Daily Whig.

THANKS, MANY THANKS.

Collier's is edited by a Canadian, Mr. Haggood, and he maintains his interest in Canadian affairs. Having read in a conservative paper the distressing plaint that Canada was wasting its money in a mint, he took occasion to reflect. He realized the motives which impelled the liberal government to undertake the mintage of its own coin, and he approved of the erection of a government institution for the purpose and the proper equipment of it. Then he wrote: "In Canada's share of the great continental range is gold and silver enough to supply the empire. In the great prairie lands of the Dominion west there will be enough grain and beef and hide and consequent industries in the east to put all this glittering metal into circulation through the Dominion markets alone. To secure this vast increase in national wealth, the expenditure of one hundred thousand dollars is the most judicious investment and the wisest possible economy. Movement will stimulate a confidence in Canadian trade both at home and abroad in a way that no other national treasury policy could. Vary it is better to bring the mint to the mine than to try to take the mine to the mint. The average Canadian will say, 'Thank you.'"

ACTION WANTED, NOT TALK.

Mr. Ellis, of the institute staff, in his letter to the Toronto News, dwells upon a fact to which attention has been called by the Whig at different times, namely, that the youth of this progressive country are not getting the education that it is designed they should receive, or that is absolutely essential for their success. The conditions of trade, and the competition in it, the processes of manufacture and their continued improvement, make it necessary that the men of the future, who act as masters or mechanics, should be equipped educationally as far as possible, and the people of to-day, as parents and guardians, are doing their children a great injustice, in not seeing that they get out of the institutions of learning all the good which they afford.

Now when Mr. Ellis says that 50,000 children leave the schools of Ontario annually, it is well to know what becomes of them. Some 7,000 are accounted for. They go to the high school for additional tuition, or all of it that they can get during a four-year course. Some more of them may go to the continuation classes, which carry pupils a step further than the public schools, but not so far as the institute. Mr. Ellis says that there may be 7,000 of these. It is questionable, indeed, if there are more than 2,000. Granted that the number is 2,000, there is still of the number leaving the schools 38,000 who have to be accounted for. What are they doing? Are they idling in any way, or are they idling their time away? All too soon they are going into the world without the mental development which the age demands, and the future strain of life calls for.

Now is this all. The number going out of public schools does not embrace only the senior pupils. There is a tremendous slump in the classes from the third book upward, and the conclusion is that a large number of boys and girls are abandoning their studies under the most regrettable circumstances. The question is a serious one, and the government should do more, as Mr. Ellis points out, than give statistics and call attention to them. Commissions are the order of the day, and there are some things for which they are especially fitted. A commission to inquire into the public school system,

AS A SUMMER HOTEL

THE PLANS OF BOLDT AS TO HEART ISLAND

Mystery Has Hitherto Surrounded His Intentions Concerning Use of Brown Stone File Opposite Alexandria Bay.

From a real estate dealer of New York, who was a recent guest at the home of George F. Boldt, proprietor of the Waldorf-Astoria, it was learned at Alexandria Bay, that Mr. Boldt has stated his intention of having his incomplete $2,000,000 pile of brown stone on Heart Island completed in a short time, and that it will be then run as a summer hotel of the most exclusive sort in connection with the Waldorf-Astoria.

There have been all kinds of rumors regarding the plans and the owner's intentions. The arrangement of rooms led many to believe that the place would eventually become an hotel, but Mr. Boldt, while at the islands, invariably refused to speak of its future. In a letter to a friend, however, the real estate dealer spoke of Mr. Boldt's statement to him, furnishing practically the first authentic declaration from the owner.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS

Why It Talks.

"Money is tight," says the financier. Now we understand why money talks.

A Hard Question.

The Bankers' Magazine, of London, England, estimates the losses in stock exchange securities as reaching a total of $200,000,000. How much of this was real money and how much water?

Bound To Come.

Civil service reform is bound to come, but it will probably not come until the people make up their minds to insist upon it, whichever Party may be in power.

Doing Up America.

The staid old Bank of England evidently believes in the principle of protection. Presenting the most strenuous stringency it imported all the gold it could lay its hands on and when the stringency commenced, raised its rate to four and a half per cent., to an export duty on the yellow metal.

A Sad Confession.

The truth is that since its defeat ten or eleven years ago, the conservative party has shown no genuine reforming energy, and no aggressive public spirit. It is still looking for a short cut back to office. It is still blind as to the fact that its defeat was a blind accident, for which a republican people are eager to make reparation.

A Warning.

Mr. Borden has continuously threatened to bring in drastic and effective laws to purify our elections. The liberals have seen the present parliament almost to its end without their promised attempt in this direction. If they let the coming session pass without passing a law that will require the publicity of both sides of every election account, and forbid anything that Mr. Borden can possibly do in the matter, they will commit a blunder as well as a crime, and will deserve for their foolishness, if not for their lack of righteousness, to fall before him.

Who Are They?

We cannot shut our eyes to the public record of the Catholics who buy and sell votes. We who know that the church pleads for honor and patriotism are ashamed of this record. We who understand that a vote should be cast for the good of the country, and that the proper use of it is a sacred duty, have a profound contempt for such Catholics, with the public record that few criminals would care to own.

They are Catholics but in name; defilers of the faith; objects of derision to the non-Catholic. With their petty schemes and bar-room ideas, they represent the abyss of infamy into which men without principle can fall. They should, of course, be driven out of public life. They should be taught that love of country is not a fashionable affectation, and that a vote is like honor and virtue, unpurchasable.

A Visiting Father.

Lombardy, Aug. 26.—Rev. Father Lombardy, professor of mathematics, St. Michael's college, Toronto, was the guest, over Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown, who are visiting in Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Lombardy, of Carthage, N.Y., are spending a few days at their home here. Their friend, Mr. Gobin, Carthage, accompanied them.

Miss Minnie Brown and Edward Brown visited friends in Balderston, last week. Mr. Fanning, comedian, representing the Shamrock Medicine Co., has been giving entertainments in the hall nightly. His latest number is visiting friends in Smith's Falls. Several from here attended the Roman Catholic picnic in Toledo, last Saturday, and report an enjoyable time, although the weather was not all that could be desired. Miss Mayella Donnelly, Westport, was the guest of Miss Nellie Dermody last week. Edward O'Meara, Sr., who was seriously ill for the past few days, is slightly better. Miss Margaret O'Meara, professional nurse, Toronto, was called to her home here to-day, owing to her father's illness. Mrs. Robert Tennant is ill with a severe attack of tonsillitis.

Spend Sunday in Watertown.

Tickets good going Saturday, 5 a.m. and 2 p.m., returning Monday. Only $1.25 return.

SAW PRIZE AFTER PRIZE.

Awarded to Canada in Old Ireland. Wellington, Aug. 27.—James O. B. Sanev, Winsthorpe, who for the past two months has been looking after his real estate business in Ireland, returned here on Tuesday. Mr. Sanev is looking hale and hearty, and says that the trip, although rough while crossing the ocean, was enjoyable owing to the fact of his not becoming sick. He attended the exposition while there and says that Canada leads in everything, which filled his heart with pride. He saw prize after prize awarded to our noble old Canada. Although enjoying the different changes, still nothing that he saw pleased so well as when he landed on old Princes Edward soil.

Much sympathy is extended to T. L. Hubbs, Kinross, N.W.T., and family in the loss of his wife, who died on the 16th, at Banff sanatorium. Mrs. Hubbs was a sister of George Hare, Pictou. Mr. and Mrs. S. Peck, Yorkers, who for a few weeks have been guests at Hotel Wellman, left for their home, carrying the good wishes of their many friends here.

No doubt the friends of Rev. F. S. Rockwell, Kingston, will be pleased to know that he, being at one time a resident of that city, and who later in life left for Chicago, to better his condition, has become a brilliant orator. He, with his wife, spent the summer with his parents in Wellington, thoroughly delighted the Pictou people with one of his popular sermons. We heard him a brilliant future.

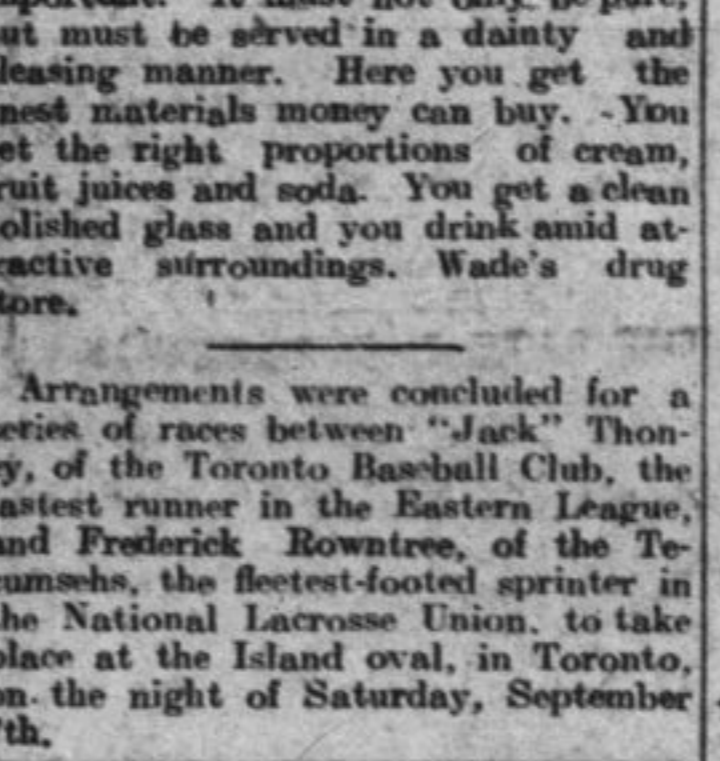

Miss Eliza Alexander, who has undergone a severe illness, is again convalescing. She is a Toronto lawyer, and somewhat interested in the electric railway scheme here, died very suddenly at Hotel Wellman, on Friday night. She remains accompanied by Mrs. Williams, son, and daughter, left for Toronto on Saturday.

W.P. Titus has placed a force pump at the rear of his residence and propelled from his power house which supplies water for the sprinkling of our streets. Rev. and Mrs. Erolus Horwood, Quebec, are visiting friends and relatives here. Rufus Garratt will erect a new house this season.

Inviting Soda.

In a beverage like ice cream soda, the manner in which it is served is important. It must not only be pure, but must be served in a dainty and pleasing manner. Here you get the finest material money can buy. You get the right proportions of cream, fruit juices and soda. You get a clean polished glass and you drink amid attractive surroundings. Dear Mrs. Finkham:— "I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a regulator for female troubles. For four years with displacement of the uterus, and other troubles, I have suffered. Your Vegetable Compound cured me. Within three months I was fully restored to health and now my periods are regular. What a blessing it is to obtain relief so many doctors fail to give. Your medicine is better than any medicine I ever had."

No other medicine has such a record of female troubles as E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound. Women who are troubled with irregular periods, backache (or flatulency), displacement, inflammation or ulceration stored to perfect health and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Mrs. Finkham invites all to write her for advice. She writes to all who stand in need of it. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women from her home, Lynn, Mass.
