That the application of Rev. Father Mea to have refunded the sum of $20.70, less two per cent, as a tax on the lot in front of the Hotel Dieu, be granted.

That the appeal of Francis King against the demand for payment of a dog tax of $1 be granted.

That the commission of the city official asking for an auditing machine the request be granted and that this committee pay one-third the cost of the same, namely, $125.

That the sum of $38 be paid as the city's share of the cost of entertaining the Ontario Historical Society.

That the sum of $1 per week be added to the appropriation in budget for typewriter in the clerk's office, beginning August 31st.

THE SPORT REVIEW

THE LIMESTONES ARE IN A QUANDARY.

Cannot Get Queen's Athletic Grounds Till Nov. 9th—To Make An Appeal to the University Athletic Committee—General News of Sport.

A meeting of the executive of Limestone football club, was held in the Troquois Hotel, on Monday afternoon to consider the coming games with Westmounts. Secretary Jolly received a letter from the Montreal team, stating that they were willing to play the first game in this city, and would like to play it on Saturday, but it is impossible to secure grounds for the game.

A committee was appointed to wait upon the Collegians, and see if another arrangement could not be arrived at to secure grounds for the game. The Westmounts want to play a double series, instead of a sudden death game on neutral grounds.

Should Be Generous. Queen's athletic committee should not refuse to grant the Kingston Limestone their grounds for the senior match with Westmount next Saturday, merely because Queen's H and R.M.C. are scheduled to play. This latter game could easily be played in the morning, or transferred to the R.M.C. campus. The edicts would, no doubt, be glad to thus accommodate the Limestone. The athletic committee of Queen's should remember that the people of Kingston are pretty good to the students while they sojourn here. The city has given much to the university, and the citizens support the university's football and hockey teams well. For the sake of a small game next Saturday, the athletic committee should not refuse Limestone the grounds. Let generosity prevail.

I.C.R.F.U. Changes. The representatives of the I.C.R.F.U. met in Kingston, on Saturday, and discussed the rules which will be rigidly enforced this year. Interference in the scrimmage and on the line will not be allowed. The side holding the ball may carry it in without waiting for the whistle to line up. It is thought that the enforcing of these rules will result in faster and also cleaner football and the officials will be expected to insist on the rules being rigidly carried out.

Queen's Ready For Ottawa. Queen's had a good workout at the campus yesterday afternoon. A large number were out and a good spirit work out was indulged in. After the practice the boys took a run around the field, to benefit their staying power. The athletes will have only two more hard practices before their first game on Saturday.

Sporting Notes. At New Westminster, B.C., the Teacups, Oct. 7, (To the Editor): The cross game to New Westminster by 12 to 6. The half time score was 9 to 3.

The majority of the horses that raced at Hamilton will take part in the Windsor meeting, which closes the season on the Canadian circuit, a season that has been the most successful ever known in Canada.

Ty. Cobb, the great young fielding, baserunning and batting sensation of the Detroit Tigers, is the leading batsman of the American League for 1907. Big Sam Crawford, the former Canadian League, was born in the County Down, Ireland, seventy-eight years ago, coming to this country when a child. Besides a sorrowing husband, three daughters and three sons, Mrs. John Hewton, King street, Mrs. A. W. Merriman, Johnson street, Mrs. D. J. Douglall, Brilliant, Ohio; James, at Battersea; Thomas H., at Boiesvaine, Man., and John M., Brock street, are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother. The deceased was a member of Sydenham Street Methodist church, and attended divine worship twice the day before she was taken ill. The funeral, which will be of a private nature, will be held, Wednesday afternoon, to Sand Hill cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Hughes. The death occurred on Monday evening, of the family residence, 361 Brock street, of Mrs. John Hughes, after an illness of only three weeks. The deceased, whose maiden name was Mary Kirkpatrick, was born in the County Down, Ireland, seventy-eight years ago, coming to this country when a child. Besides a sorrowing husband, three daughters and three sons, Mrs. John Hewton, King street, Mrs. A. W. Merriman, Johnson street, Mrs. D. J. Douglall, Brilliant, Ohio; James, at Battersea; Thomas H., at Boiesvaine, Man., and John M., Brock street, are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother. The deceased was a member of Sydenham Street Methodist church, and attended divine worship twice the day before she was taken ill. The funeral, which will be of a private nature, will be held, Wednesday afternoon, to Sand Hill cemetery.

Fools Use Washes And Snuffs. Thinking perhaps they will cure Catarrh—but no one ever heard of a genuine cure following such senseless treatments. There is just one prompt and thorough cure for Catarrh and it is through healing Catarrhones which goes right to the root of the trouble. It destroys the germs, heals the inflamed membranes and cures any case no matter how obstinate or long standing. I experimented for years with Catarrh remedies but found Catarrhones the most rational and satisfactory. writes W. J. MacEachern of Waterville. "It cured me for all time. For a complete cure use only Catarrhones. Cure outfit $3; trial size, 25c."

The New York Swindle. Kingston is not the only place where an attempt was made to swindle people by fake letters with the claim that C.P.R. shares had been left them by a dead relative. Word was received here that several citizens in Ingersoll, Cornwall and Lindsay had received similar letters from New York. So far as is known no one has been victimized.

When visiting the "Made-In-Canada" fair, be sure to see the Kingston Hosiery company's exhibit of Imperial Crown brand underwear. William Swaine, piano tuner. Orders received at McCann's, Phone 778. Scotch mitts are sold at Gibson's Red Cross drug store.

FOUND DEAD IN SLIP

THE SAD END OF JOHN N. KIVELL.

Left Windsor Hotel at Eleven O'Clock Last Night to Go Home—His Drowning a Mystery—Deceased Was a Man of Good Habits.

The body of John N. Kivell, district manager of the Singer Sewing Machine company, was found floating in the slip at the foot of Queen street at a quarter to seven o'clock this morning. The remains were found by Patrick Mallen, foreman for Robert Crawford, when he came to work.

When seen by the Whig Mr. Mallen said that he saw something floating that looked like a dog. He went around the yard, opened the dog of the coal sheds and came back to the slip, and this time saw the shoulder and back of the head of a man. The body was then lying at the stern of the barge, and was about twelve feet from the wharf. The moment the body was touched with a pike pole it turned over, and when drawn near the wharf sank in twelve feet of water.

A call was sent to the police station and P. C. Filson responded, and with the aid of some of the barge men pulled the body out on the wharf. Corbett's ambulance was summoned and removed the remains to the undertaking rooms on Princess street.

When the remains were examined by Coroner Ross no evidences of foul play were found. The deceased had $31.15 in his pockets, and his watch glasses and papers were all as they should be.

The deceased was around yesterday, and last evening, in his usual good spirits. He left his place of business on Princess street last evening at eight o'clock, in company with one of his travellers. They went across the road to the Bijou theatre. Later in the evening he was seen at a raffle held in a Princess street hotel, at which he won a large organ. About eleven thirty he left the Windsor hotel in company with W. H. Jenson, about which he was going home. This was the last seen of him alive.

The late Mr. Kivell had been connected with the Singer Sewing Machine company for the past twenty-five years, and had been their agent here for twelve years, previous to which he was situated at Oshawa, Picton and other western towns. The deceased was a man of good habits, and during his business career in this city had made many strong and lasting friends by his attention to his business and his courteous manner at all times.

The deceased leaves a wife and one son, William H., a barber, in the city, and one brother, Edward, in Oshawa. The late Mr. Kivell was born in the west fifty-six years ago. He was a Methodist in religion, being a member of Sydenham street Methodist church.

A UNIQUE EXPERIENCE. Swindlers Tried to Work a Detroit Lawyer.

Mr. Bentley, a lawyer from near Detroit, Mich., who has been in Picton the past few days in connection with some money matters, had a unique experience with two would-be swindlers en route to Picton. On the train from Detroit, his fellow seat when Mr. Bentley, in the course of his mate made himself very agreeable and conversation, mentioned his destination, the swindler said: "Why, how nice, I am going to Kingston, so I will have you as companion the greater part of the way." At Sarnia, Mr. Bentley's seat-mate got out, as he willingly explained, to express several parcels that he had carried over the border for friends. Shortly, Mr. Unknown returned. "I have only American bills on my person and as they are not cash there, I thought perhaps you could lend me $10 till we get to Toronto," he said to Mr. Bentley, at the same time showing the latter a wad of money. "Perhaps I am presuming too much on a stranger," Mr. Unknown smiled and then happily interjected, but to show you my faith in you, if you lend me the $10 I will give you my cheque. Just as Mr. Bentley was about to refuse, a burly man came down the car, "Come on out here and pay those express charges," he called to Mr. Unknown's attention, "I thought you were seeking escape with his accomplice (the swindler as the express agent.) The swindlers had played a slick little game, but the lawyer didn't bite it."

Files Cured In 6 To 14 Days. Pazo Ointment is guaranteed to cure any case of itching, blind, bleeding or protruding piles in six to fourteen days or money refunded, 50c.

One of A. Q. Scammon's excellent companies will be the attraction at the Grand on Monday, October 14th, presenting the cyclone of mirth and comedy, "Side Tracked." There are more realistic situations in the play than perhaps any other show of its class on the road.
