got on to the young man's tracks, however, and when he was arrested, he admitted his guilt, when placed under arrest, he had only $12 in his possession, and no doubt, from the time he has been in the city, the rest of the $99 had been spent.

Palen has been enjoying a fast life. He was noticed to have "money to burn," as the saying goes, and only on Monday last, gave his "tenner," a drive to Kingston Mills, to a number of friends, and also gave his friends a banquet. He spent the money in a free and easy way, and was not a bit backward in letting people know that he had money. But like many young men, who have started out in the same way, he came to grief. The police found that he had been around the Russell hotel, and also noticed that he had plenty of money. Suspicion was at once turned to him, and he was watched. When Constable Megarry noticed him in the act of changing a $20 bill he arrested him. The arrest took very little time, and the stolen $20 was recovered.

The money had been concealed in a trunk in one of the bed rooms at the hotel, by Mr. Jeanman and how Palen found out where the money was, is a mystery. The young man was not staying at the hotel, but was in and out on several occasions, and was in the wash room several times.

The prisoner told the magistrate that he had taken the money, but apart from this, had nothing to say. When asked by the magistrate for an explanation, he simply dropped his head in shame, and was on the verge of breaking down. He said that his home was in Pictou, where his parents resided, and that he had lived there for six years. He had also lived in Toronto for about a year and a half. He made no plea for himself, and when the magistrate said that he must spend a year in the Central prison, he walked out of the court room with an officer, without making any remark.

The Alhion hotel was robbed of $40 recently, and it was thought that perhaps the prisoner had committed this theft also, but he denied having any knowledge of this robbery.

ANOTHER FIGHT REPORTED.

Englishman and Scotchman Figure in the Case.

Fights are becoming quite numerous in Kingston. The latest reported was one in which an Englishman and a Scotchman figured. The Scotchman, well-known, and who is employed on street work, is the complainant, and he has threatened to take action before Police Magistrate Farrell. He says that an Englishman, who was employed on the job with him, but who was discharged for striking him, a few days ago, arrived on the scene while he was busy at his work early Wednesday afternoon, and without any provocation whatever struck him a blow in the face.

The Scotchman declares that he did not strike back, and when asked why he did not, he replied:

"I cannot see very well, and I did not want to take the chance of destroying my eyesight." He considered that he could get better satisfaction in taking the case to court, and if he does not change his mind, a busy time is in store for Magistrate Farrell.

KAISER MEETS LIFE SAVERS.

Lands at the Skaw and Praises Heroism.

Copenhagen, July 31.—Kaiser Wilhelm, who is believed to be in Norwegian waters, caused surprise, yesterday, by arriving at the Skaw, Denmark, on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern. There is no lander stage at the Skaw and his majesty went ashore in a fisherman's boat. He wanted to see the men of the life saving establishment there, who have rescued many persons from the perils of the sea. He was introduced by an interpreter to one man who has saved more than 200 lives, and conversed with him for half an hour. Afterwards the Kaiser visited the graves of drowned sailors and placed wreaths on them. He seemed to be deeply moved. He said that the population of the little place certainly must be one of the noblest in the world, as they were always prepared to sacrifice their lives in saving others. He declared that he was proud to make their acquaintance.

Alonso Callon, in the Hamilton police court, was committed for trial on the serious charge of interfering with the course of justice by inducing Mary Conaghan, the complainant against J. M. Barker in a criminal assault case, to leave the country. Callon doped her and took her to Buffalo.

At the Hamilton police court, on Wednesday, Harry McKay was charged with abducting Emma Todd, a fourteen-year-old girl. He was remanded for sentence. McKay is a young married man.

James Gathfeld, a merchant of Midland, Ont., on his way to Preston Springs to take treatment for asthma died, suddenly, at the Daley house, Toronto, of heart failure.

Fremont Fisher, G.T.R., hurt by a heavy coal train moving into a way freight at Milverton.

ALL THE FINES PAID.

The four men who figured in the assault case at the police court, this morning, and fined, paid up. The police court treasury was enriched to the amount of $34 as a result. Besides this, the young men had to settle with their lawyer, and they found that fighting and creating a disturbance was a very expensive pleasure.

MARRIED ON WEDNESDAY.

There was large consolation to Rev. J. G. Dunlop, who intended sailing for the Orient, via London, but was prevented by some accident to the ship he intended going over in, when he found that by remaining over he could marry his eldest sister, Miss Minnie Dunlop, eldest daughter of William Dunlop, Union street, to the man of her choice, Franklin Covert, a successful commercial traveller.

The ceremony took place, on Wednesday morning, at the home of the bride's father, and the happy pair were unattended. The bride wore a becoming dress of white silk with lace, and also the groom's gift, a gold bracelet, gem-set. Her going-away gown was of navy blue cloth. Mr. and Mrs. Covert have gone west on their tour.

PASTOR LIKES TO TIP.

Thinks Practice in Europe is Very Commendable.

Atlanta, July 30.—Rev. Dr. J. W. Lee, a leading Southern Methodist minister, in a sermon, declared the world is growing better—that Christ is drawing all men to him daily, and that the practice of tipping is doing a great deal to make the world better. He said he thought the practice of "tipping" the waiters and porters and all who waited on the public a good one, and he encouraged his congregation to make a habit of tipping, for, said he, "tipping men those who wait on you more polite and appreciative, and I would rather buy kindness than not have it at all."

"I have just returned from Europe, and I think the old world is growing better, and much of the betterment is due to the general practice of tipping. Let everybody tip. It helps the one who tips, the one tipped, and makes the world better."

PEA-NUT POLITICS.

The officers in charge of the Lindsay counterfeiters marched the prisoners from the station, through the city, to an hotel. His orders communicated to all the counties alike, were to hire as cabmen only Messrs McFadden and Coyle.

Neither of these prized counterfeiters was present, and Cabman Boyd was told that he would not do. How proud Attorney-General Foy will be of such a grand exhibition of the speils system! He should also feel like complimenting the officers in charge upon their impressive humility.

NO CLOSE SEASON

THIS IS WHAT A FISHERMAN BELIEVES IN.

Salmon Trout Eat Eggs of White Fish—Government Hatcheries the Only Remedy For the Present.

Windsor, Ont., July 31.—C. W. Gauthier, one of the most prominent of Canadian fishermen, and one of the foremost authorities on fish, told the Canadian Fish Commission, meeting here, that there should be no close season for any kind of fish. Government hatcheries would rapidly re-establish stock in the great lakes. Salmon trout should not be protected because they eat the eggs of white fish and do not seem to be decreased in number by the annual catch. Discussing the report he said almost the entire number of fish caught by Canadians went to the American shores. Mr. Gauthier said if this exportation were prevented by the government it would kill the fishing industry along the great lakes. Government hatcheries were the only remedy for the present condition. The people of Canada, he said, would receive the same supply of fish as the Americans received from Canadian fishermen if they were willing to pay the same price. Gauthier outlined a plan to have the government establish canneries along the shores of the northern lakes and supply canned herring to the people at an estimated cost of about six cents a pound.
