Prevalence of Perjury.

In an address on the evils of per jury, Bishop Worrell of Nova Scotia, made the following statement recently at Halifax: "A right conception of God and His word, and a due reverence for them would make perjury absolutely unknown. The growth of perjury is terrible thing, and there can be no doubt that it is growing. The other day Judge Riddell of Toronto stated that it was becoming a most serious problem in the conduct of the courts, and I have heard a well-known police magistrate of a large city in Ontario declare that it is impossible to believe people on their oaths. The statement made by a witness in a recent celebrated election trial that he advised his agents, when sworn, to kiss their thumbs instead of the book, and then they would not guilty of perjury, shows the utterly unworthy idea such a man has Him who reads the heart of the man, and judges, not by the outside of the platter as to the cleanliness

"The wholesome dread which the exerted seems to have but little power to-day-especially in a liquor trial or a contested election. Affidavits are taken and oaths administered often in such an irreverent manner tha the solemnity which is attached them is lacking, and the awfulness of invoking the name of God in attestation of man's word is but little reaized. There should either be special officers for the administration oaths, or the farce that is now of which he has never read a word of which he has heard but little, and in which he does not believe, thinks he does not, can give no weight to his evidence.
