TEACHING OF ETHICS.
The Bradford Examiner raises a point of the greatest moment. It says the school boards do not sufficiently concern themselves about the personality of the teachers they employ. Their anxiety primarily is with regard to such matters as salary and qualification for general service. While this is true it is apparent that the men and women who serve in the school rooms are an inspiration for good. Their bearing, manner, address, impress the pupils, and that most favorably. Many members of the profession are identified with the churches and Sunday schools, and they are doing a grand work, in life and character and practice affording evidence of the morality for which they stand.

ROOSEVELT IS A SPHINX.
Some of the cartoons in the New York press are coarse enough, but Oppie's sketch of the republican candidates for the presidency is very humorous. It represents the grand old party as an elephant, which is chained to a stake in the (capitol) yard, while over the fence beam Taft, Fairbanks, Root and Cannon, addressing him familiarly as "Bolliver," and soliciting his special favours. Loeb looks through a hole in the fence and sighs, "I wish I could catch his eye," while a voice from a nearby chamber, the door of which lies open, warns him, "Be still until you hear from me." The nomination of a successor to the present occupant of the White House will be relieved of considerable doubt, when it is known definitely what Mr. Roosevelt is going to do about it. He has been significantly silent on the subject of late.

PROGRESSIVE LEGISLATION.
There will be general satisfaction with the announcements in the speech from the throne, which represents the mind of the government, as to new and important legislation. The expenditure of thousands of dollars on the insurance commission, warrants some action, and Mr. Macaulay, of the Sun Life, expects a bill whose provisions will protect both the companies and the policy holders. Manitoba is to have its extension of boundary, according to the promise of the government. There is to be an annuity (not a pension) scheme, according to which a man will get all he pays for. Only that and nothing more. Then the Election Act will undergo changes so radical and comprehensive that, when worked out in law, will go far towards suppressing the scandals which have recently disgraced Canada. Finally, the government will put the telegraph and telephone companies under control, and there will not be another experience such as that which was had in Ontario and Manitoba last year.

The government has such a progressive programme - that when it is disposed of, Mr. Borden will have to begin a new platform, a new bill of grievances, since his old platform and old story will be pretty well shattered. If Sir Wilfrid Laurier goes west next year, Mr. Borden says he will go likewise. The second trip may indeed be very necessary on his part.

GETTING THE AXE READY.
Referring to the proposed redistribution of seats in Ontario, the Hamilton Times takes to task the Montreal Gazette for its undoubted suggestion that the Whitney government would be warranted in committing any iniquity. The Gazette preaches political morality. Its business is a higher criticism of the politicians. Hence its scolding fall from grace, on this subject, is very remarkable. The Times points out that the liberals in neither Ontario nor the dominion, had attempted a gerrymander. The conservative government at Ottawa took advantage of the census returns to "give the gite," which was another way of saying that any mutilations of the constituencies was excusable, so long as it led to a party gain. Sir Wilfrid Laurier sent the question of a redistribution to a special committee, in which both parties were represented, and the fairness of its judgment was above question. The Mowat government, in framing the redistribution measure of 1884, kept five points in view first, to increase the aggregate membership as little as possible, second, in no case to break down county boundaries; third, not to divide townships or other municipalities; fourth, always to move in the direction of equalizing the population where changes were made; fifth, not to aim at destroying the seats held by members of the opposition. Upon this latter point but two members were placed in a minority.

The ominous references by the conservative press is noticeable now. It is up to the government, of course, to attempt anything it pleases, but it will be for the people to approve or disapprove. It has been the boast of some of Mr. Whitney's friends, that the electors cannot be bullied or scared into endorsing that which they do not approve.

THE ANALYSIS GOES ON.
The Evening Post continues its interview with the financiers of America as to the causes of the financial stringency, and it is satisfactory to note that these causes are being more accurately defined. Saul Norton, the president of the Equitable Life Assurance company, holds that the chief menace to the prosperity of the country is extravagant living, over-speculation, and a desire to get rich quick. If, he adds, the people will economize for a few years - if they will stay at home and save money in place of spending it they will be among the richest and happiest in the world. The fall of the year, says G. E. Roberts, of the Commercial National Bank, Chicago, is the time when most money is drawn from the banks for the movement of crops. This year, just at the critical date, a New York banker over-reached himself and brought on the panic. The withdrawal, for hoarding, of millions, which were the basis of credit, was more than the monetary system of the United States could stand. Alexander H. Revell, merchant and manufacturer, Chicago, sees in the trouble the mania for speculation and frenzied finance. Right now the country is prospering, and a panic is a "mistake." The difficulty is one of speculation and currency, one that ought not to be and, by legislation, should be made impossible. Charles D. Barney, banker, New York, does not think that Mr. Roosevelt's talk has had anything to do with the money crisis; yet he talks too much and out of place. The panic, however, was the result of mismanagement and worse on the part of the banks and of large corporations. Eugene J. Duffington, the president of the Illinois Steel company, says the resources of the country have been so greatly developed, that business has been enormously increased and credit expanded. Currency has not increased in proportion with credit and value, and hence greater elasticity than that which prevails at present. Generally, however, it is held that trade and commerce are good, that prosperity continues, and that the only existing evil is the tendency to do business beyond the capital which is at the command of the people.

SPRIT OF THE PRESS

Who'd Have Thought It?
Hamilton Globe. "Taylor, who slapped a great big royal flush down on the table."

Telling Phrase.
Toronto Star. When E. F. B. Johnson spoke of the history as historical he uttered a telling phrase. He might even have gone further and referred to the trial as a paleontological expedition.

Jobs Of The Season.
Ottawa Journal. Strawberries in November in British Columbia and apple blossoms in Belleville. Nice if it was always like that, but it was only one of Indian summer's little jobs.

Mr. Whitney's When.
Ottawa Free Press. Premier Whitney evidently contemplates entering federal politics "when" Mr. Borden wins. Meanwhile he had better hold fast to that which he has lost it slip away from him.

So It Seems.
Bradford Examiner. Prof. Adam Shortt of Queen's University, Kingston, is to speak before the Bradford Canadian Club on the causes of the present financial stringency - the existing shortage of cash. There is something in a name after all.

Wanted - A Great Man.
Weekly Sun. England appears just now to be in a very critical state, and without the guidance of a single statesman of real power. We pray for a great man to avert the catastrophe, unappreciated it is too often only the catastrophe that gives birth to the great man.

Dan In His Glory.
Toronto News. When Dan Grey begins with "honorable gentlemen of the senate; gentlemen of the House of Commons" mere words will not be able to picture the look of repose and dignity which will illumine the countenance of the Hon. Daniel Derbyspire.

A Cheerful Note.
Ottawa Free Press. This open fall must have been worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to Canada. The farmers of the west have been able to do much more plowing than ever before; all the grain has been threshed and stored in good condition, and with a limited demand upon the fuel supply they should enter upon the winter in good humor.

Where The Money Goes.
Kingston Herald. If Cobalt is not producing much wealth just now, it is producing a heavy crop of cases for Osgoode hall. The court officials and lawyers are waxing rich over mining claim disputes, and it takes the product of a pretty good mine to satisfy them.

Before The Footlights.
Montreal Herald. The lady who has a right to wear any hat she likes to the theatre, and the manager cannot put her out. But the man who sits behind her has a right to see the entertainment for which he has a right to have his money back. As for the manager, - well, he has the right to go into his own theatre and look at the hat.

Change Of Front.
Ottawa Free Press. When the conservatives were in opposition in provincial politics they protested with all their vigor against the reforming of the Gagey charges to a royal commission. Yet now Mr. Borden wants the investigation of the campaign funds of 1904 to be probed by a royal commission. What's the matter with the high court of parliament?

The Seven Ages.
Syracuse Post-Standard. As there are seven ages of man in Jacques's colloquy, and in Touchstone's category, seven degrees of giving the lie, so, according to an English physician, there are seven stages of intemperance, to wit: irritability, mellow, pugnacious, affectionate and lachrymose, followed by collapse and death. In stating that there were 672,000 drunks in Syracuse every year, Rev. E. E. Burton, of this city, neglected to specify to which of these varieties they belong.

Reform In Demand.
Toronto News. In opposition the Whitney government pledged itself to law reform. If it fails to implement its pledges there is no question ready to the hand of Mr. Mackay in which centres so many grievances and abuses, and, therefore, offers such opportunity to the opposition leader to do solid public service. Furthermore, there should be a radical limitation of appeals to the imperial privy council, and such a re-organization of the federal system as will make the supreme court a great court of last resort, instead of a neglected half-way house to a remote tribunal.

Kipling's Bill.
On a tour in Canada, Rudyard Kipling had a little disagreement with the landlord of the hotel at which he was staying. Just before leaving the hotel the famous author asked to see the proprietor, and upon that worth-appearing he was greeted thus: "I want to tell you that of all the hotels under the shining sun I have never seen one that for unmitigated, all-around, unendurable discomfort could equal yours." When Kipling got his bill one item in it read: "To impudence, $3!"

STELLA HAPPENINGS.
Death of Mrs. H. Finnigan - Discovery of Cement.
Stella, Nov. 28. - Mrs. H. Finnigan passed away on Thursday morning, after a long illness. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. James Cumberland in St. Paul's church. The remains were placed in Glenwood vault.

The marriage took place on Wednesday evening of Miss Mollie Kilpatrick, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Kilpatrick, to H. S. Patterson, both of the island. William McMaster has been on the sick list. B. Stevenson has arrived home from sailing on the upper lakes. S. K. Tugwell has bought up quite a number of fowl here this fall.

The Ladies' Guild of the English church here held a bazaar and lunch in Victoria Hall, Thursday, November 21st. The proceeds which amounted to about sixty dollars, will go towards the rectory fund. Great excitement is caused here by the finding of what is supposed to be the material for the making of cement on the farm of S. J. Morrow. Samples have been sent to Ottawa, for inspection. Mr. Reid, butcher, of Kingston, shipped a number of cattle and hogs from here on Wednesday. Mrs. R. Patterson has taken up residence on Bridge street, Stella. W. Cochrane has purchased P. Gratton's carpenter shop, which he intends making into a dwelling house.
