LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Englishmen Who Sunk Wells at Barriefield.

Barriefield, Sept. 16.—(To the Editor.) In yesterday's paper I saw an account of the English leaders. Perhaps you will print this on behalf of the English workers. A bit of the smartest work has been done at the farm of E. Draper, of Barriefield, by two Englishmen, which has been done for some years, and is there to be seen any day. Mr. Draper has four wells which have been dug nearly all summer, but one of the good for nothing Englishmen being a bit handy, has sunk him a well to sixteen feet deep, which he could get a Canadian to do. They had a tr. and left it. The Englishman found him the best spring of water in the county, in Frontenac. There is fifteen feet of water in the well besides what is running down the ditch overhead. They are being asked every day to go to other places for similar water, in fact they cannot do all the work, and would like to recommend some of your great working Canadians to go and finish what they have started and let in disgust because they could not get any further.—H. TAYLOR.

If Mr. Taylor thinks that the article in yesterday's paper referred to all the English immigrants, he is greatly mistaken. It had reference only to the worthless class that come to this country. The Englishmen who dig the wells mentioned are of the worthwhile class. But surely there are Canadians who can dig wells. The men who failed to do so at Barriefield evidently weren't well-diggers.—Ed.

Are You an Advertiser?

Marshall Field, the merchant prince, John W. Wanzmaker, and every merchant of any note, were advertisers. Look over the field right here at home. Don't the men and merchants who form the base and sinews of the town owe their success largely to printer's ink—advertising? If you are not advertising in the Whig, why?

IS YOUR JUDGMENT BETTER THAN ALL THESE MEN COMBINED?

WORKMEN FEARFUL Sensational Evidence at Quebec Bridge Enquiry.

One Witness Did Not Work Day of Disaster, Because He Knew Bridge Would Go—Others Knew of Defective Chord.

Quebec, Sept. 17.—J. Nance was the first witness heard before the federal commission enquiry into the cause of the Quebec bridge disaster. He was one of those who had a remarkably escape from death. He ran a small electric engine on top of the traveller and was at his post when he felt the bridge suddenly fall. The day previous his attention was drawn by Messrs. Cook and Haley to a curved chord, but witness did not go down to examine it. He admitted being somewhat apprehensive of danger, but he did not desire to show cowardice by walking off.

John E. Spicer was the next witness. He had been in the employ of the Phoenix Bridge company since September 19th last, being first engaged on the false work, then on the big traveller. The day of the disaster he did not work, but was on duty the day before. Asked his reason why he did not work on the 29th, he answered it was because he got nervous the night before the disaster. S. Angers, "Joe" Mitchell, John Deat and Louis Deleau, all of whom were killed, discussed the fact of there being an open chord, which they were attempting to jack up, but that it could not be got into position and that the plates had been drawn together and riveted.

Percy Wilson, employed as a laborer carrying rivets, was then called. He had been two summers working on the site. The day of the disaster he was serving a group about three hundred feet further out than the deep water pier. When the bridge collapsed he Reading, Pa., Sept. 17.—Timothy Keleher, a member of Troop "C" of the State Constabulary, recognized as one of the bravest and best officers in the organization, was stabbed to death here by one of two Italians he was attempting to arrest for assaulting a young woman. The body of the officer was found on the banks of the Schuylkill river. Keleher had been stabbed in the groin and bled to death, a large artery having been severed. Traces of blood showed that the body of the officer had been carried more than two hundred yards to the river and thrown over a twenty-five foot embankment.

TO AMEND THE LAWS Immigrants Must Have Money Qualifications.

It is the Impression That This Move Will Aid in Solving the Question of Immigration.

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—The dominion government has under consideration a proposition to amend the regulations in regard to immigration so that all immigrants must have a certain amount of money in their possession before being allowed to land. Hitherto there has been no money qualification for entering Canada. There is in the United States. In this country it has always been regarded that an able-bodied man willing to work and without a dollar in his pocket was as good an asset to the country as the man who had some cash but was not so particular about getting work. However, to aid in solving the question of immigration, the dominion superintendent of immigration, W. D. Scott, has recommended that a money qualification be added to the regulations.

TO BE FURTHER DELAY The Railway Employees to be Consulted in the Meantime.

London, Sept. 17.—The final rupture in the British railway-labor crisis has been postponed until October. The employees of all the roads in the country, who belong to the Railwaymen's Union, in the interval, sign ballot papers, which will be issued this week, to decide whether they are prepared for a national strike in the event of the compromise of the executive committee. The claim is for the recognition of the union, but it also demands an eight-hour day for men engaged in the movement of vehicles, and a ten-hour day for others, and a minimum of a rate and a quarter for all time over the standard hours. The companies have refused to discuss the union's proposals, on the ground that it represents only a quarter of the men employed, and also that it would be destructive of the railway control to allow the union to intervene.

ROOSEVELT STRONG.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Having completed his poll of New England in a series covering all sections of the United States, the most overwhelming sentiment was expressed in favor of the continuance of Roosevelt's policies. At least eighty-five per cent. of all canvassed in New York, were shown emphatically on that subject, endorsing the president heartily. After Mr. Roosevelt, Secretary Taft and Governor Hughes of New York, were shown to be the most popular, but their respective popularity was of different kinds. Taft being especially strong with office holders and Hughes with voters in private life. That Hughes is a formidable rival of the administration's candidate was clearly apparent in the New England canvass. In some localities Hughes ran far ahead.

GEYS IMPORTANT POST.

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—Dr. R. A. Daly, for the past seven years geologist of the Canadian International boundary survey in the west, left on Saturday for Boston to assume the chair in geology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to which he was appointed last spring. The professor is one of the most important in geology on the continent, and Dr. Daly's appointment adds another to the growing list of graduates of Canadian universities who have achieved a conspicuous place in the faculties of American universities. He is a graduate of Victoria University, of the class of '90, and a Ph.D., of Harvard. His work for the geological survey has consisted in geologizing a traverse section of the Rockies, Selkirk and Coast ranges along the boundary, thereby giving a clue to the whole geological formation of the three ranges at any point.

CURED OF LOCKJAW.

Mrs. Keating Will Shortly Leave Hospital.

New York, Sept. 17.—A case of virulent tetanus, or lockjaw, has been cured by the doctors of the Williamsburg (Brooklyn) Hospital. There are, it is said, only a few similar cases on record. Six weeks ago Mrs. Keating was in the first stages of lockjaw from a wound from a rusty nail. Her agony was so intense that she was moved to the hospital. A course of injections agreed that her case was hopeless. Nevertheless, Dr. Henderson, of the house staff, injected anti-toxin and has done so every day since. A month passed without apparent result. The treatment began to show signs of success about a week ago. On Friday Mrs. Keating was allowed to leave her bed, and she will soon leave the hospital.
