

Don't Forget

Creates strength for aged, weak, run-down and debilitated persons and strengthens weak lungs.

Vinol is a Cod Liver preparation—true—that's why it is valuable—but it contains no oil and is delicious in warm weather.

GEORGE W. MAHOOD, DRUGGIST.

SEE

The Natural Mink Sets, Muff and Tie

$35 UP.

W. F. GOURDIER,

EXCLUSIVE FURRIER

76, 78 and 80 Brock St.

Optical Work

Carefully and promptly executed new style, mounts and specially shaped lenses made to order.

Repairs of all kinds. Eyes Examined and Glasses Fitted.

SMITH BROS

Jewelers and Opticians Issuers of Marriage Licenses. Phone 664.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe official Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 50c; No. 3, 25c. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: Wm. Cook, 1000 Broadway, N.Y.

Spend Your Money In the City Where You Make It.

No longer any need to go to big cities for new ideas in Wearables. We can show you the pick of New York's Favorite Coats for Fall wear, only difference is the price, which is about half of the price asked in the big centres.

Attend our Big Exhibition of FALL COATS now on view and ready for your inspection.

No longer any need to go to big cities for new ideas in Wearables. We can show you the pick of New York's Favorite Coats for Fall wear, only difference is the price, which is about half of the price asked in the big centres.

Something swell in Dress Goods, for Fall, now showing in this store.

Call as early as possible and see the range while it is unbroken.

We are headquarters for Favorite Coats, for Men, Children's School Hosiery.

Newman & Shaw

Business and Biliousness

don't go together. A man can't do good work with an aching head or an upset stomach. He won't be at his best in the morning, after a sleepless night.

Abbey's Effer-Salt

cures Constipation, Biliousness, Headaches, Stomach and Bowel Troubles. It sends a man to the office with clear brain—steady nerves—and his whole system bounding with good health. Try it yourself.

25c. and 60c. a bottle. At All Druggists.

The New Fall

Queen Quality Shoes

HAVE ARRIVED.

Will be pleased to show you the New Lasts, Styles and Cuts. Come in to-day.

J. H. Sutherland & Bro.,

The House of Good Shoemaking.

White Lawn and Muslin Waists One-Third Off Regular Prices At Crumley's.

SILKS

Peau de Soie—Rich blackdouble faced Peau de Soie Dress Silk, absolutely unfading dye, soft and pliable, will not cut, regular value $1.00. Special at 76c. per yard.

REMNANTS.

One table full of Dress Goods Remnants, all lengths and kinds, suitable for the little girls' school dress, or separate skirt or waist, and all marked at quick selling prices.

PARASOLS.

10 only White Parasols, every one fresh and new. We are closing out at the following prices:

Regular $1.50 Reduced to $1.00. Regular $1.75 Reduced to $1.15. Regular $2.25 Reduced to $1.50.

Crumley Bros.

SUMMER SHOES IN MANY VARIETIES.

Ladies' White Canvas Gibson Ties. Ladies' Tan Calf One-Tie Ties. Ladies' Chocolate Blucher Oxfords. Patent Colt and Blucher Oxfords. Buttoned Oxford Pumps. Sailor and Togo Ties. Gun Metal Gibson Ties and Pumps.

The Sawyer Shoe Store

THE MIGHTY WEST

SOME STATISTICS ABOUT ONE SECTION.

Calgary is a Flourishing Spot—The Distributing Centre For Alberta and Eastern British Columbia—Details of Its Life.

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 21.—(To the Editor):—I have long intended writing a letter to your paper on Alberta in general, and the Calgary district in particular. After we came to live here some of our friends wanted to know if the children could go to Sunday school, and another was very anxious to hear of the kinds of wild animals lived here (in Calgary). They evidently thought we must be in an immense forest. Well, after living all winter south of the beautiful trees, we did miss them so much, especially the dear old maples. They don't survive the winters here as there is not snow enough to protect the roots from frost.

Now I wish to say that Calgary has a population of 22,000 people, still there are a few wild animals, not last but not least, some human animals not equal in intelligence to the first named. They are not peculiar to Calgary, though we find them wherever luxury is. We consider Alberta the land of golden wheat, fat steers, industrial opportunities and unequalled climate. The Canadian west is a country of vast extent, only sufficiently developed to reveal its immensity and possibilities. Less than twenty-five years ago its white population could be numbered, but built up in only a few years a huge stream of humanity is pouring in from the old world, eastern states and provinces, seeking free or cheap lands, and wider scope for the Britisher who is undecided whether he will emigrate to the States or Canada may decide by following these statistics of American immigration into Alberta and other parts of western Canada—1896, 401; 1905, 105,000. We wisely decide to go with the crowd.

At the National Irrigation Congress at Portland, Oregon in 1905, it was stated: "The bone and sinew of the Mississippi valley have been moving into Canada and fortunes to the amount of $100,000,000 have been practically a thousand-fold during the past nine years." The reason is obvious. The American farmer can exchange each acre of his land in the States for from four to ten times more productive and profitable land in western Canada. By doing so he can buy a Canadian farm for himself and one for each of his sons with the money derived from the sale of his smaller home farm.

Not much more of the territory called Alberta until the advent of the C.P.R. in 1883. Since then the advancement in developing agricultural and mineral interests of the district has been phenomenal. Even our postal service was through the U.S. up till 1883. Alberta contains 253,000 square miles, or 162,577,000 acres, the largest of which is the Bow River. The Old Man, Belly rivers are smaller. Good water may be found almost everywhere, according to the location of the well above the level of the river. Soil varies from black vegetable to sandy clay loam. It is being recognized now as the greatest winter wheat field (largely undeveloped) yet in the world. Every acre is being thrashed machine operator in Alberta and Saskatchewan is required by law to furnish a certified statement of the amount of grain threshed and the acreage from which the grain was taken. Here is a partial copy of crop Bulletin No. 1, issued by the Alberta government, April 1st, 1906.

Spring Fall Districts. Wheat, Wheat Oats Barley. Lakelse, 48 11.00 20.00 14.74. S.W. F.W. Oats, B. High River, 25 13.00 42.00 30.50. Wetaskiwin, 27 03 19.00 42.00 30.50. Edmonton, 24 57 23.89 35.95 24.73. Calgary, 30 99 32.12 43.41 32.01.

I should like to tell you a great many more facts about wheat and lands, but shall not do so now as I am afraid you are already commencing to think that too long a letter and I want to mention a few other things which Calgary has. Large stock yards, cold storage plants, here. The Bankhead has an output of 2,000 tons per day if required. There are also the Kneehill, Fish Creek and Sheep Creek mines near here. Calgary has eleven churches, five hotels, and a few other things which Calgary has. Large stock yards, cold storage plants, here. The Bankhead has an output of 2,000 tons per day if required. There are also the Kneehill, Fish Creek and Sheep Creek mines near here. Calgary has eleven churches, five hotels, and a few other things which Calgary has.

The Sleeves of the Shirt. Any 30c. Shirt looks better on you than any ordinary shirt. One reason is the careful tailoring of the Sleeve. There is room enough under the arms so the sleeve won't bind—yet there's nothing bunch at the under point. Shaped to standard patterns that suit every build of man. Made for ease, for fit, for service in every style, and for fashion men like. You get bigger money's worth when you buy the Sleeves of the Shirt.

DEMAND THE BRAND. MAKE IT BERLIN.

Brother Meets Brother. When I determined to take the trip to Vancouver I had more than one object in view. My first was to see some members of our family who have resided for many years in the country. The youngest left home an invalid in 1877, or just thirty years ago. He was then just a lad in his first year at Queen's university, and I was anxious to see him again.

Eastern British Columbia. Many more lines I might mention. As to schools there are nine, including a high school, costing $2,000, employing thirty-seven teachers, monthly pay roll $2,000.50; two colleges, Western Canada for boys, and St. Hilda's for girls; planning mills, where doors, windows, mousing, and all kinds of mill work is done. Cushing Bros' factory has a capacity of 700 doors per day, and employs about 100 men. I wish to send you a few pictures of our mill, and you may find space for them in your valuable paper.—MRS. WILLIAM POUND.

FROM KINGSTON TO VANCOUVER.

(Continued from page 2.) three or four bottles of different powders for application to the face. What was in these I couldn't make out, but they all seemed to serve some particular purpose, and he would try first a safety razor, a "Thurs" razor—a Friday or Wednesday wouldn't do—and then go back to the other safety, each time carefully washing and wiping the setting of a military appearance which to their cases. The onlookers had more patience than I had for they said nothing, they only spoke in eloquent smiles. Of course a military appearance which to their would not allow of their addressing this stranger without an introduction, but I at last got up and as I had a newspaper acquaintance with him I placed myself opposite the basin next to the side of the car and in the midst of tones asked him if he could possibly spare it. He hesitated for a little during which time I quietly showed him shaving and other utensils to one side and took up a position over the third basin and managed to get through shaving and dressing before he had one check granted. I have nothing, however, unpleasant to say about him as he was a most gentlemanly man, and he asked me in the course of conversation if I was an army man. I had to tell him that I wasn't but that my father had been in the army and no doubt I had inherited from him anything of a military appearance which he possessed. It doesn't do to say too much about yourself to a stranger, so I didn't tell him how I eked out an existence, otherwise means a living I hope the digression will not be unacceptable, but let us return to our mutton, as they say in French, and resume our journey.

Magnificent Scenery. All along the north shore of Lake Superior the train carried us during Thursday, and but for what I saw later I would have been satisfied that no grander or more magnificent scenery could have been met with; it was of the wildest description and there was a coldness in the air which I supposed came from the lake to make an overcoat almost a necessity. Kenora was reached at eight in the morning, a most beautiful spot. I was informed by some one on the train that it was a great summer resort for Winnipeggers. It did appear to be used for this purpose for the place was dotted with beautiful cottages, and the thermometers at the station in Winnipeg is reached in about five hours from Kenora. It was just noon when we arrived at the western Chicago and the thermometers at the station in the shade. After a wait of about ten minutes we started westward again. We took on here a further instalment of the laughing train, and they were looked for Banff, where they got off. My friend before mentioned had several parcels with him, but with the new arrivals in the car, and the parcels were given seats just in front of me. They were a gentleman and his wife and daughter. There was a young man in the car, and he seemed to be one of the family, whatever his hopes or aspirations may have been. Every now and again the father would call out: "Eliza, did you see my travelling slip on his decorations, and Eliza, the daughter, would have to drop her novel in which she was deeply interested. His companion was a perfect beauty, and they were inside one of the many bundles they had hardened themselves with. I said something to the very gentlemanly porter about the parcels, and he asked him whether he was tipped in proportion. He replied: "No, sir; they expect me to get all dem things out of the trunk, and I'll carry them. I just wonder de company dem make dem parcels at home or pay proper rates on the line. The English carry their baggage traps had half a dozen Canadians or Americans." And he was about right.

We continue our journey westward with the wildest scenery, north of Lake Superior, I was filled with awe when I looked upon the peaks of the Rockies, reaching as it seemed into the clouds and covered with their everlasting dress of snow, looking from the distance like huge waterfalls rushing down in white foam between the different hills. I can't tell how it affected me, but I think I am certain that once seen it can never be forgotten. We reached Banff in the evening and here we lost many of our companions, but the objective point being Vancouver. During the night I missed some of the grandest of the scenery, but I intend on my return to so arrange my departure for Vancouver that I will have daylight for what I missed. All Sunday the train ran along the banks of the Thompson and Fraser rivers until Vancouver was reached at 7.50 p.m. on time. I'm afraid I have taken up more of your space than this letter deserves, but I cannot close it without a personal reminiscence.

He understood I was coming out but didn't know when. His name is Hugh and he has been for several years in the charge of the western division of the C.P.R., and of course is well known on the road. At a station called North Bend, I was talking to some parties, and one of them, who I incidentally mentioned that I was anxious to see one of my brothers whom I had not seen for thirty years. At this time I noticed a gentleman talking to another gentleman on the platform, and I said to my friends: "That man doesn't look like the one I'm looking for." So I left the car as we had a little time to spare and went on to the platform. I passed him twice and I thought he looked hard at me, but he gave no signs of recognition, so I returned and said more to my friends, but as he didn't recognize me I concluded that he was like some one I knew. However, he said good-bye to his companions and came towards us and got on the train in a front car. I felt as if he was the one I was looking for, and just then the conductor called out a few words of praise for Mr. Walker was on the car and he said, "Yes; just got on at the last station, and by the way, you look awfully like my brother whom I haven't seen for thirty years." The conductor said: "Oh, I must go with you and see you meet each other. Several of the ladies of the party were anxious to accompany us but I told them I would rather not, so they stayed behind. A few minutes brought us together and I said to my friends: "I don't know who that man is, but I think he is the one I was looking for." Of this place I will just say a few words before I close, but may say more some other time. All the time I have been in either on this continent or in Europe this is, I think, the one over and above all others. Of course, I love the place I live in, but if I were a young man I wouldn't remain in it twenty-four hours after I had once seen and tasted the sweets of this charming place. I cannot close without a few words of praise for the railway officials. The most courtesy was shown us by all connected with the road, the service of all kinds was excellent, and even if a man doesn't intend to migrate to this part of the country he should if he can possibly do it pay it a visit and his eyes will be opened to what he has missed. Very truly yours, J. B. W.

WAS HANGED TWICE. Rep. Broke at Execution of Carmine Remo. Indiana, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first hanging in this county for more than twenty years took place yesterday. The victim was Carmine Remo, aged forty-five years, and weighing 175 pounds. The weight of the man and the drop of five feet proved too much for the strength of the rope, which snapped when the trap was sprung, precipitating Remo to the ground. The jail attendants hurriedly loosened the rope around his neck while others adjusted a new rope to the scaffold, and the man, already half dead, was carried to the platform and the lever again sprung. This time the execution was successful. Remo killed his sweetheart, Marian Bearno, aged fifteen, two years ago.

The People's Forum.

HELP WANTED—MALE.

GOOD SMART-BOY, ONE THAT WILL make himself generally useful around the store. Apply The Lockett Shoe Store.

SMART BOY TO ASSIST IN MAILING Department, on Monday and Wednesday afternoons and Saturday afternoons. Apply Business Manager, Whig office.

MALE VOCALIST, WHO CAN READ music, readily. Good voice required, but high training not essential. State your address. Whig office.

FALL SUITS AND OVERCOATS TO make also odd ones to repair and clean, pressing and repair work done with the greatest precision. The Tailor, 181 Brock St., next to Bibby's Library.

FOR A KINGSTON PUBLIC SCHOOL, a Male Principal, having a first-class certificate and Model School experience. Applications received by John G. McLaughlin, Principal, 1000 University, up to the afternoon of Friday, 30th inst.

WANTED—GENERAL.

CUSTOMERS, FOR POLK TENDER-boats, and other boats, at A. McLaughlin's, Ontario street.

A FEW FURNACES TO CARE FOR through fall and winter, by a man of good standing. Call or address Frank Jones, 80 Union St. West.

A JOB CLEANING ASHES OUT OF yards or cellars, or other places, carried. Prices right. Apply to S. Lyle, General Cartier, 35 Main St.

FOR FEW MONTHS FROM SEPT. 1st, or Oct. 15th, furnished house or three rooms with or without board. Apply Box 45, Whig office.

MONEY AND BUSINESS.

OUR POLICIES COVER MORE OF building and other contracts than any other company office. Examine them at top of Insurance Department, Market St. Square.

LIVERPOOL, LONDON AND GLOBE Fire Insurance Company, Available assets $6,187,315. In addition to the security of the limited liability of all the stockholders. Terms and city rates. Refer to lowest possible rates. Before renewing old or giving new business get rates from Strang & Strang, Agents.

ARCHITECTS.

ARTHUR ELLIS, ARCHITECT, Office, Cor. Queen and Bagot streets.

HENRY P. SMITH, ARCHITECT, etc. Anchor Building, Market Square. Phone 345.

WM. NEWLANDS, ARCHITECT, Office, second floor over Babcock Drug store, corner Princess and Bagot streets. Entrance on Bagot street. Phone 608.

LOST OR STOLEN.

A BROWN SPANIEL DOG, ANSWERING to the name of "Doc," on about August Ave. 240 Princess St., or 13 Concession St., and receive a reward if anyone has information of its whereabouts after this notice will be prosecuted.

ARCHITECTS.

ARTHUR ELLIS, ARCHITECT, Office, Cor. Queen and Bagot streets.

HENRY P. SMITH, ARCHITECT, etc. Anchor Building, Market Square. Phone 345.

WM. NEWLANDS, ARCHITECT, Office, second floor over Babcock Drug store, corner Princess and Bagot streets. Entrance on Bagot street. Phone 608.

LOST OR STOLEN.

A BROWN SPANIEL DOG, ANSWERING to the name of "Doc," on about August Ave. 240 Princess St., or 13 Concession St., and receive a reward if anyone has information of its whereabouts after this notice will be prosecuted.

He understood I was coming out but didn't know when. His name is Hugh and he has been for several years in the charge of the western division of the C.P.R., and of course is well known on the road. At a station called North Bend, I was talking to some parties, and one of them, who I incidentally mentioned that I was anxious to see one of my brothers whom I had not seen for thirty years. At this time I noticed a gentleman talking to another gentleman on the platform, and I said to my friends: "That man doesn't look like the one I'm looking for." So I left the car as we had a little time to spare and went on to the platform. I passed him twice and I thought he looked hard at me, but he gave no signs of recognition, so I returned and said more to my friends, but as he didn't recognize me I concluded that he was like some one I knew. However, he said good-bye to his companions and came towards us and got on the train in a front car. I felt as if he was the one I was looking for, and just then the conductor called out a few words of praise for Mr. Walker was on the car and he said, "Yes; just got on at the last station, and by the way, you look awfully like my brother whom I haven't seen for thirty years." The conductor said: "Oh, I must go with you and see you meet each other. Several of the ladies of the party were anxious to accompany us but I told them I would rather not, so they stayed behind. A few minutes brought us together and I said to my friends: "I don't know who that man is, but I think he is the one I was looking for." Of this place I will just say a few words before I close, but may say more some other time. All the time I have been in either on this continent or in Europe this is, I think, the one over and above all others. Of course, I love the place I live in, but if I were a young man I wouldn't remain in it twenty-four hours after I had once seen and tasted the sweets of this charming place. I cannot close without a few words of praise for the railway officials. The most courtesy was shown us by all connected with the road, the service of all kinds was excellent, and even if a man doesn't intend to migrate to this part of the country he should if he can possibly do it pay it a visit and his eyes will be opened to what he has missed. Very truly yours, J. B. W.

WAS HANGED TWICE.

Rep. Broke at Execution of Carmine Remo. Indiana, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first hanging in this county for more than twenty years took place yesterday. The victim was Carmine Remo, aged forty-five years, and weighing 175 pounds. The weight of the man and the drop of five feet proved too much for the strength of the rope, which snapped when the trap was sprung, precipitating Remo to the ground. The jail attendants hurriedly loosened the rope around his neck while others adjusted a new rope to the scaffold, and the man, already half dead, was carried to the platform and the lever again sprung. This time the execution was successful. Remo killed his sweetheart, Marian Bearno, aged fifteen, two years ago.

He understood I was coming out but didn't know when. His name is Hugh and he has been for several years in the charge of the western division of the C.P.R., and of course is well known on the road. At a station called North Bend, I was talking to some parties, and one of them, who I incidentally mentioned that I was anxious to see one of my brothers whom I had not seen for thirty years. At this time I noticed a gentleman talking to another gentleman on the platform, and I said to my friends: "That man doesn't look like the one I'm looking for." So I left the car as we had a little time to spare and went on to the platform. I passed him twice and I thought he looked hard at me, but he gave no signs of recognition, so I returned and said more to my friends, but as he didn't recognize me I concluded that he was like some one I knew. However, he said good-bye to his companions and came towards us and got on the train in a front car. I felt as if he was the one I was looking for, and just then the conductor called out a few words of praise for Mr. Walker was on the car and he said, "Yes; just got on at the last station, and by the way, you look awfully like my brother whom I haven't seen for thirty years." The conductor said: "Oh, I must go with you and see you meet each other. Several of the ladies of the party were anxious to accompany us but I told them I would rather not, so they stayed behind. A few minutes brought us together and I said to my friends: "I don't know who that man is, but I think he is the one I was looking for." Of this place I will just say a few words before I close, but may say more some other time. All the time I have been in either on this continent or in Europe this is, I think, the one over and above all others. Of course, I love the place I live in, but if I were a young man I wouldn't remain in it twenty-four hours after I had once seen and tasted the sweets of this charming place. I cannot close without a few words of praise for the railway officials. The most courtesy was shown us by all connected with the road, the service of all kinds was excellent, and even if a man doesn't intend to migrate to this part of the country he should if he can possibly do it pay it a visit and his eyes will be opened to what he has missed. Very truly yours, J. B. W.

WAS HANGED TWICE.

Rep. Broke at Execution of Carmine Remo. Indiana, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first hanging in this county for more than twenty years took place yesterday. The victim was Carmine Remo, aged forty-five years, and weighing 175 pounds. The weight of the man and the drop of five feet proved too much for the strength of the rope, which snapped when the trap was sprung, precipitating Remo to the ground. The jail attendants hurriedly loosened the rope around his neck while others adjusted a new rope to the scaffold, and the man, already half dead, was carried to the platform and the lever again sprung. This time the execution was successful. Remo killed his sweetheart, Marian Bearno, aged fifteen, two years ago.

He understood I was coming out but didn't know when. His name is Hugh and he has been for several years in the charge of the western division of the C.P.R., and of course is well known on the road. At a station called North Bend, I was talking to some parties, and one of them, who I incidentally mentioned that I was anxious to see one of my brothers whom I had not seen for thirty years. At this time I noticed a gentleman talking to another gentleman on the platform, and I said to my friends: "That man doesn't look like the one I'm looking for." So I left the car as we had a little time to spare and went on to the platform. I passed him twice and I thought he looked hard at me, but he gave no signs of recognition, so I returned and said more to my friends, but as he didn't recognize me I concluded that he was like some one I knew. However, he said good-bye to his companions and came towards us and got on the train in a front car. I felt as if he was the one I was looking for, and just then the conductor called out a few words of praise for Mr. Walker was on the car and he said, "Yes; just got on at the last station, and by the way, you look awfully like my brother whom I haven't seen for thirty years." The conductor said: "Oh, I must go with you and see you meet each other. Several of the ladies of the party were anxious to accompany us but I told them I would rather not, so they stayed behind. A few minutes brought us together and I said to my friends: "I don't know who that man is, but I think he is the one I was looking for." Of this place I will just say a few words before I close, but may say more some other time. All the time I have been in either on this continent or in Europe this is, I think, the one over and above all others. Of course, I love the place I live in, but if I were a young man I wouldn't remain in it twenty-four hours after I had once seen and tasted the sweets of this charming place. I cannot close without a few words of praise for the railway officials. The most courtesy was shown us by all connected with the road, the service of all kinds was excellent, and even if a man doesn't intend to migrate to this part of the country he should if he can possibly do it pay it a visit and his eyes will be opened to what he has missed. Very truly yours, J. B. W.

WAS HANGED TWICE.

Rep. Broke at Execution of Carmine Remo. Indiana, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first hanging in this county for more than twenty years took place yesterday. The victim was Carmine Remo, aged forty-five years, and weighing 175 pounds. The weight of the man and the drop of five feet proved too much for the strength of the rope, which snapped when the trap was sprung, precipitating Remo to the ground. The jail attendants hurriedly loosened the rope around his neck while others adjusted a new rope to the scaffold, and the man, already half dead, was carried to the platform and the lever again sprung. This time the execution was successful. Remo killed his sweetheart, Marian Bearno, aged fifteen, two years ago.

He understood I was coming out but didn't know when. His name is Hugh and he has been for several years in the charge of the western division of the C.P.R., and of course is well known on the road. At a station called North Bend, I was talking to some parties, and one of them, who I incidentally mentioned that I was anxious to see one of my brothers whom I had not seen for thirty years. At this time I noticed a gentleman talking to another gentleman on the platform, and I said to my friends: "That man doesn't look like the one I'm looking for." So I left the car as we had a little time to spare and went on to the platform. I passed him twice and I thought he looked hard at me, but he gave no signs of recognition, so I returned and said more to my friends, but as he didn't recognize me I concluded that he was like some one I knew. However, he said good-bye to his companions and came towards us and got on the train in a front car. I felt as if he was the one I was looking for, and just then the conductor called out a few words of praise for Mr. Walker was on the car and he said, "Yes; just got on at the last station, and by the way, you look awfully like my brother whom I haven't seen for thirty years." The conductor said: "Oh, I must go with you and see you meet each other. Several of the ladies of the party were anxious to accompany us but I told them I would rather not, so they stayed behind. A few minutes brought us together and I said to my friends: "I don't know who that man is, but I think he is the one I was looking for." Of this place I will just say a few words before I close, but may say more some other time. All the time I have been in either on this continent or in Europe this is, I think, the one over and above all others. Of course, I love the place I live in, but if I were a young man I wouldn't remain in it twenty-four hours after I had once seen and tasted the sweets of this charming place. I cannot close without a few words of praise for the railway officials. The most courtesy was shown us by all connected with the road, the service of all kinds was excellent, and even if a man doesn't intend to migrate to this part of the country he should if he can possibly do it pay it a visit and his eyes will be opened to what he has missed. Very truly yours, J. B. W.

He understood I was coming out but didn't know when. His name is Hugh and he has been for several years in the charge of the western division of the C.P.R., and of course is well known on the road. At a station called North Bend, I was talking to some parties, and one of them, who I incidentally mentioned that I was anxious to see one of my brothers whom I had not seen for thirty years. At this time I noticed a gentleman talking to another gentleman on the platform, and I said to my friends: "That man doesn't look like the one I'm looking for." So I left the car as we had a little time to spare and went on to the platform. I passed him twice and I thought he looked hard at me, but he gave no signs of recognition, so I returned and said more to my friends, but as he didn't recognize me I concluded that he was like some one I knew. However, he said good-bye to his companions and came towards us and got on the train in a front car. I felt as if he was the one I was looking for, and just then the conductor called out a few words of praise for Mr. Walker was on the car and he said, "Yes; just got on at the last station, and by the way, you look awfully like my brother whom I haven't seen for thirty years." The conductor said: "Oh, I must go with you and see you meet each other. Several of the ladies of the party were anxious to accompany us but I told them I would rather not, so they stayed behind. A few minutes brought us together and I said to my friends: "I don't know who that man is, but I think he is the one I was looking for." Of this place I will just say a few words before I close, but may say more some other time. All the time I have been in either on this continent or in Europe this is, I think, the one over and above all others. Of course, I love the place I live in, but if I were a young man I wouldn't remain in it twenty-four hours after I had once seen and tasted the sweets of this charming place. I cannot close without a few words of praise for the railway officials. The most courtesy was shown us by all connected with the road, the service of all kinds was excellent, and even if a man doesn't intend to migrate to this part of the country he should if he can possibly do it pay it a visit and his eyes will be opened to what he has missed. Very truly yours, J. B. W.

WAS HANGED TWICE.

Rep. Broke at Execution of Carmine Remo. Indiana, Pa., Aug. 28.—The first hanging in this county for more than twenty years took place yesterday. The victim was Carmine Remo, aged forty-five years, and weighing 175 pounds. The weight of the man and the drop of five feet proved too much for the strength of the rope, which snapped when the trap was sprung, precipitating Remo to the ground. The jail attendants hurriedly loosened the rope around his neck while others adjusted a new rope to the scaffold, and the man, already half dead, was carried to the platform and the lever again sprung. This time the execution was successful. Remo killed his sweetheart, Marian Bearno, aged fifteen, two years ago.

HELP WANTED—FEMALE.

AT ONCE YOUNG LADY, CASHIER, Apply Holter Bank.

A GENERAL SERVANT, NO WASHING, no ironing, apply to Miss Smythe, 59 West street.

DINING ROOM GIRL AND COOK, Apply Lake View Hotel, Corner Queen and Ontario streets.

A GENERAL SERVANT TO GO TO Utica, N.Y. High Wages Given. Apply to 207 William St.

LADY PIANIST, ALSO LADY, cashier, who seeks no experience. Health, strength and respectability essential. Must live in town. Hours very short. Address "X. Y. Z." Whig office.

NEAT, CAREFUL, FAIRNEST, painstaking, brassy, educated girl, four hours daily. Pleasant home, while, married, occupation, Sewing. Some interest in fine machinery. Address "Harriet," Whig office.

ANY LADY CAN EARN TWO DOLLARS a day during spare time