Success Links

The cotton grower buys his seeds—plants them and soon after comes the cutting out, then the cultivating, picking, ginning, baling and finally selling. Every step is important toward the final end—"profit."

The successful merchant's business is much the same in its profitable conduct. He rents a store, employs clerks, buys his goods, then exhibits them before the public. Every step is of equal importance, and like a piece of machinery one defective part affects the whole.

The lever that drives successfully the business of the Kingston merchant is the use of the advertising columns of the Whig.

SERIES OF MUTINIES

The Siberian Troops Out of Hand in Manchuria.

The Troubles End in Serious Outbreak—Soldiers Side With Revolutionists and They Defy Officers.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—Following a serious outbreak of soldiers along the Manchurian border, the latest of a number of mutinies, General Panteleev has filed with the czar a special report declaring that the Siberian troops are completely out of hand. In the event of a general revolt the general declares the soldiers will without doubt side with the revolutionists. In the latest outbreak 400 mutineers barricaded themselves in their barracks and held at bay a battalion of sharpshooters detailed to capture them. They inflicted heavy losses on the sharpshooters while eighteen mutineers were killed and thirty-five were wounded. The outbreak followed an attempt by the colonel of the mutineers' regiment to break up a revolutionary meeting which the soldiers attended. They declined to obey his order to disperse. Instead they went to their barracks and defied the colonel to punish them. Fighting continued all night and in the morning the surviving mutineers surrendered because their ammunition had been exhausted. They were imprisoned but last night other members of the regiment broke open jail, freed their comrades and the whole party escaped across the border into Chinese territory. This is only a sample of frequent mutinies which have occurred in Siberia, reported by General Panteleev.

CENTRAL ASIA INVOLVED.

Anglo-Russian Note Remains Unsigned. St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—Negotiations are still in progress regarding the Anglo-Russian agreement, and it is not correct that the document has been signed. There is an immense amount of detail to be worked out, and this is the cause of the delay. It is not expected here that the agreement will see the light before September at the earliest. As already stated it will deal with all points in Central Asia at which Anglo-Russian interests might come into contact, especially among other matters, Persia, Tibet and Afghanistan. It will not in any way deal with China or the far eastern situation. Although the treaty will be of a very much wider scope than most similar arrangements of recent years it will roughly provide for the maintenance of the status quo, while reserving to all powers equality of commercial opportunity. Co-operation will be provided for only modification of the political situation.

IS NOT OF ROYAL BLOOD

Question of Alleged Illegitimacy of Persia's Ruler Openly Discussed in Public.

London, Aug. 24.—The situation in Persia is not improving. Advises received in London state that disturbances are beginning to break out again all over the country, and since Meshed people have been putting their bodies into a state of defence and storing provisions. The shah is not by any means popular, and the question of his alleged illegitimacy is openly discussed in the bazaars and public meeting places. Some even go so far as to say that he is not of royal descent at all. The Turkish raid already reported proves to be a serious affair, and is the outcome of the long and dilatory Turkish delimitation business. The boundary delimitation business, as usual, being derived of pay for months past, and the Turkish soldiers have been in the direction of Urmia, having on route marched the Christian village of Mevan, destroyed the church, killed about ninety persons, including ten men and children, and carried off ten girls.

A HALIBURTON BRIDE.

Clubbed Into Insensibility, Assaulted and Robbed. Minden, Ont., Aug. 24.—From reports which have recently been received here it is learned that Mrs. W. H. Sheffelt, of Blind River, Ont., in the company of C. H. Crofts, Ingolsby, whose marriage took place only a few weeks ago, was brutally assaulted and robbed at her home last week. It seems that she was alone when the intruder, who was armed with a revolver, entered the house through the window. The little woman was game and immediately arose got the gun and leveled it at the intruder, but thinking that it might possibly be her husband, she fired when he rushed upon her and choked her till the blood ran from her mouth. Then, with a snatching, something similar to her husband's rifle when he rushed upon her and choked her till the blood ran from her mouth. Then, with a snatching, she covered consciousness but had to remain alone till morning, when she succeeded in calling a passerby who reported the matter and the husband was sent for twenty-five miles away. Needless to say, Mrs. Sheffelt (formerly Miss K. Crofts) is quite weak from the nervous shock and injuries received. She thinks she could identify the robber. Her brother, Alfred Crofts, upon hearing the news, immediately started to visit her.

INGERSOLL MIRACLE

Is Claimed To Have Duplicate in Family.

Mother-in-Law of Woman Who Professes to Have Been Divinely Healed In Answer to Husband's Prayer.

Syracuse, N.Y., Aug. 24.—That the Ingersolls are specially favored by Providence in the way of miracles, despite the fact that one who bore the name, Robert G., was a strong agnostic, is indicated by an alleged occurrence in North Pitcher, in which Mrs. H. D. Ingersoll was saved from death herself and husband, Mrs. Ingersoll, the mother-in-law of Mrs. B. H. Ingersoll, of No. 239 Pleasant avenue, who was recently cured of paralysis, said she claimed to be a miracle due to her faith. Mrs. Ingersoll, in Pleasant avenue, since her cure, had walked about out of doors and spent the afternoons on the porch. She says that she is feeling perfectly well and expects to continue so. When questioned about the North Pitcher incident, she said her father-in-law and mother-in-law lived at North Pitcher, but declared that she had not heard of a miracle like hers in connection with them. According to a report received, H. D. Ingersoll, of North Pitcher, a farmer, auctioneer, dealer in stock and conductor of revivals, stated at a meeting at the Methodist Episcopal church that when his wife lay at the point of death he prayed and heard a voice telling him that she would be healed. He is claimed to have announced at the meeting that he went to a hay barn standing in the centre of a large field and that it was there that he prayed for her recovery. The voice told, "Your wife shall be healed." Having made a thorough search around the building to satisfy himself that no persons were concealed nearby, he was sure that he had received a divine answer.

DID JUDGE ACCEPT BRIBES

Lawyers Refuse to Plead in His Court Pending Investigation of Charges.

Rome, Aug. 24.—An extraordinary scene occurred in the law courts at Genoa, yesterday. Signor Giacomo Ferri, the prominent lawyer and parliamentary deputy, stood up and refused to argue the case before the court on the ground that one of the assisting judges was habitually guilty of bribery and corrupt practices, which Signor Ferri added, would be found specified in formal denunciation, which he had handed to the king's procurator. The president was dumfounded, and at length ordered the next civil case to be proceeded with; but all the other lawyers in the court, one after another, announced their decision to discontinue business before the accused Judge Vignocchi, till the charges had been investigated. Hence the session had to be adjourned sine die. A propos of this incident it may be mentioned that Signor Orlando, minister of justice, on being recently appointed to that cabinet post, issued a general circular manifesting his intention of purging the Italian bench of incompetent or unworthy administrators. The government then began a series of prosecutions against various members of the judicial bench, who were charged with corrupt practices in Genoa, Catanzaro and other places. The dean of the judges in the aforementioned Calabrian city was condemned to a year's suspension from office. This step on the part of the central government seems to have instilled courage into the ranks of the lawyers, who are co-operating in the arduous task of judicial reform.

IN FIGHT WITH JACKALS

Instead of Allowing Them to Pass He Becomes Aggressor and Invites Attack

Cape Town, Aug. 21.—While he was on a shooting trip about fourteen miles from his home at Beaufort West, a Cape Colony, this week, A. E. Clarke, a British settler, had a terrible fight with jackals.

What he took to be a herd of buck began to approach him, and he fired a variety of much dreaded by farmers and herdsmen. Instead of allowing the pack to pass unharmed, he fired and killed the leader.

The others advanced on him, and before they surrounded him he killed three more and wounded others. Then, for he was alone in the bush, using his rifle as a club, Mr. Clarke braved against him, charging misapprehension of $11,000,000 of certificates of Erie railroad stock. Potts belongs to an old Virginia family.

himself. By this time he was fearfully torn and mangled about the neck, arms and thighs, and was rapidly growing exhausted. Just before he sank to the ground unconscious, one large jackal sprang upon his shoulders and buried its teeth in his neck, and he remembered nothing more. When he recovered his senses he was in a sheep brand with four friends who had saved his life. They came on the scene as he was falling, and as the infuriated beasts were rushing on him to tear him to pieces a few shots and a combined rush scattered the animals in all directions. After taking him home, Mr. Clarke's rescuers returned, and found twenty-one dead jackals, which they skinned. They sent him half a dozen of the skins as mementoes of the incident.
