SEVEN CASES OF TRUANCY REPORTED THIS WEEK.

An Investigation in Some Cases Reveals Some Most Deplorable Circumstances.

Already this week, seven cases of truancy have been reported to the police, and some of the police officers have been making a crusade against boys who play "hookey" from school.

From an investigation which has been conducted, it has led the officers to ask this question, "Are some of the parents neglecting their duty to their children?" It has caused some of them to think over the matter very seriously, and they have no hesitancy whatever, in stating that there are a number of parents who do not look after their children as they should.

Here is a case that will furnish a good example. A mother complained that she could not get her seven-year-old boy to attend school. "I can do nothing whatever with him," she said.

After his mother was away, the lad, with a companion, about his own age, was engaged in a game of cards. The game was brought to a rather sudden end, when an officer, who had been engaged on the truancy job, stepped up on the scene. The boys dropped the cards, and made a hasty exit, by way of the back door. It turned out that both the boys were numbered among the seven reported absent from school, during this week.

The police hold, and they are quite right when they say it, that when the parents go away from home and neglect their children, they are doing them a wrong. It is no wonder that the children act in such a manner. There is no reason why a mother should not be able to make a seven-year-old boy go to school.

Another truancy case was looked into. The mother said that it was impossible to get "her Johnny" to go to school.

"How is that?" was asked.

"His mother never gets up in time to get the boy's breakfast," was the neighbor's reply.

And, surely, it is not a sad state of affairs? But according to reports it is the truth, and the truth must be told.

But still another case of an extraordinary nature might be mentioned. A mother complained that her boy would not go to school, and, furthermore, that he was very saucy around the house.

"I am afraid to say a word to that boy, for fear that he will slap me in the face," said the mother.

Many cases before the police magistrate, in which boys have been accused of theft, have been investigated, and in the majority of them, it has been found that the lads have been sadly neglected by the parents.

AT THE POLICE COURT.

Two Cases Before the Magistrate To-Day.

The first hour of the day, at the police court, this morning, was taken up in hearing the non-payment of wages case, in which the plaintiff lost. The amount involved was $12.50.

Rosetta Carroll, an English girl, out a few months from the old country, claimed the amount from the Dominion Textile company, where she had been employed a few weeks.

Several of the office staff were called, and the evidence went to show that the plaintiff was not entitled to the sum asked, and the magistrate dismissed the charge. The plaintiff was offered his own way, but refused to accept it, saying that it was not the correct sum. The girl's father, who appeared in court, was instrumental in having the case go to court, and from the evidence, it was learned that he went to the cotton mill with his daughter, every pay day, to see that she got what was due her.

William Pollitt was charged with ill treating a horse. The complaint was lodged by Campbell McCullum.

Mr. McCallum said that he examined the horse on September 12th, and the animal was in a very bad way. It was learned that he went to the cotton mill with his daughter, every pay day, to see that she got what was due her.

Inspector Arnie, humane society officer, gave evidence. He did not see the horse, but witness told him that he would have to plead guilty to the charge of ill-using the horse.

In order to secure further evidence, the case was enlarged until Friday.

CITY AND VICINITY.

Grand Opening. Princess street, near Sydenham. Grand opening, Saturday, September 25th. Admission, 5c. Ladies and children are especially invited.

Every One Cordially Asked. An invitation is extended to the public to attend at St. George's hall, Thursday, 8 p.m., to hear Miss Riddell, Japan, tell of work among lepers. The work is most interesting. Miss Riddell, an English lady, of private means, is devoted to the work, and speaks with enthusiasm.

Was Boy Ill-treated? There was a mix-up near the Clarence street wharf, on Tuesday afternoon, and it is alleged that a man assaulted a twelve-year-old lad.

The parents of the boy have been investigating the case, and it was stated, to-day, that the case would probably come before the police court.

Kingston Should Act. A movement is under way at Toronto, to erect a memorial to the late Alexander Muir, author of the "Maple Leaf." Kingston should help because Mr. Muir was a Kingstonian.

There should be more as well as in Toronto, and if our national or historical societies will not act in this direction then let us help Toronto, even though not a few of its leading men were the only Canadians to do so.

It is not a memorial here. It is a memorial here. It is not a memorial here. It is a memorial here.

Did Not Do It Properly. On Tuesday afternoon one of the firemen was putting a new glass in Box No. 4, at the corner of Bay and Rideau streets. While engaged in the work, a woman came out of a nearby house and started to deal out a nice tongue lashing to him and his colleagues.

"There was a fire down here, yesterday afternoon," said the fireman never answered the alarm, "said the woman. The fire inside asked if she was sure the fire was down in, and she said she was, because she saw the man break the glass and turn the knob. He might stand there and do that all day long, and the men would not come, because that does not ring the alarm. The glass must be broken, both doors opened, and the hook pulled down before the alarm rings.

The fire woman spoke of took place in a bedroom of a house on Rideau street, but very little damage was done.

REGARDING THE STREETS.

Fine Piece of Road Being Completed on King Street.

The King street road, from Barris street to the breakwater, which the city engineer is just completing, is a fine piece of work. It is now being rolled smooth. Another week will complete it. This piece of road was constructed with stone supplied by the penitentiary. There will be probably enough left to rebuild the upper part of Johnson street next year.

The down town blocks are being scraped, and put into a much cleaner condition than they have recently been.

No sooner had the board of works department started to rebuild the Clarence street road between Barot and Wellington streets, than another civic department gets busy and digs an excavation. There is where the trouble is going to arise in the rebuilding of Kingston's streets. Did the board of works' committee give due notice of its intention to rebuild that particular piece of road? It should have done so.

The residents near O'Kill street will be pleased to hear that a couple lengths of pipe have been laid in connection with the sewer extension.

ASKS FOR DAMAGES.

Rather Unusual Case For the Police Court.

A case of a rather unusual nature will come before Magistrate Farrell, in the police court, on Friday.

A few days ago, a driver of a coal was delivering coal to a house near the plaintiff's place. The driver had to use the laneway running along side of his house, and through some accident, the rig was backed in against the kitchen of the house, and as a result, things were knocked topsy-turvy on the inside. Dishes and other things were smashed, so it is alleged, and to add further to the trouble, the rig was knocked down.

Now the tenant of the house wishes to be compensated for his loss, and is charging the driver of the rig with damage to property. The house referred to is a small frame and a very old building.

One was from Medicine Hat, another from Smyrna, Asia, and the third from Rome, Italy. All had reference to university studies and showed how widely known Queen's is.

The supplementary examinations in progress for this week will be over on Saturday. The results will be posted next Tuesday.

Queen's art and science classes reopen next Wednesday, October 2nd. Cannell Laidlaw and M. S. Macdonnell, who are Queen's science research and Rhodes scholars, have left for London, Eng.

Chancellor Fleming, Principal Gordon and Vice-Principal Watson have gone to Toronto to attend the inauguration of Rev. Dr. Falconer, as president of Toronto University.

The home of Allen Brown, Glenora Road, was the scene of a happy event, September 18th, when his youngest daughter, Georgina May, was happily united in marriage to William Jay Langdon, Brighton.

BATTLES IN VAIN

WIFE BARRED FROM HOME OF HIS PARENT.

Dragged to Patrol Wagon—Mother-in-Law, Widow of a Millionaire, Loses Her Case in Police Court—Had Opposed Marriage.

New York, Sept. 25.—As a result of her determined and persistent efforts to see her young husband, who lies ill in the home of his mother, Mrs. J. H. Harris, widow of a millionaire manufacturer, at Ninety-third street and Riverside drive, Mrs. F. H. Harris of No. 50 West Ninety-third street, was a prisoner yesterday in the night court. Magistrate Breen decided that the trouble was to be settled by those concerned and, expressing the opinion that the younger Mrs. Harris should be permitted to have her husband at her side, discharged her from custody.

Mrs. Harris' arrest followed a three-hour assault upon the apartments of her mother-in-law, which disturbed the other tenants of the apartment house, and resulted in the summoning of three policemen before the daughter-in-law was dragged, still resisting to a patrol wagon.

The elder Mrs. Harris is the widow of John H. Harris, president of the Waterbury company, a concern in which H. H. Rogers is interested. Four years ago, while the Harris family were occupying the old Rogers' home, in East Fifty-seventh street, Mrs. Harris, then thirty-three years old, fell ill and was unable to healthily by Miss Agnes Osborne, a trained nurse. The acquaintance ripened into love and they were married, despite the opposition of the Harris family.

Harris and his wife have been hoarding at No. 50 West Ninety-third street. He had been in Washington, and when he returned to the city on Saturday last he went to call at the home of his mother. While there he became ill, and when his wife called to see him she was refused admittance.

After several vain efforts to see her husband, Mrs. Harris broke a chain which held the outside door, and her mother-in-law then called Police-man Bushamer, who the young woman refused to go away and two more policemen were called to aid in removing her from the apartment house.

ADULTERATED MILK.

Farmers Fined Two on Second Offence.

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 25.—Four Binbrook farmers appeared before the police magistrate yesterday on a charge of adulterating milk. It was claimed by Irving N. Farrington, the government inspector, that they skimmed the cream from the milk before delivering it to a cheese factory at Woodburn.

The four farmers pleaded guilty to the charge. Edward Kidman and Edward Ramsbury were fined $20 each, as were before they were warned when caught at the same offence. John E. Kidman and John McEvey were fined $20 each, this being their first offence.

NO WORD OF COLLISION.

Between the Mongolian and the Hurons.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—Up to noon, to-day, neither the Allan line or Thomson line officers had received any particulars of the collision between the Mongolian and Hurons, reported in last night's gale. Officials expected that some information would be sent from Father Point, when the steamers reached there, to-day, to secure their river pilots. The two steamers reported early this morning at Matane, steaming slowly together, and the gulf reports mention that the Hurons' tow is badly damaged.

A WEALTHY LADY

Sick and in Despair She Sought Suicide.

Paris, Sept. 25.—The Petit Paris declares to-day, that a wealthy American woman, whose name the paper gives as Mrs. Frank G., made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide in this city, yesterday. The woman came to Paris seeking relief from rheumatism and she got worse and in despair attempted to end her life with a revolver.

Break Ocean Records.

London, Sept. 25.—Mr. Baker, the European manager of the C.P.R., interviewed by the Western Gazette, said the shareholders, at the meeting in Montreal, on October 2nd, would be asked to sanction the building of the twenty-two knot liners for the Atlantic service, so as to make the passage from Liverpool to Quebec in five days. The C.P.R. expect to cut the time from London to Brisbane down to twenty-four days.

Turkey Coming To Free Trade.

Constantinople, Sept. 25.—The sultan of Turkey ordered the exemption of the import duty on wheat. This step is in accordance with the recommendations made by the special commission which has been studying the best means of supplying the capital with the necessities of life. The sultan contemplates other measures of a similar nature.

Free After Long Term.
