Indigestion

Stomach trouble is not a symptom of, but a cause of, many diseases. It is a condition which is often a sign of a certain degree of nervous exhaustion. It is this fact that first caused Dr. Shoop to create this new very popular stomach remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Cold chills to the stomach nerves, acids brought forth and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting improvement could be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, flatulence, bad breath and indigestion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Tablets and Lozenges are for you. What is it can do will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

IT MAKES NO DIFFERENCE.

At Ottawa the Borden party declined to put a candidate in the field on the ground that the expenditure of money and muscle was not warranted on the eve of a general election. At Brockville the same plausible excuse was offered for not opposing Hon. Mr. Graham, the new minister of railways. In Centre York, however, the cry is different. There, under the direction of Mr. Foster, the party is anxious for a political scrap, and Col. Thomas Wallace has been pulled into the fight against Dr. McLean, the liberal candidate. Why should there be opposition, and waste of money and energy, in one place any more than in another?

PARCEL POST SYSTEM.

While farmers do not seem specially interested in rural mail delivery there is a subject, we are told, in which they are vitally interested. This is the extension of the parcel post system. This reform was urged at the late meeting of the Dominion Grange, and the carrying out of what is called for would be a substantial benefit to the agricultural interest. It would enable the farmer to send his butter, eggs, poultry, or fruit direct to a city customer at a moderate charge, and put him in a position to obtain small bulk supplies from the city in the same way. By concealing what is asked in this case, the postal revenue would be increased to an extent at least equal to the cost of the increase in the service called for. The farmers knew what they want better than the city folk, and the politicians. They demand parcel post, and they must get it.

CHECK THE PESSIMISM.

John C. Eaton, the manager of the T. Eaton company, deprecates, in a Winnipeg paper, the talk of the day, and about the times in which we live. "The only danger," he says, "to Canadian interests is that the papers keep talking about 'mouey stringency,' and other such nonsense, and if they do not stop they may bring on a crisis. Toronto and Winnipeg and all the rest of them have no cause to be anything but happy if they will only try to see how well off they are rather than how poorly off."

There is a grain of sense in that. Some people are scared unnecessarily about the outlook, and they have succeded in alarming others and in perpetuating the tightness in money for which the banks are more or less responsible. The depression is not something which exists in the mind. It exists to some extent in the country as well.

There is a lack of employment, because business extension has for the time being stopped, and a lack of money because the banks will hoard it, but the less said about it the better. Confidence is returning, but it will not be hurried by the pessimism which some people are doing their best to cultivate.

WHO CAN SUGGEST REFORM?

There is a growing sentiment in favour of senate reform. It is long years since the demand originated for it, and the object aimed at—a chamber so perfectly poised politically that no one can question its judgment—is as far off as ever. La Patrie, Mr. Tarte's paper, is engaged with the subject, but Mr. Tarte's pen is not writing anything on the subject. He is not at all well—the more the pity—and so not lending his personal aid to the lightning of the issue.

There is really no acceptable proposition before the people. Three senators are said to have expressed themselves as favourable to something being done, but neither Mr. Ellis nor Mr. Perley nor Mr. McMillan drops an idea which can suggest that he has any definite plan in hand. The truth has been clearly expressed by one paper when it says that this far, beginning with that led by Sir John McDonald, the party with each change of government, has been busied for the time being in adjusting the senate so that they could do business. When the obstructive stage has been overcome there is no desire for experiments.

Life tenure is the great defect of the senate. If members had a limited reign, and had to show an approved record before seeking re-appointment, there would be some occasion for reform. As it is now the average senator regards the upper chamber as a pleasant resort. At times he diverts himself with the legislation of the lower house, and attempts to improve it. Some change for the better is commonly looked for, but no one, on the government side or in the opposition, has been able to outline it.

What do you think of the rational Sunday? It is the special care of a league which is operating in opposition to the Lord's Day Alliance.

TRAINING FOR HIGH OFFICE.

The Emperor of Germany has been lauded because he recognises the need of training in those who are committed to the public service. When he ascended the throne, very early in his career, he was really untried by experience for his cares. No one was more conscious of this fact than he was himself. But he was a student as well as a ruler, and it is wonderful how he developed.

Some critic, moved by a desire perhaps to depreciate his merits, says that he has subordinates who keep him primed for any task, and who are his inspiration. It is possible that he learns something from them, but it is also very evident that he is the leader of his government, and that he dominates it by his influence.

He has just ordered his eldest son, the crown prince, a military graduate, to fit himself by systematic training for any emergency of life. He is to go through one government department after another until he has mastered the routine of them all, and he will be tested like anyone else in the matter of experience. Eventually he will become a member of the imperial council, and as such an adviser of his father.

William IV is really imitating the British monarchs in the training of their sons. Edward VII had a long apprenticeship in public life, and was so much identified with the royal duties that no change was visible in his direction of national affairs. The Prince of Wales is passing through the same exacting course and so preparing for the exalted duties which will later on come to him.

It is the lack of this training which makes any change in the presidency of the United States a serious matter. Mr. Roosevelt is going out of office in a year or so. With him retire all the members of the government, the civil servants remain, but not all of them. New men will want new officials, and the marvel is that civil government succeeds as well as it does. The only correct plan is one of preparation, men reaching high places only as they have shown that they possess the qualifications which those places demand.

SIMPLE RECIPE PREVENTS SERIOUS KIDNEY TROUBLE

Tells of a Splendid Home-Made Mixture For Backache and Urinary Difficulties Which Any One Can Prepare.

More people succumb each year to some form of kidney trouble than any other cause. The slightest form of kidney derangement often develops into Bright's kidney disease, jaundice or dropsy. When either of these diseases are suspected the sufferer should at once seek the best medical attention possible. Consult only a good, first-class physician, leave patent medicines alone.

There are many of the lesser symptoms of kidney trouble which can be treated at home by a well-known authority. For some of these, such as backache, pain in the region of the kidneys, weak bladder, frequency, (especially at night) painful urination and other urinary troubles, try the following simple home remedy: Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Kargon one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple ingredients are harmless and can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can mix them by shaking well in a bottle. The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

There is no better general remedy known to relieve all forms of rheumatism either, because it acts directly upon the kidneys and blood. It cleans the clogged up pores in the kidneys, so they can filter and strain from the blood the poisonous uric acid and waste matter which if not eliminated remain in the blood, decompose and settle about the joints and muscular tissues causing the usual stiffness and deformity of rheumatism.

Backache is nature's signal notifying the sufferer that the kidneys are not acting properly. "Take care of your kidneys," is now the physician's advice to his patients.

An Old Appeal.

Branford Expositor.

Dr. Pyne has been telling the Legislators, who have been asking for a technical college, that the dominion government should grant the province a large subsidy for the purpose of technical education. The appeal sounds a little odd just now, in view of the fact that Ontario has just come into the enjoyment of an additional subsidy of $300,000, and ought to have an overflowing treasury. However, the question of who is to pay for it is less important than the early establishment of an efficient technical system for Ontario.

Where Local Option is Tyranny

Charlottetown, the principal city of Prince Edward Island, is a thriving agricultural community of twelve thousand people. It has been under the sway of the total-abstinence extremists for years. To-day the people of Charlottetown openly decide the value of all prohibition legislation. They KNOW, by experience, that prohibition does not merely fail to prohibit the misuse of liquor, —it profligate it, and it adds perjury to the commonplace of life in a community.

Under the prohibition law, as the power of the extremists applies it in Charlottetown, these things are common:

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I.

A defendant in a liquor case—whether for selling or for using liquor—is compelled to become a witness against himself. If he declines to turn informer or to convict himself, he is liable to life imprisonment,—for that is what contempt of court amounts to, as any lawyer will tell you.

There is no real judge in a liquor trial in Charlottetown—for the stipendiary magistrate who tries a liquor case is required by the law to act as prosecutor and as plaintiff. So a fair trial is impossible under this sort of "prohibition."

Wives in Charlottetown, have been compelled to appear against their husbands.

People with private grudges to settle have used the "prohibition" law to get private revenge, and have deliberately used perjury to get that revenge.

False swearing, in liquor cases, has become so common as to be to-day a jest among the people.

The citizens of Charlottetown have long since refused to appear as prosecutors, or as plaintiffs, in liquor cases.

Wives in Charlottetown, have been compelled to appear against their husbands.

Has this stopped liquor selling? Has this advanced the cause of temperance in Charlottetown? It has done no such thing. Last year, in this quiet little community, 193 men were arrested for drunkenness on the streets. The trade in ardent spirits is steadily on the increase in this city, and all through the island.

The leading Church of England clergyman of Charlottetown openly declares that the law is tyrannical, absurd and futile. Men of the highest standing there denounce it publicly. Its only defenders are the fanatics who prefer to force a people to drink grossly by stealth, instead of openly in moderation.

When any community has well-regulated bars, it drinks in moderation of mild beverages. When the law becomes sumptuary and oppressive, the drink evil grows and people use adulterated liquors and in greater quantity.

Prohibition in Prince Edward Island is tyrannical, is grossly useless,—since the drink evil, as an evil, is actually increasing,—and serves no other purpose than to transfer the liquor traffic from the grip of the law to the caprice and greed of the individual.

If the fanatics have their way with your community, you can expect tyranny, perjury, cowardice to grow there. You cannot expect, in reason, the drink habit to lessen; for wherever prohibition has had a fair test, it has lessened the proper USE of liquor and increased its ABUSE.

RECORD OF A GREAT ME

A Prominent Montreal Woman Tells Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing the women of America is attracting attention of many leading scientific thinking people generally.

Mrs. M.C. Letellier

The following letter is only many thousands which are on file in Pinkham office, and go to prove in question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be used to get great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among ailing women:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

After my marriage my health began to decline. My appetite failed me; I was unable to sleep, and I became very thin, and had shooting pains through the men and pelvic organs, with bearing pains and constant headaches, causing much misery. The monthly periods were more and more painful, and I became burdened and expense to my family of a help and pleasure. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me within a month. Soon after I began using a change for the better, and at the end of my next period I noticed a great change, and the pain gradually faded until I was well. I am stronger and better than I did before I was married, there is great rejoicing in the household over my recovery. I recommend M. A. C. Letellier, 732 Cadieux St., Montreal, Quebec.

If you have suppressed or irregular periods, weakness of the stomach, bloating, pelvic catarrh, prostration, dizziness, faintness, nervousness, "want-to-be-left-alone" excitement, backache or the blue are all indications of female weakness or some derangement of the organs. Such cases there is one tried remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
