

At Women's Clubs—The Future of a on the Health of its Women.

Miss Helena McKinnon of Sand Bay, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham— I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the best medicine in the world for a woman sick and weak from exhaustion, irregularity and overwork. I have found from personal experience that it is all and more than it is recommended to be. I only wish that every sick woman would try it for it cured me of suppressed periods and irregularity, and has cured many of my friends of the same difficulty. In fact all who have used it have nothing but good to say of its efficacy. Please accept a grateful woman's thanks for all it has accomplished in my case.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, pelvic catarrh, displacements, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating, (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. No other medicine in the world has received such unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

CASE BEFORE JUSTICE OF PEACE HUNTER. John Blakely Claims That He Was Assaulted and Ill-used on Saturday Night Last.

The case arising out of the alleged assault upon John Blakely, of the township of Loughboro, on the Perth Road, on Saturday night last, came before Justice of the Peace Hunter, at the court house, at eleven o'clock, on Friday morning.

The men accused, Roland Thompson, Herbert Guthrie and Adam Thompson, of the township of Loughboro, were charged with unlawfully assaulting Blakely and occasioning him bodily harm.

Crown Attorney Whiting conducted the prosecution, and W. F. Nickle appeared for the men accused. In answer to the charge, Mr. Nickle entered a plea of "not guilty."

Witness said that he commenced to work on the road on Saturday night last, December 14th, he was at the home of J. Stoney. He left there at 9.35 o'clock, to go home. On his way he went to Robertson's store, but found it locked. Later, while on the road home, he met Adam Thompson. The witness was thrown and beaten. He could identify Roland Thompson and Herbert Guthrie as being among the party, as well as Adam Thompson.

Witness said that he received serious injuries about the body. He was kicked and suffered a blow in the face, that knocked out one of his teeth. He received a cut on the hip, which was inflicted by a knife. The wound was about two inches long. Witness felt sure that it was a knife that had been used. His clothes had been very badly torn as the result of the treatment he received. He said his feet had been tied with rope.

To Mr. Nickle the plaintiff stated that a man he met said to him, "Is that you Jack?" and he said, "Yes." The witness took place later. Plaintiff could not swear that Adam Thompson had taken a hand in the assault. He would swear positively, that Roland Thompson had been a party to the assault. He was positive that the man was Roland Thompson, because he was well acquainted with him. He recognized his face and figure, and heard his name called. Plaintiff would swear positively, that Herbert Guthrie was also in the party that had committed the assault. He knew Guthrie by his face and form, and was certain that Guthrie was there. He would contradict any person who said that Guthrie was elsewhere.

"Did you draw a revolver and threaten to shoot any person in that crowd?" asked Mr. Nickle. Witness did not care to answer, but was requested by the court. "No, I did not threaten to shoot any person," was the reply. "That's not an answer to my question. Did you draw a revolver?" Witness admitted taking a loaded revolver out of his pocket, stating that he drew it after he had been attacked.

When asked why he carried the revolver, witness said that he had secured it on the night in question, and had obtained it to defend himself, as he had been threatened. As regards the carrying of a revolver, Mr. Hunter stated that since this occurrence Mr. Blakely had been granted the necessary permission to carry a revolver. This, of course, had nothing to do with the case before the court now.

This concluded the evidence, and at 12:30 o'clock, the court committed Roland Thompson and Herbert Guthrie to stand trial at the June assize, bail being accepted for their appearance. Nothing was shown in the evidence to implicate Adam Thompson, and the charge against him was dropped.

Tales Told By Thumbs. The thumb which bends back easily personifies great adaptability, extravaganza, brilliancy and versatility. The owner of such a thumb is at home in changing circumstances—in fact is at home anywhere—is generous, sympathetic, sentimental and, as a rule, improvident.

He is the possessor of a strong will and is stubbornly determined. He is cautious, reserved and seldom impressionable or care to invite confidence. Such a person has a great power to accumulate by plotting. The owner of a stiff thumb cannot make his money as easily, nor has the power of making as much, as the more limber thumbed individual, but what he makes he is generally able to hold.

THE BORROWING HABIT.

Do Not Be a Grafter on Your Neighbors' Goods.

It is the easiest thing in the world to get into the borrowing habit. First it is a newspaper, then a pattern, then a recipe, then a book. And then some day a gown is borrowed to look at, then a little note goes asking that a pan be lent, and then it becomes the easiest thing in the world to ask the loan of a hat or an embroidered petticoat.

Now, when you begin if any one told you that you were a sponge you would have been most indignant. And yet that is just what borrowers are. It would be almost as bad to borrow your neighbor's money and never return it as to keep up constant borrowing of your neighbor's belongings, getting out of them the wear that is not yours, and the pleasure that is yours belongs to him.

What the neighbor does the maid does. In the kitchen they do not hesitate to borrow a patent coffee-pot, a pudding dish, flavor extract, some baking powder, sugar or oil. Half the time the things are never returned. The persistent borrower is more or less spoken of as a sponge. So do not permit yourself to drift into a very pernicious habit.

SULLIVAN AND LANGDON To Get Contract For R. M. C. Servants' Quarters. It is understood that the contract for the erection of the servants' quarters at the Royal Military College will go to Sullivan & Langdon, contractors of this city, whose tender is announced to be the lowest. The work of quarrying the stone for the foundation may be commenced next month. Mr. Sullivan is in the city at present, but would not say anything about the contract.

The new buildings will cost somewhere in the vicinity of $70,000. They will be situated in rear of the officers' residence, and will be built in two blocks, with yard space between. One block will face Navy Bay, and the other Catarqui bridge. The buildings will contain all modern improvements, and each block will be heated from a central plant.

Long Way Down-Town. The shopping expedition of the east-coast Greenlander is no light matter. When the house-holder, or snow-butterholder finds his supplies running low, he literally takes up his business with his wife and family walks. He keeps on walking, summer and winter, for it takes him from one to two full years to reach a settlement where there are stores. Whole colonies often join in these pilgrimages from their northern dwelling-places, camping by the way as weather and inclination permit.

One would suppose that such protracted journeys would be followed by long stays at the place of business. No so. The Eskimo spends little more time over the shopping for which he has come so far than does a bargain-hunter over her daily visit to the stores. Sometimes two hours finishes the transactions, and the purchasers will start on the long return journey. The fur bear and fox skins bought are hauled for old European clothes, tobacco, old iron, and many articles not only valuable but actually injurious to the buyer. A life which can afford a four years' shopping trip now and again does not present itself as particularly strenuous.
