COMMERCIAL MATTERS.

What is Going on in the Business World—The Markets.

Failure in the diamond this week 42,000.
There is a factory in Amsterdam which cuts and polishes 400,000 diamonds annually. Most of the work is done by women.

The Grand Trunk Railway company is gradually preparing to haul coal from the mines in the system between Montreal and Chicago.

The United States steel earnings for October will compare favorably with the corresponding month in the company's history, with the exception of 1900.

The net profits of the Missouri Bank this year were $97,000 greater than those in 1906, the year the bank established its high-water mark for earnings. Recent estimates give $800,000 miles of telephone and telegraph poles in the United States. At an average of forty poles to the mile there are 32,000,000 in use and in twelve years, there are needed each year more than 2,500,000.

J. B. Robinson, chairman of the Robinson South Africa Banking company and owner of gold mines in South Africa, figures that there is a million millions of gold that can yet be taken out of the Rand. According to the Geological Survey a million millions of pounds would be the equivalent of $5,000,000,000,000.

Forrest, the President of the Missouri and Ontario Navigation Co., 1907, when men with regard to the report that the company might reduce its dividend, said that while the company had a bad year, the regular quarterly dividend of the rate of 5 per cent, per annum would be declared at the next meeting next Thursday.

October earnings of United States Steel Co. is believed, will total about $13,500,000, against $14,800,000 in October, 1906. For the year it is roughly figured that the company will show earnings of over $100,000,000 as compared with $106,000,000 last year. The surplus at times of the year is $10,000,000, the largest in its history.

The Canadian camera has given a picture of an advance in the price of second-hand cameras of ten cents a dozen. It is said that the retailers in the United States buy camera cameras at $7.40 per dozen, whereas by reason of the operation of "Canadian Camera, Limited," which controls thirty-one factories, the price in Ontario is $1.27 1/2 cents a dozen. The reason advanced by the Canadian camera is that the crop is shorter this year and the cost of help greater.

More Like This Person.

A regular Mr. Malaprop recently came home from his first visit to Europe. He grew enthusiastic about Rome.

"It was fine," he declared, "to go into them churches over there and see the old tombs and sarcophagi, they are great. And then the Vatican is great, and as for the Vatican, where the pope lives, well!"

But his stock of compliments gave out when he got to the subject of beggars.

"I always refused them money," he said, "because, you see, I didn't want to set a bad prestige!"

A Splendid Hull.

M. B. Mills, Napawa, is engaged building a new sailing yacht. The boat is forty feet eight inches in length and thirteen feet beam. The keel weighs two tons, and is composed of oak and iron. The bottom is being built of white oak up to about eight inches above the water line, the boards being from twenty-nine to forty-three feet in length. It will be one of the staunchest and most comfortable craft in the district.

TRIES TO SUICIDE

"MARQUIS" AND WIFE ROB CHURCH POOR-BOX.

Woman Picks Out Coins With Piece of Whalebone and Seizes Them in Umbrella.

Paris, Oct. 19.—A man and woman, both white-haired and well dressed, were detected in the Church of Notre Dame, yesterday, stealing money from the poor-boxes.

A heavily noticed that the man prayed in various parts of the church for an unusually long time, and finally saw the woman take a whalebone from her umbrella, and after dipping it into a poor-box, drop it into the umbrella again. The man meanwhile, carefully masked the operation. The handle promptly laid hands on the couple, but the man—to whom the woman alluded as "the marquis"—broke away and escaped.

When the woman was taken before the vicar of Notre Dame she threw herself at his feet and begged him to let her go. She declared that she and her husband were of noble family and their arrest for theft would kill their children with grief and shame.

The vicar asked for their name, but this was refused, and he sent for the police. As she was being conducted to the police station—a distance of only a few hundred yards—she made several desperate attempts to throw herself into the Seine.

Her umbrella was found to contain several pounds' worth of silver coins which had been extracted from the poor-boxes by a piece of whalebone smeared with a sticky substance. The identity of the "marquis" has not been discovered.

CONQUERING A SEA.

Little Holland After Its Old Enemy.

Little Holland, with its 5,000,000 people living safely behind their wave-washed dykes, is about to make a new conquest from its old enemy, the ocean, via Techniek, World Magazine, for November. Already Dutch engineers have begun the tremendous task which will result in turning the Zuider Zee into 1,400 square miles of dry land. There of old the great Dutch war fleets gathered, where now four thousand fishermen sink their nets, there will rise happy villages, broad pastures, poplar-bordered roads and sleepy canals—new farms and homes for 50,000 Dutchmen. The task is tremendous and will cost $75,000,000. In return the government expects to secure annual rentals of more than $5,000,000 from those who occupy and till the hard won ground.

The Zuider Zee has occupied a most prominent place in Dutch history. On its shores are the ancient towns of Hoedemilck, Hoorn, Harderwyck, Noorden and Enkhuizen, under whose walls the Dutch fleets used to lie at anchor in the days when Holland disputed with England the supremacy of the seas. It seems perfectly appropriate, now that Holland has turned from the ways of war, to the paths of peace, that she should win in a great fight with the sea—a fight that has continued throughout hundreds of years—gaining victory only by ceaseless vigilance and fierce endeavor. And yet one cannot but experience a feeling of regret that those ancient cities which, though nations rose and fell made good the circles of their battered ramparts, denying allies the power of the sea and the might of Spain, should become quiet inland towns, far removed from the roar of the breakers against the dykes.

Frank Avowal.

It is not only the United States that are not slow to build up the ships for her navy but it costs Great Britain to build her ships, but the ships of the United States navy are not nearly so well built or planned as the British ships. According to the number of the Navy, the naval bureau at Washington, and incidentally the entire department, are responsible for the recent fatal disasters on the Missouri and the Georgia. The Navy asserts that sea-going officers again and again have remonstrated against the unsatisfactory and faulty construction of the turrets, but in spite of such protests the defective methods have been continued.

Both Legs Broken.

Accident to an Italian—Struck by a Hand Car.

Francisco Varcaro, an Italian forty-five years of age, was brought to the Hotel Dieu, Saturday morning, from Verona, with a compound fracture of both legs. He was working on the K. & P. railway with the ballast gang, and was struck by a hand car moving both legs, as the breaks are very bad.

House Warming at Washburn.

A pleasant evening took place at Washburn, on Wednesday evening last when Mr. Chisholm, the general manager of the Perfect Brick and Tile company, threw open the doors of the large new boarding house, to the young people of the neighborhood. Keys' orchestra of three pieces was in attendance and furnished delightful music. Dancing was the prevailing amusement, and was kept up till the wee sma' hours. Supper was served at twelve o'clock, after which Miss Rose McCarey and Mr. Leal, the mechanical engineer of the company, gave a very fine selection of the old-time Scotch songs, which were on the violin were of no common order and were much appreciated. Mr. and Mrs. Orr, who had charge of the house, entertained the guests, as only those who know how to entertain can have the best wishes of all that were present.

Manion-Carroll.

A quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized at the Roman Catholic church, Chippewa, on September 26th, when Miss Eliza Carroll and Peter Manion were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. J. J. Connelly, and the ceremony was witnessed by the bride and groom's most intimate friends and relatives. The bride, beautifully attired in a handsome costume of white silk, and was ably assisted by Miss A. Macdonald, while similar function were adequately performed by the groom's brother, Patrick, of Auburn. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous wedding repast awaited them. The costly and numerous presents, among which were a quarter-oak sideboard, gift of the groomsmen, and a silver tea service, gift of the groom's brother, attested to the high esteem held of the newly married couple. The bride and groom, with the couple, left for the afternoon train for Niagara Falls, Detroit, Buffalo and Auburn. Mr. and Mrs. Manion are highly respected by their numerous friends, and all join in wishing every happiness in their future home at York.

DR. PUGSLEY AGAIN

TELLS OF THE CORRUPTION FUND OF THE TORJES.

Says—Conservative Ring in Montreal Had Half a Million and Sent a Bagful Into New Brunswick Riding.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 19.—That conservative party leaders, in a little circle in Montreal alone, at the time of the last general election, got together half a million dollars for the purpose of corrupting constituencies, and that $25,000 was sent into one constituency in New Brunswick, was the charge brought by Hon. William Pugsley in a speech at the Queen's-Sunbury nomination meeting.

Dr. Pugsley ran over his Fairview utterances saying that if a man lied or was guilty of hypocrisy it was through downright cunningness, and that was what R. E. Borden had been doing.

The $25,000 sent into a New Brunswick constituency came through a bank in Montreal, $5,000 of it on October 24th, 1904, and $20,000 on Oct. 27th. It was wired to the partner of the candidate in the conservative interests. These facts were disclosed a few weeks ago in the course of certain legal proceedings. Mr. Pugsley would not put up any plea of privilege in this matter. It was a charge against all the managers of the conservative party in Montreal and the lower provinces, and they would find it could be proved.

QUEEN'S MEN IN OTTAWA.

To Help With Endowment Arranging For a Dinner.

An Ottawa special to the Whig says: It is probable that the fifty Queen's University graduates living here will hold a dinner some time in November or December to which they will invite Principal Gordon, of Queen's, and perhaps other members of the staff. A committee, composed of Messrs. F. H. Chrysler, J. H. Turnbull, and Rev. J. H. Turnbull, was appointed to consider the matter and report to the council of the University Graduates' Association. The graduates of Toronto University, who live here, are having a dinner November 15th to enable the members to meet Principal Falconer, and it is practically certain that those from Queen's will also make arrangements.

F. H. Chrysler presided at the meeting, held at the normal school, last night, when these officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Dr. E. D. Fleming; president, F. H. Chrysler, K.C.; secretary, Rev. J. H. Turnbull; Dr. R. Waters, Miss Mackenzie and Dr. R. Minnie; secretary-treasurer, J. H. Turnbull; Messrs. Andrew Haywood, I. T. Norris, J. C. Spence, J. I. MacCracken, J. F. Power, Dr. Thoburn, A. J. Meiklejohn, and W. Curle.

There was some discussion regarding the endowment of the university. An effort is being made to raise $500,000. Andrew Carnegie has promised $100,000, if the other $400,000 is subscribed. Of this, some $300,000 has been promised and the collectors are on the home stretch, and getting rather the last $100,000. The opinion was expressed that Ottawa graduates should cooperate in every way possible, and if they heard of anyone who would likely subscribe that they should not hesitate in letting Rev. Mr. Laird, who is looking after this matter, know.

BOAT WAS UPSET.
Three Sailors Had a Very Cold Dip.

About 8.30 o'clock, Saturday morning, the police were notified that there was a small sail boat ashore on the easterly side of Point Frederick. Sergeant Nesbitt and Constable Arnel located the officers located the boat, and on the point, hidden behind a fence, was also found a value, which contained clothing of the sort usually worn by sailors. There was considerable water in the boat, and the sails were found in the water close by. The oars were in the boat. The officers bailed out the boat and brought it to the city.

It was thought that some person or persons had been drowned, but the mystery was soon cleared up, when James Cunningham, a sailor, was located by the police. Cunningham, James Adams and James Moore, had rented the boat at Black's boathouse, to go to Garden Island to secure some things of the steamer Bermuda. On their return trip they met with a mishap, and the boat was upset. They left the boat at the point, and came over to the city to change their clothing.

Masculine Fads.
New York News.

The women—there were three of them—had arrived at that stage of confidence in their conversation which made it possible to exchange views regarding mere man as exemplified by their husbands.

"Talk about fussiness," said one, "I'd like to have you cater for John through a week. What do you suppose he asked for the other morning? He said the only way that bacon ought to be cooked was to have the fat crisp and the lean part just warmed through."

"My husband," said the second sufferer, "won't drink orange juice unless it has been strained twice."

"And mine," said the third, more in sorrow than in anger, "won't touch grapes unless I can assure him that they have been washed in at least three waters."

YEAR 74.

THE BEST

Has Served a

London, Oct. 15.—"Elizabeth Knyly, lady's maid to Mrs. Albert Wettin."

Such an entry would be quite correct if it were written on the glitter of royal coats—the things! It is written on the (pronounced Knowles) is bedchamber woman to her majesty Queen Alexandra.

Because the mistress is royal position becomes one of honor instead of servility. Yet one cannot away from the fact that Miss Knyly is to all intents and purposes the dearest friend and confidential companion.

Quite recently Charlotte Knyly completed her forty-fourth year this position. Nightly she has slept under the roof as her mistress and daily time has she tended her and her wants so carefully and faithfully at the royal palaces she has for the nicknames of "The Shadow."

No one need envy Miss Knolly's job. Yearly it grows more difficult the more the mistress is in the queen's life. The queen is a most exacting and with age her infirmities are a thing. But the public does not know that the queen's deafness has been a trifle irritable and that not for the fact of royal palaces life at the various royal palaces be for the queen's household staff at times. Miss Knolly is Alexandra's good angel. She is the great link between the queen and the outside world, not even leaving out Edward VII.

The loss of Miss Knolly would perhaps, one of the greatest misfortunes could suffer. For this lady who never for one day in forty years has been away from her mistress, is the only woman who knows the secrets of the queen's life.

And her reward? Who Charlotte Knolly, on the accession of King Edward was given the title of honorable and raised by royal warrant to the position of lady's daughter. By virtue of her position she has first place in all unmarried women entitled to the prefix of honorable. Her position now in the British empire is that of a minor foreign order of decorations bestowed by the queen. And as to salary—she receives $3,500 a year from the queen and $1,500 from the queen's purse. What further emolument she receives she does not say. Her gifts she may receive her majesty or elsewhere she donates alone know.

Of course, Miss Knolly has her lodgings and servants and such things free at Buckingham Palace and Windsor Palace and whenever the queen is visiting.

While she is the costliest maid in all the world, I believe her emoluments, her surround-bonage of great courtiers are in the rays of royalty.

Charlotte Knolly, for all and all her sacrifices of the past four years and—there are yet more to come.

The greatest sacrifice of the old woman was that the sacrifice at the repeated surgeries of
