WHOLESALE MURDER

Dread Rites of Devil Worship of Fiddler Indians in Kewatin

Police to Wipe Out Practice--Two Constables Take Two Old Chieftains, Murderers, From Midst of Hostile Band.

Selkirk, Manitoba, Oct. 9.—The party of the commissioner of the Royal North-West Mounted Police which is going north to conduct the trial of two Cree chiefs for wholesale murder did not get away from here, as was originally intended on October 3rd. They left Saturday, the members of the commissioner's court having been delayed by the non-arrival of the steamer Premier, which had been kept up in Lake Winnipeg by variable weather for two days. The party left for the north for Warren's Landing, thence to Norway House, the scene of the trial of John Pa-couan, chief of the Fiddler tribe of Indians, and Jose, his nephew, for the ruthless slaughter of members of the tribe according to the dread rites of We-te-go, or devil worship, practiced by this savage tribe of the Cree nation.

The fact of the frequent practice of this heathish ceremony by this and one or two other isolated tribes of the Cree has long been known. The records of the Mounted Police contain several specific cases, with the partial evidence of scores of tragedies, yet in all former instances the perpetrators have not been punished. Public sentiment, even in the lonely regions where these tribes lead their lives and among the Hudson's Bay company's Indians, has reached such a height over the continuance of these barbarous practices that a halt has been called, and with a strong case, and with prisoners of high standing in the tribe the police hope to establish a salutary precedent that will stamp out this horrible cult of fratricide, for it is generally upon relatives that the We-te-go is passed.

The tragedy upon which this trial is to be based occurred last autumn on the shores of Red Deer Lake, northeast of the Manitoba line, one of the wildest and most inaccessible districts in all Kewatin. There fell the young and comely squaw of William Pa-couan was taken ill with a fever, probably scarlet fever, and all the incantations of the medicine men failed to bring about a recovery. The disease delirium set in. To the superstitions of the tribe this indicated that she was possessed of a devil, and the uncontrolled moanings of the little squaw, were her death warrant.

Possessed Of The Devil.

Upon the appearance of the delirium symptoms the medicine men informed the chief that the woman was possessed of We-te-go. This was judgment, and upon its utterance (the seventy-year-old sister began to prepare for the execution of the sentence. Half-crazed as she was, it is written in the records of the time that she executed capital punishment upon individuals possessed of We-te-go, although in this case it was his daughter-in-law. It is his belief that her only chance for reaching the happy hunting grounds lay in her death during a rational moment of her delirium. If she died delirious, it would have been to her soul's damnation, and if alive she would be a crazy cannibal, devouring her own children.

Then as soon as the young matron lost her fever all the tribe assembled in the open. Foremost among the hunters was her husband, being the mark of a coward for a relation to stay away from such an important rite. Later came the squaw bearing the sick woman from her bed. The chief, too well understood the dire preparations for the awful sacrifice, but her feeble struggles were silenced by a word and a blow.

The struggle form was laid at the feet of the chief, and his nephew, Jose, and while half a dozen braves held the writhing woman the chief and Jose strangled her with a stout silk cord. A wild wailing and howling, which was all that was needed to complete the revolting ceremony of the We-te-go.

The news of the tragedy filtered along and among the natives and half-breeds of the far north until it reached the police post at the head of the Nelson River, whereupon Sergt. D. B. Smith, who had, with two constables, to patrol a walkway of 400 miles across, despatched two policemen, J. A. O'Neill and W. J. Hashman, to Deer Lake.

SHOT BY HIS FIANCEE.

Young Engineer Murdered By Girl.

Dresden, Oct. 9.—Frau Grete Bayer, daughter of the late Burgermeister Brand, has been arrested on a charge of murdering her fiance, a young Chemnitz engineer, for the purpose of obtaining a fortune of £300 he had bequeathed her as an engagement gift. The engineer was found dead May 11th.

The girl has confessed she lured him to his fate by jokingly suggesting she had a surprise for him which he could get only by being unfaithful and then opening his mouth. After bandaging her victim's eyes the girl forced a revolver down his throat, and shot him leaving the room and the weapon in a condition which indicate suicide.

TO MAINTAIN DIGNITY.

Japan's Citizens Would Spend The Last Penny For It.

Yokohama, Oct. 9.—Count Okuma, leader of the opposition discussing the statements made by Mr. Taft when he was in Tokio, says it was difficult to understand the transfer of the United States fleet to the Pacific, but he believed the matter could be settled amicably. Japan, although financially distressed, would go to war to-morrow with any power if her national pride were insulted. Her citizens would spend their last penny to uphold her national dignity.

A SWEET FACED GIRL.

And is Greatly Devoted to Outdoor Life.

Miss Ethel Roosevelt, the second daughter of the president, is a daughter of the great forest of Honduras. A. W. Reid, the first of the Vancouver rioters to be tried, was found guilty and sentenced to six months in jail.

SUBJUGATING NATIONS.

The Japanese Have Had Much Hard Fighting.

Tokio, Japan, Oct. 9.—After more than three months of hard fighting by the Japanese army of operations against the savage natives of Formosa, it has succeeded in subjugating a section of the heretofore uninhabitable section of the island. Not only were the Formosans holding what may be called their own section of the island, but they were gradually encroaching upon that which has been brought under the control of the Chinese and their successors, the Japanese.

SENT TO JAIL.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—The department of trade and commerce has been informed that seventeen Chinese, who were caught while being smuggled into Canada from Newfoundland, have been sentenced to nine months in jail at Sydney. The captain of the schooner which brought them in has also been found guilty of smuggling.

WARNING GIVEN

That Infernal Machines Had Been Sent By Mail.

Denver, Col., Oct. 9.—Governor H. A. Buckel, David H. Moffatt, president of the National Bank of Denver, and Charles B. Tonzie, president of the Colorado National Bank, received through the mails, yesterday infernal machines, containing enough dynamite to cause great destruction of lives and property had been exploded. Warning, however, had been given to the recipients of the machines by Chief of Police Delaney, who had obtained a confession from V. B. Bignow, by whom they were mailed, and consequently no one was hurt.

PROTECTING WIDOWS

He Declares He is God's Steward of Standard Oil.

John D. Rockefeller's Conception of Himself--Daren't Let Go His Interests Because Others Would be Imperilled.

New York, Oct. 9.—John D. Rockefeller's private conception of himself as the steward of the Standard Oil wealth, responsible to God alone for its stewardship, was quoted Sunday by the Rev. Dr. Robert MacArthur, the pastor of Calvary Baptist church, before his young people's class. Dr. MacArthur said: "A few years ago some one asked Mr. Rockefeller privately why it was since he had such a tremendous fortune and his tastes were so simple, that he could not possibly use one-tenth of his income, that he did not retire. Mr. Rockefeller then made a reply, that he did not intend should be made public, and which gives an attitude of his mind never before appreciated by the public. I am the trustee of the property of others," he said, "through the providence of God, committed to my care. I am the steward of vast interests belonging to great part, to widows and orphans, and others who are actually or relatively poor. For this holding I am responsible to God. Were I to give up my interest in the Standard Oil company I would imperil the interests of these people, according to the popular supposition that my withdrawal would hurt the company's business. Therefore, I feel it my duty to God, and the people whose money is invested in my company, to continue active in its welfare."

Benjamin Greenberg, a wealthy Brooklyn jeweler, it is alleged by the police, threw a half pint of nitric acid down the back of his wife, in Brooklyn, and then suffered a mobbing at the hands of an indignant crowd.

The vote on the by-law to loan the Shortells, limited, $30,000 to assist in the establishment of a wood alcohol factory, at Perry Sound, was defeated owing to the fact that the total vote did not reach the required sixty per cent. of the assessment roll.

Robert Rotherford, a highly-respected gentleman of Mitchell, who is seventy-six years of age, was married, last Friday, to Mrs. William McCulloch, a woman between sixty and seventy years of age. The marriage took place in Stratford.

Socialists are having a bad time in France and Spain. In France the agitators, who have been preaching the appropriation of property and a general strike in case of France going to war, have been repudiated by the majority of the republican deputies, and they have been invited from Spain to denounce the recent actions of Spain and France in Morocco have been expelled from the country.

DOVONAN'S MAJORITY.

He Was Elected in Brockville By a Majority of 325.

Brockville, Ont., Oct. 9.—The final returns in the election give Donovan a majority of 325. The vote was:

Brockville	952	847
Elizabethtown	554	374
Athens	87	86
Front of Escott	128	109
Front of Young	143	194
Rear Yonge and Escott	172	101
	2,036	1,711

Donovan's maj. 325.

The new ballot, which the government boasted as being so secret, is far from what it is claimed, and came in for a lot of censure from followers of both sides. The paper is so thin that the least mark of pencil could be seen on the reverse side, and to add to the confusion of the electors the initials of the deputy returning officers were "written" on the ballot.

Nearly a proper fold could not be made. Although the vote was up to the average, the election was just as quietly carried out as the campaign. At the last general election on January 25th, 1905, when the candidates were Hon. George P. Graham and Mr. Donovan, the figures were: Graham, 2,291; Donovan, 2,072, making a majority of 219. Mr. Graham held the seat from 1898 until last month. It was long represented in the legislature by the Hon. Christopher F. Fraser, who first carried it at the general election of 1879, and was re-elected in 1883, 1886 and 1890. His majority over David Mappell in 1886 was 255, and over Kinney in 1890, 161. In 1891 G. A. Dana (liberal) defeated R. J. Jelly (conservative) by 267.

ROAD BEING SPOILED

By Excavations After Rebuilding Has Begun.

People passing down Clarence street, this morning, were startled to see men at work tearing up a portion of the half macadamized road in order to construct a drain to the centre of the street. Mrs. Toye and Robertson were among the early spectators and were disgusted with the sight. This is the second excavation made since the board of works began to rebuild this block. The trouble is that the board gave the property owners no notice of its intention to rebuild this piece of road. Six months' notice has been given, so that the owners could have seen to their drains, etc. Now a piece of road which is being so well done will be spoiled by two depressions caused by the excavations. The board of works will have to adopt a better plan. Let it advertise, this autumn, the blocks that it is likely to rebuild next season. Then there will be little excuse for excavations being made after the blocks are made up.

Ald. Gaskin said it was unfortunate that property owners did not have their drains attended to before the road rebuilding was begun. He supposed that ten years' notice would have to be given to some of the citizens.

Leaving For Buffalo.

Francis E. Harrison, Queen street, a well-known and popular Kingstonian, is leaving for Buffalo, where he will reside permanently. Last night he was waited upon by a number of his intimate friends, and presented with a testimonial from him. The recipient made a most suitable reply. During Mr. Harrison's stay in the city, he has made a host of friends, and in his new field of labor across the border, he carries with him the best wishes of all of them.

Is Pretty Low.

The sneak thief who would steal from a hospital hazar, from an institution that takes pity upon the thief and degraded treats them like princes, has a soul so small, and a real spirit so mean, that it could not be detected under the most powerful analyzing microscope. The stocks or the ducking stool should be revived for this person's benefit.

The Canadian commission to Japan to interview the mikado's government will likely be Hon. Mr. Lemieux, accompanied by Mackenzie King.
