

Things to Remember In Buying FURS.

A low price seems to be the whole aim of some people in buying furs. It lacks judgment.

Pay More If You Rather Get Poor Furs of Little Value

Good fur always has a value of its own—like a fine diamond. We give our furs garments quality and style to make them perfect and void worry by selling only such garments as we can absolutely guarantee. We urge shoppers to do their buying early—not only because of the better service we can give, but because the variety is greatest now, and some of the styles are limited to one or two of a kind.

We invite inspection and do everything in our power to help you make intelligent comparisons.

There's no room in this business for anything in any sense inferior. The McKay label on Fur of any sort is a guarantee of excellence.

We make everything we sell, and guarantee everything we make.

John McKay Fur House,
149-155 BROOK ST.
KINGSTON.

GRAVE CRISIS

Precipitated by New York Failure.

SECURITY VALUES

TOOK A VERY BIG SLUMP ON TUESDAY.

No Loans Could Be Secured on Stock Exchange Collateral—A Prominent House Went Down in the Crash—Cortelyou Hurred From Washington.

New York, Oct. 23.—Overborne in its efforts to stall off a series of runs on its central office and all three of its branches, the Knickerbocker Trust company suspended payment yesterday afternoon. At each office it was announced to depositors that the company was entirely solvent, but that it could not muster enough cash, yesterday, to meet the tremendous demands that were made upon it. The failure of an institution with total resources, named in its last statement as close to $70,000,000, following the troublesome events of the previous seven days in Clearing House banks, precipitated a grave crisis in finance.

SECRETARY CORTELYOU.

There was a crash in the stock market, which carried security values to a much lower average figure than has been seen in many years. Loanable funds were tightly held, almost all of the banks and trust companies hoarding their funds to an extraordinary degree. Call money consequently advanced sharply to seventy per cent, and during a large part of the day no loans at all could be made on stock exchange collateral.

The situation was aggravated by rumors affecting other stock companies which were bruited about the street throughout the day, and the failure of Marcus Meyer & Co., a prominent stock exchange house, with liabilities of $6,000,000.

Conferees to devise means for the relief of this situation were held almost constantly from the opening of business until six o'clock at night. Secretaries of the Treasury Cortelyou, and on his arrival went to a conference with Mr. Morgan and others.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Oct. 23.—The flouring mills of the George A. Taylor company, located on the river front, were destroyed by fire, on Monday night, entailing a loss of over $25,000, which is covered by insurance. The origin is attributed to spontaneous combustion. The firemen were unable to save the buildings, which at midnight were in ruins. Mills were burning three years ago, but had been rebuilt and were equipped with new machinery of the latest pattern.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Dr. Hodgetts, secretary of the provincial board of health, has returned from the Potawawa camp, where, at the request of the Dominion government, he made an investigation into the water supply and the sanitary conditions generally. St. John's, Que., Oct. 23.—The safe in the G.T.R. freight office, here, was burglarized some time during last night. The burglars were undoubtedly professional. The handle was broken off and explosive introduced through the hole; this made the door was split from top to bottom.

REVISES ITS POLICY.

French Work-Will Rank With Aided Circuits.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—The Methodist church has made a partial revision of its policy in regard to the French work. This department, which has until now been under the control of the mission board, it has now been decided to transfer at the end of the present conference year in July next, to the Montreal conference. This will give it rank among the domestic missions of the church in place of among the foreign as at present. Thus the work among the French-speaking people in Montreal and other parts of Quebec will be on the same plane as the work among the less thickly settled English-speaking portions of Ontario and the west.

TRADITIONS DYING

CHINA PREPARES FOR NATIVE PARLIAMENT.

Education Made Compulsory is the First Step Toward Constitutional Government.

Peking, Oct. 23.—The first step toward constitutional government in China has been taken in the form of an imperial edict, issued yesterday, which makes education compulsory throughout the empire.

Local government institutes are to be established for the purpose of teaching the principles of constitutional government, with a view to ultimately establishing an elective parliament.

The edict, which expresses the anxiety of the emperor and the dowager empress to establish a parliament, states that the success of the innovation will depend on the education and knowledge of the representative.

The edict making education compulsory throughout China follows closely on a number of similar edicts for the reform and modernization of the empire. Less than a month ago the sale of opium and the binding of women's feet were made illegal, while a remarkable plan was prepared for the fusion of the Chinese and the Manchus by inter-marriage and by the re-organization of the army.

Moreover, a ministerial cabinet is to be appointed in the near future. Many of the medieval features of the government at Peking have already been swept away.
