GET RID OF ENGLISHMEN.

Boers Are Replacing Them In South

African Constabulary. The plan of the Boer Government of the Transvaal to get rid of all the Constabulary and replace them by Boers is said to be causing great indignation among the men at home on leave, who have been warned by Sir Richard Solomon, the Transvaal they do so at the risk of dismissal. One of the officers who was just about to return after completing six months' leave in England, says that he has been informed in a letter from a friend in South Africa that 900 men would be discharged from the Constabulary before long owing to the work of the Het Volk. "I wrote for my discharge on receiving Sir Richard Solomon's letter," he said, "and I shall stay in England. I was in Johannesburg once or twice not very long ago, and I saw hundreds of men there out of work.

"If you ask me who is to blame for all this, I say the British people, who permit themselves to be blown about here and there by every puff of wind." Trooper F. Hooper, who came home on April 1 last, having obtained his discharge after six and a half years' service, said he had been stationed latterly 20 miles from Krugersdorp, on the veldt. "Everybody from this country in the service of the Transvaal Government," he said, "has suffered more or less from the pin-prick t, and that is why I took my discharge, although I had taken the trouble to become proficient in the Dutch language. They have all got rifles-service rifles. A man had to get a recommendation from the police before he could secure a gun; but I have never known a case in which the recommendation was withheld."

Bruin Headed Off Two Prospectors on French River.

"Bears are uncomfortably numerous in the French River country, and you have to be always on the watch for them when landing on the shore or camping at night, for they are not the kind that run away at the sight of a human being," said a prospector who had just come down from the northern mining country.

'An exciting time was experienced a few days ago by a couple of prospectors paddling down the river," he continued. "They were making good makes races mad. time and were hastening on to their destination down the river when a big black bear spied them from the shore and swam out to head them off.
