DOGS AND THEIR DAYS

HOW THE FASHION IN BREEDS HAS CHANGED.

Collie Now Dog in the Market— Charms of Pugs and Spaniels Wane—Dog of the Moment is the Pekinese.

Nothing is more mysterious than the sudden development of popular taste. There is no accounting for it; and one of the most remarkable things about a boom is that there seems as little reason for it to begin as there is for it to end.

There was the collie. A few years ago he was at his zenith. He was led in the ring by a princess, titled, owners competed for him, cups and trophies were offered at his shrine, and his prices reached £1,000 and even £1,500.

Then came Pomeranians; there it was felt the last word had been said, for the daintier, more charming and more admirably decorative adjunct to a toilet could not be desired.

But the dog of the moment, on fortune's cap, the very button, is the Pekinese. Not to own one is to be deficient, which is not to be contemplated calmly.

That the Pekinese has always been costly, decorative and aristocratic is no doubt the attraction. Few breeds can boast of a history of a couple of thousand years, and fewer still have had an unbroken line of descent.

Derangement of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, in case by using a cod liver oil. Remove the bile. One a dose. Try them.

Twenty-seven couples have applied to the privilege of being married in the great water tank of the big playhouse, being tempted to this unusual venture by the reward of $100, which will be paid upon a new life, under the patronage of King Neptune.

Ask half the men or women who have stomach troubles, why it is so and they will tell you that they have to live in such a constant hurry that they have no time to keep well.

A DIRE PICTURE.

Tokio Has Worst Slums in World's Work.

Tokio has slums whose poverty reaches the last depth of human degradation. Below the cellars of Paris, the alleys of London, and the crowded slums of the New York East Side, the Japanese capital reveals a lower gulf.

Japan carefully avoids all public reference to these great sores on its body politic. Their existence is hidden from the foreign visitor. Rarely does a tourist see the slums, and specialists studying the city for precise information are sedulously kept out of the poorest quarters.

The Boy King. A few years before his death, Agassiz was studying the fishes in the waters at Cotuit Point, Mass. At the hotel a child called his attention to a certain kind of fish which always went in circles, and which also was always seen swimming with one fin out of the water.

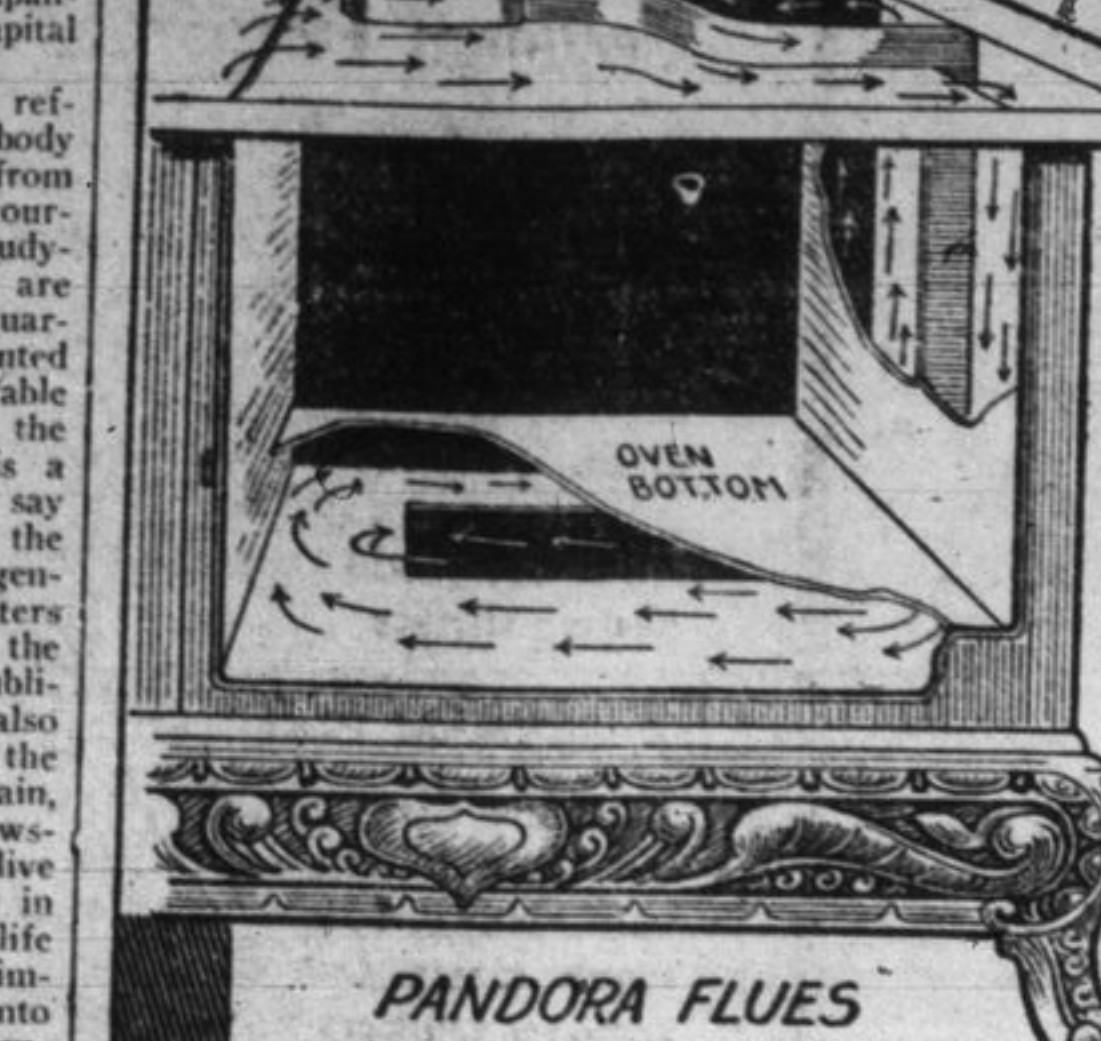

Women Cooks. President Lieres of the French republic is very fond of the table, though by no means a glutton. When Fallieres became president he dismissed the famous chef of the Elysee and installed a woman in the place.

Settlers' Low Rates West. The Chicago and North-Western railway will sell low one-way second-class settlers' tickets, valid from September 1st to October 31st, to many points in the West.

The South For Bryan. A few newspaper editors may agree that in the matter of eligibility the Nebraska statesman is not entitled to the nomination of his party, but they must concede his tremendous hold upon the people's affections.

PANDORA RANGE

PANDORA FLUES. Arrows show direction of heat.

The Pandora Flue System is an Immense Improvement

While we don't desire to say that the usual flue construction is not good, for it is considered good, still we do say that the Pandora flue system is an immense improvement.

In the ordinary range the flues conduct the smoke and heat by the shortest route to the chimney (as shown by illustration in lower corner). The heat does not pass directly under all pot holes, nor around all surfaces of the oven.

In the Pandora (illustrated in upper left hand corner) when the draft is set for baking, the heat, by means of a curved flange, is made to pass under and heat every pot hole except the back inner one, before it is drawn down the outer half of the back end flue and under the oven bottom prevents the heat from short cutting, and forces it to travel, first under the outer half of oven, then under the inner half.

The result is that the heat is spread uniformly over the oven. And every loaf of a whole batch of bread will be done equally well on all sides.

From under the oven bottom the heat travels up the inner half of back end flue, and passes under the back inner pot hole before disappearing up the chimney.

Thus it will be seen that all the heat circulates around the oven twice and under every pot hole before it goes up the chimney—that the draft for baking is also the best for cooking.

And, as the heat is made to perform a double duty by this improved system, the fuel bill is greatly reduced.

The most economical as well as the most improved range on the market to-day bears the name Pandora. It's a name worth remembering when buying a range.

If your local dealer does not sell the Pandora, write direct to us for free booklet.

WOMEN COOKS.

President Lieres of the French republic is very fond of the table, though by no means a glutton.

When Fallieres became president he dismissed the famous chef of the Elysee and installed a woman in the place.

He had occasion to change their minds.

A woman cook in France is known as a "cordon bleu," the title having come down from the days of Du Barry and the profligate King Louis.

The king favored the French woman as a cook as to the relative merits of men and women cooks.

The king contended that only a man could cook a dish fit for a monarch's table.

The result was a dinner given by Du Barry, every dish of which had been prepared by a woman.

At the conclusion of the meal the king acknowledged that he was wrong; he sent for the cook, and placed around her neck his own ribbon of the order of the St. Esprit, known as the cordon bleu.

Since then a skillful woman cook in France has been known as a "cordon bleu."
