Cold in Twilight

The dance at the R.M.C. last night, was as gay as if the girls present had not been losing their beauty sleep over a ball two nights previously. Mrs. E. T. Taylor, Mrs. John Cochrane, Mrs. Iva Martin, Mrs. A. Laird, Mrs. Kenneth Blair and the staff adjutant's wife, popular Mrs. F. D. Lafferty, did their best to make it go off well, and the cadets and their guests enjoyed every moment. Being of lesser importance than the big June function, it ended earlier, and one o'clock saw it all over. Before leaving everybody wished everybody else a Merry Christmas

• • • •

At Last.

By Agnes Maude Machar.

There is no wrong but growing years shall right it
In God's eternal reign;
There is no evil seen but hath to fight it
An unseen angel-train.

To all who strive for good—the crown is given;
So patience, and endure.
To those who fight—for them the hosts of heaven
Shall make the victory sure!

What though the prophet hath his day of sorrow,
And suffer for awhile?
God's host is there, and His eternal morrow
Is lighted with His smile.

Then let us hope and pray, and love, and labor,
Cheered by that promise bright,
Trusting through darkness, working for our neighbor—
For God and for the right!
