ADEQUATE PROTECTION.

Mr. Borden and the conservative party are clamoring for "adequate" protection for Canadian industries. They should be reminded, says the Peterboro Examiner, that the application of the fiscal policy of the liberal government—tariff for revenue and incidental protection—yields ample revenue under a lower tariff—15.51 per cent., as against 16.31 under conservative rule—and "adequate" protection for Canadian industries. That the present tariff deals fairly with manufacturers is shown by the fact that during the past five years the capital invested in manufactures in the dominion has increased from $446,000,000 to $840,000,000, a growth of nearly one hundred per cent. "Adequate" protection did not do that in any conservative lustrum, or even decades, under conservative rule, from 1878 to 1898.

LABOR AND THE CHURCH.

The Presbyterian department of church and labor has arranged with the pastors of eleven thousand Presbyterian churches in the United States to discuss some phase of the labor question on September 1st, the Sunday before Labor day. Labor Sunday has become a calendar day in this denomination, and the department announces that it believes that just as memorial day and the several birthdays show the appreciation of the nation for those who rendered patriotic services, and just as the churches' holy days do honor to those who have served mankind spiritually, so Labor Sunday should be observed by the churches in honor of the millions of toilers who daily serve mankind in the humbler walks of life. The plan is said to have received the endorsement of the leading central labor bodies of the country, and practically the entire legal labor unions will attend church in a body at the invitation of the ministers.

The Presbyterian department of church and labor, says the Montreal Witness, was instituted five years ago, its object being to interpret the service to working men, to interpret working men to the church, and to interpret employer and employee to each other, through education, inspiration, mediation and twentieth century methods of Christian work. The department recognizes in a pamphlet it has issued that whatever one may think of the economic value of socialism or the probability of its success as a political party, the fact remains that it has become to many thousands of working men a substitute for the church.

In many cities, in fact, both on this continent, in Europe and Australasia, socialist Sunday schools and preaching services are being held, conducted in some instances by discontented or deposed ministers and priests. The vocabulary of the church has been enlarged; Jesus Christ is proclaimed as the great socialist, and the claim is made that socialism more nearly represents the teachings of the divine man than does the so-called Christianity of the churches. In spite of that the spirit of "class-consciousness" is rapidly developing into a spirit of class hatred, and it is the latter deplorable spirit which the department of church and labor is in the arms to wrestle with. It is recognized that the labor question is a moral and religious one at base, and that it will never be settled on any other basis. The church, therefore, should play a most important part in a problem that concerns all the world—and which cannot be settled by any "little two by four scheme." We can imagine no movement better calculated to substitute a right understanding for the spurious errors than run away with people who see only one side of the labor question, whichever side that may be. The trouble about it is that very few of the ministers are prepared either by experience or study to be competent teachers on the subject. It is probable that this demand upon them will set the whole body of the Presbyterian clergy to studying a question on which, without such study, or following shallow prophets, they are very liable to utter unconvincing credulities.

Ottawa Free Press.

The fact of $29,240,000 imposed by Judge Landis, of Chicago, upon the Standard Oil company for infringement of the interstate commerce act looks like pretty good politics for the republican party, but the public will have to pay for it in the end the consumer of oil will probably soon see the price of his illuminant given a boost.

Fat Was Tangled.

Ladies Home Journal.

Frederick of Prussia had a great mania for enlisting gigantic soldiers into the Royal Guards, and paid an enormous bounty to his recruiting officers for getting them. One day a recruiting sergeant chanced to spy a Hibernian who was at least seven feet high; he accosted him in English and proposed that he should enlist. The idea of military life and a large bounty so delighted Pat that he immediately consented.

But, unless you can speak German the king will not give you so much. "Oh, your majesty," said the Irishman, "sure I don't know a word of German."

"But," said the sergeant, "you can learn in a short time. The king knows every man in the guards, and as he sees you, he will ride up and ask how old you are; you will say 'twenty-seven'; in German, next, how long you have been in the service, you must reply, 'three weeks'; finally, as to whether you are provided with food and clothes, you answer 'both.'"

Pat soon learned his German answer, but he was unable to get the familiar with the questions. As soon as he was asked for the king in review, his majesty rode up to him. Paddy stepped forward with "present sir."

"How old are you?" said the king. "Three weeks," said the Irishman. "How long have you been in the service?" asked his majesty. "Twenty-seven years," said the Irishman. "Am I a fool or are you?" roared the king.

Wives Who Never Speak.

The Korean woman who speaks or even nods her head during a wedding is immediately become an object of ridicule and loses caste, says Tit-Bits. Neither threat nor prayer move her, for the whole household is ever on the alert to catch a single muttered syllable. Her period of silence often lasts a week or more and when complete silence is broken she only uses her tongue for the "most necessary uses."

Some sixty years ago a native of Penzance undertook for a wager of $30, to remain mute for the first month of her marriage. Her husband, not being in the secret, left her, only to return when he was apprised of the real reason of her silence.

A Prussian couple named Dupont quarrelled so bitterly on their wedding day that the wife vowed that her husband should never hear her voice again. His intention went for nothing and to her dying day she kept to the letter of her oath.

A Brun woman whose husband was in hiding from the authorities, inadvertently betrayed his whereabouts to a police spy. As a result the man was taken and received a term of imprisonment. So much did she take to heart this misfortune, brought about by her gossip, that she resolved to remain mute to the end of her life.

PICTON AGAIN AWAKE

STORMED BY PRINCE EDWARD OLD BOYS.

Patrick McManus, Injured By Train at Tonawanda, N.Y.—Rain Most Oppose of the Crops Will Be Harvested.

Picton, Aug. 12.—The key of Picton and county has been virtually turned over to the Prince Edward Old Boys and Girls, and in many instances their whole families. They are receiving a joyous welcome on their annual pilgrimage. They came down from Toronto nearly 500 strong, filling ten coaches of a G.T.R. special, and there were hundreds of people waiting at Picton station to extend a glad hand in wholesome welcome. It was indeed a happy sight, the greeting when the excursionists detrained.

It was sharp one o'clock on Saturday, when the train pulled in, and by the scattering of the coming factory whistles. The town was gay with flags and everybody was happy. Dr. A. Noxon, president, and Dr. A. Rose, secretary of the old boys' association of Toronto, were along with the crowd. On Sunday special services with sermons appropriate for the home-coming were held in all the churches. Many took in Thousand Island excursion.

The feature of the home-coming this year was the laying of the corner stone of Picton's new collegiate institute. This ceremony was today's (Monday) event.

Word was received in town from North Tonawanda, N.Y., that Patrick McManus, of Picton, a sailor, narrowly escaped death while attempting to board a freight train there on Thursday. He slipped as he attempted to climb up the side of one of the cars and rolled under the train. His right leg was crushed near the ankle, and he was cut and bruised about the body. It seems that there has been a strike at Tonawanda and as a result McManus' ship could not get her coal cargo, and the crew were idle. Just previous to the accident he was lunching in the station restaurant, while awaiting his train to Buffalo. Hearing a train rush by the station house he ran out to catch it with the serious result. McManus had to have his leg below the knee amputated. Patrick McManus is well-known about town; his wife and four young children living on Mainland street. Mrs. McManus left Saturday morning to be with her husband.

Harvey Bonnard, of the Standard Bank staff, is the hero of the very narrow escape from drowning, not alone of himself but of his friend, Michael Vandusen. Both are well-known young townsmen, under nineteen years of age. Thursday afternoon they were paddling to Glenora when on a sudden moment the canoe capsized. Mr. Bonnard could swim; Mr. Vandusen could not, and added to this fact, his foot remained caught in the thwart of the canoe and he was unable to get out. Mr. Bonnard, diving under the canoe, grabbed him and threw him over his shoulder. Mr. Bonnard succeeded in getting his companion to the surface and with the latter clinging to one end of the canoe, swam ashore, pulling his frail craft after him.

Unless there is rain, the crops are as good as done for. Such was the consensus of opinion expressed by farmers on Saturday. Tomatoes are fast rotting, and the drought, the blossoms are falling from the vines, and corn is standing still, as it were, for want of moisture. There will be a far-below-the-average crop for straw and hay. The alfalfa is heading out, and somewhat thin, too, before reaching any nominal growth. Farmers are busy with their binders, harvesting the grain. It will two weeks before the factories commence on tomatoes.

Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm, Oakville, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. E. Owens. Mr. and Mrs. Barrie, of Oil City, Pa., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ide C. Hepburn. Misses Florence and Geraldine Farrington, daughter of Mayor Farrington, have gone to Ottawa to spend several weeks. Miss Kathleen Johnson, Belleville, is the guest of Miss Gena Hepburn. Mr. and Mrs. A. Young, visiting in town, have returned to Kingston. Miss Jean Young and Mack Gordon will stay with their aunts, Misses Young, during August. Mrs. Ackerman, Toronto, visiting in town, has returned. Mrs. Morley Currie was the hostess Saturday of a luncheon party in honor of Miss Lucy Clark, Toronto.

Camp Onondaga has been pitched on the shores of West Lake for the fifth season. The campers, all from Syracuse, N.Y., since their arrival last week, have been the centre of a jolly time. Many from town joined the camp last Thursday for the annual fish dinner and clam bake. The following are under canvass: Dr. H. C. Webb, B. B. Meays, J. Foster, R. Larrabee, Dr. Frederick Benz, G. Porter, C. Kruger, G. B. Smith, R. S. Keller, B. Newhall, J. Cuffey, D. C. LeRoy.

At the cheese board on Saturday afternoon twenty factories boarded 1,955 cheeses, of which 940 were cool cured; 1,015, ordinary cured, at 11 9-16c; 740 cool cured, at 11 5-8c.

Where Carlyle Workshipped.

London Chronicle.

The Metropolitan Tabernacle, where the Rev. Archibald G. Brown, has been recorded a public welcome as co-pastor, was formerly the occasional resort of almost every notable personage of the time. Ruskin, Gladstone, John Bright and Canon Wilberforce were among those who heard the famous Spurgeon there. Dr. Thomas Guthrie attended service at the Tabernacle one Sunday morning with a friend, next to whom sat an unkempt workshippier, who exchanged with Guthrie a mild conversation. "Who is he?" whispered Guthrie's friend. "Don't you know him?" asked the minister in return; "why, that's Tom Carlyle." It was at the famous Tabernacle, too, that some years ago a young barrister named Asquith achieved one of his early oratorical triumphs at a meeting of the liberal society. He has been heard elsewhere since then.

An Attractive Shirt Waist.

The waist here illustrated could be made of silk or any of the soft and material. The design on the front of the blouse is cut out of all-over embroidery, which is put on after the tucks are formed in the material. A box plait and button finish the front. The sleeves are made very full, and have deep bands, which also have a design of the embroidery on them. Deep frills of Swiss-embroidery make a pretty finish.

Long-Lived Prime Ministers.

From THE-BITS.

The fact that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who will celebrate his seventy-first birthday in September, is not only premier, but also Father of the House of Commons, invites comparison with the ages of other prime ministers of the past. Mr. Balfour will only be fifty-nine on the 25th of the present month at which age, curiously enough, Mr. Gladstone first succeeded to the premiership. It was not until nearly thirty years later that "G.D.M." passed away and broke the record which had been held by Lord Sidmouth, who died at the age of more than eighty-six.

St. John, N.B. At one time it was feared that Mrs. J. Grant, of 23 White street, would succumb to the deadly ravages of advanced kidney trouble. "My first attacks of backache and kidney trouble began years ago. For six years that dull gnawing pain has been present. When I exerted myself it was terribly intensified. If I caught cold the pain was unendurable. I used most everything, but nothing gave that certain gratified relief that came from Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Instead of being bowed down with pain, to-day I am strong, enjoy splendid appetite, sleep soundly. Lost properties have been instilled into my blood—cheeks are rosy with color, and I thank the day that I heard of so grand a medicine, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Every woman should use these pills regularly because good health pays, and it's good, vigorous health that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills.
