SCHOONERS WRECKED

THEY WERE DISABLED NEAR SOUTHAMPTON.

The Eric Stuart Knocked Things About and Sank Beside the Pier—Another on a Rock Bottom and Founding Hard.

Southampton, Ont., Oct. 8.—Last night a north-west gale was responsible for two wrecks at this port. About 9.30 o'clock, the schooner Eric Stuart light, from Chatham for Parry Sound, while endeavoring to make the harbor struck the north breaker, on Chantry Island, disabled the North Range light, and sank immediately.

The vessel had only time to pump to the pier. The vessel is a total loss. About four o'clock this morning, the schooner Ontario, loaded with camp supplies from Chatham for the north shore, tried to make Southamton Harbor but, owing to the north range light being disabled, was obliged to try to make the Saugen river. She struck on the bar at the mouth of the river, and now lies on a rock bottom about one hundred yards south of the entrance and about the same distance from the shore. She is leaning heavily and will likely be a total loss. The crew are all safe. The cargo can be saved.

SURGLAR GASHED HIS ARM.

Bleeding Trail in Store Disclosed Movements.

Brockville, Ont., Oct. 8.—The large fur store of Robert Craig & Co., on King street, was entered from the third floor, to get at the catch holding the window fast, the intruder smashed a pane of glass, cutting his hand and arm severely in the operation. A stream of blood followed, and the movements of the man showed he had covered much of the premises, stopping at the safe on the ground floor. This, however, was not tampered with, neither did it know what stock, if any, is missing. The burglar went out the same way he came in. Enquiry of every doctor in town failed to give any trace of the guilty party.

Mr. Lewis' Charges.

Brockville, Ont., Oct. 8.—When seen at his home after the result was announced, Mr. Lewis made the following statement: "The liberal use of money placed in the hands of licensees for distribution throughout the riding, by the coercion of government employees at the Brockville asylum and elsewhere, and by the promise to spend $75,000 at the said asylum immediately if the government candidate was returned, Mr. Donovan succeeded in carrying the Brockville riding by a substantial majority. Notwithstanding the reported disaffection among local conservatives on account of the unfair distribution of patronage, the government made amendments therefor by handing out to the disaffected members and others a share of the plums during the fortnight preceding the election, and brought them into the fold. Others looking for similar favors were also not forgotten, to the extent that the liberal candidate found arrayed against him several whose support in a fair field he might be justified in expecting to receive."

HARVEST THANKSGIVING.

Services Held in St. Mark's Church, Barriefield.

On Sunday, Oct. 6th, the annual Harvest Thanksgiving services were held in St. Mark's church, Barriefield, which was beautifully decorated with fruits, and flowers, grain and vegetable, interspersed with moss and berries, presenting altogether a most attractive appearance.

The service commenced punctually at eleven o'clock, and the musical portion was well and effectively rendered by the choir and organist, particular pains having been taken in previous practices to offer such an outstanding evidence of abolishing home work for younger pupils.

Premier Clemenceau, in an address at Amiens, repudiated the actions of the socialist allies of the French republicans. Miss Kathleen Parlow, a Canadian, aged seventeen, has caused considerable stir by her violin-playing in Berlin, Germany.

She is out of commission and is now employed at a receiving ship there.

Inquest Not Necessary.

Dr. Ross decided that an inquest was not necessary in the Kivallik drowning, as no evidence of foul play or of the man committing suicide was forthcoming. The general verdict is that the unfortunate victim was walking along the wharf and that he fell in. No city help could have been made, as there were men asleep on the barge not ten feet away from where he fell in. The fact that the body was found floating, hooked on the wharf and dead before he fell into the water, might be the case, as he might have been seized with heart failure.

Loughboro Day.

A carload of farm produce arrived to-day, for the Made-in-Canada exhibition, the gift of Loughboro people. A big wagon from the same district, in on its way here, loaded with home made bread, buns, cake, candy, fruit, etc. These goods will all be opened up to-morrow morning, and offered for sale at the farm products booth at the armories, which, for the day, will be in charge of Loughboro ladies. Sydenham village and the surrounding countryside have done their duty nobly.

DEFENDS POPULAR SONGS.

Says Kissing Has Place in World.

Popular songs of the day—even the kind that admittedly are trashy—are not all bad, according to the Rev. W. A. Quayle, pastor of St. James' Methodist church, Chicago, who addressed the Des Plaines camp meeting recently.

The "goo-goo" kind, so long as they express pure joyousness, and even warblings as "Moonbeams," "Star Gleams," "I'm Lonesome Tonight" and "Won't You Come Over to My House?" need not come under the ban. The preacher, whose sage epigrams and oratory have stirred the camp meeting daily, holds that along with kissing such happy effusions have their legitimate place in the life of the world.

"The saddest sight I ever saw," said Dr. Quayle in sermon, "was a man eighty years and more old, swearing. Think of it, swearing at a time when he should have been smiling on his way to heaven. Lips were made to sing, to speak words of cheer and wholesome thoughts and praise God.

"It's a pity when so much has been given to us." Dr. Quayle likened men to lost coins, and preached from the scripture parable of the woman who having ten coins lost one and searched for it diligently.

Dr. Quayle's views of finance as expressed recently follow: "A pocket piece is a humbug. A man gave me one once and I spent it. I did not want a pocket piece, but a piece of bread." "Money is one road to do good, when we spend it in worthy ways." "Money is the force which moves the business of the world."

"The mission of money is to be doing business." "Money is fleets of ships freighted with grain and steel. It is made to purchase education, enlightenment and truth."

"We are God's money, and must be used in his service." Dr. Quayle also discussed the uses of the picture postal card. "You can't walk into people's hearts," he said. "You must kneel your way in. We must pray for each other. But don't send a person postal cards and say 'I'm praying for you. There is no need of being a fool when not born once.' Men, he said, had been 'utterly lost,' like the coin in the parable, but had been 'utterly found again,' through love of Christ.

Dr. Quayle's sermon could not be saved through Whittier's poems, or study of Millet's pictures. The audience was the largest weekly gathering of the series, just before the sermon, the Rev. C. C. Wilford of China, sang "O Happy Day," according to the Chinese version. Many of the ministers attending the camp meeting had luncheon with about 200 haxman, who held a holiday in the grove just beyond the camp grounds.
